C I B A offers

2 new medical films

for showings in your institution

"Pheochromocytoma—a cause of hypertension"

An interesting film dealing with the diagnosis and treatment of a curable form of hypertension.

Illustrates the need for routine screening of hypertensive patients to rule out the presence of such a tumor.

Sound and Color
Running Time: 24 min.

"Effect of Serpasil (reserpine) on monkeys"

A film which dramatically illustrates the tranquilizing effect of Serpasil, a pure crystalline alkaloid known as reserpine.

An interesting presentation for viewing by members of the medical, pharmacy and nursing professions.

Sound and Color
Running Time: 15 min.

Booking Arrangements—It is suggested that requests be entered a minimum of 3 weeks prior to your intended showing date. If you wish, the necessary projection equipment and a qualified operator will be provided, without charge.
Requests for showings of these films should be directed to the nearest office of our distributing agents—

...with these electrically-conductive operating room units

• Many prominent institutions have standardized on these Blickman-Built operating room units. Their highly-polished stainless steel surfaces ground static charges effectively through electrically-conductive casters and floor tips. Sturdy, seamlessly welded construction assures long service life. Elimination of dirt-collecting joints and crevices facilitates cleaning. Before buying operating room equipment, see and compare the advantages of "Blickman-Built."

SEND FOR BULLETIN 9 ORC . . . . illustrates and describes more than 50 different Blickman-Built stainless steel units of operating room equipment.

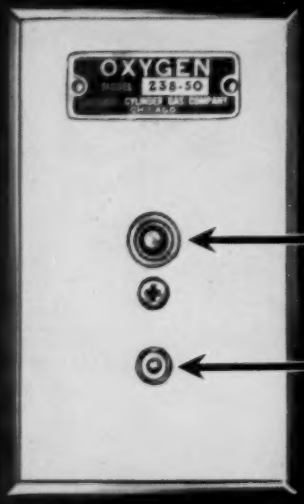
NCG's NEW WALL OUTLET

AND ADAPTER UNIT

FOR PIPED OXYGEN



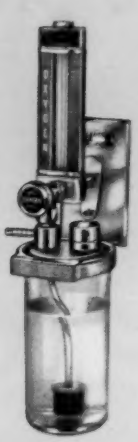
No. 22970 Oxygen Adapter. Other models available for all piped gases and vacuum.

No. 238-50 Oxygen Outlet. Also available for other gases and vacuum. Similar outlets available for exposed piping.

WITH FEATURES

NEVER BEFORE

OBTAINABLE



No. 238-50 Oxygen Outlet with NCG's new No. 24703 Humidifier, No. 24680 Flowmeter and No. 22970 Adapter.

Double and Triple Outlets are available in any desired combinations of two or three of the following: oxygen, vacuum, nitrous oxide, air, and carbon dioxide.

No. 238-50 Series Outlets for exposed piping available in all models.

Self-sealing valve mechanism

Requires no dust cap, no springs, no trap doors. Another first from the originators of the "electrical outlet" type of piped oxygen outlet.

Adjustability after installation

The margin of adjustment that architects and contractors have been hoping for to compensate for varying plaster depth, is now available in the new NCG outlet—an exclusive feature.

One-hand operation

Insertion or removal requires just a straight thrust in an easy one-hand operation. When you plug in the adapter you can feel the perfection of this new mechanism.

No wiggle

A double plug on the adapter keeps the flowmeter rigidly upright to insure accurate reading. Does not twist or turn.

Completely flush wall plate

Satin finish stainless steel wall plate fits flush with the wall, with no protrusions. Nylon cushion on adapter prong prevents scratching of plate.

Easy installation

The valve mechanism is housed in a standard "electrical outlet" type of box that is exceptionally easy to install securely and permanently in any kind of wall.

Safety

Adapter locks firmly into position and cannot be accidentally released. All outlets are keyed to prevent accidental interchange of adapters and resulting interchange of gases. Outlets for oxygen and other gases have automatic double check valves to conform to NFPA standards.

PERFORMANCE—PROVED HOSPITAL EQUIPMENT

Explosion-Proof CABINET SUCTION-ETHER AND SUCTION UNITS

GOMCO No. 927 SUCTION-ETHER UNIT

For surgeries where the finest possible facilities for suction and anesthesia are desired, the choice is the beautiful No. 927, shown here. Its precision Gomco double pump provides the large reserve of capacity so desirable in busy hospitals. Suction and ether pressure are easily regulated to an exact degree. Gleaming chrome-plated brass fittings and all-steel baked enamel cabinet make for easy cleaning and long life. Large, noiseless rubber-tired casters and projecting rubber bumper. A unit quality-built through and through for a lifetime of absolute dependability and time-saving convenience.

GOMCO No. 928 SUCTION-ETHER UNIT

This unit has the same superb features as the 927 described above, with the exception of single pump construction. Near-silent performance, freedom from troubles, attractive appearance and ease of operation make these units among the most appreciated in hospitals throughout the world.

AEROVENT OVERFLOW PROTECTION,

an exclusive Gomco-developed valve, automatically prevents overfilling a suction bottle and damaging a pump of any unit described on this page.

GOMCO No. 929 SUCTION UNIT

Here is maximum-capacity, precision-regulated suction for the heaviest year-in, year-out demands in surgery and treatment room ! The 929 double-pump Suction Unit, you will note, has the same exterior beauty and convenience features as the 927 illustrated above. It also gives you the same sure overflow protection and explosion safety.

GOMCO No. 930 SUCTION UNIT

The 930 is another extremely valuable unit for any part of the hospital where suction treatment is required. Its single pump is typical of Gomco quality workmanship—assuring you permanently satisfying service. Its handsome cabinet and long-life fixtures are identical to those of the popular 929, illustrated.

PERFORMANCE—PROVED HOSPITAL EQUIPMENT

GOMCO No. 766 THERMOTIC THORACIC PUMP

A valuable new aid to post-operative treatment in cases of chest surgery, the No. 766 was designed to meet rigid requirements of chest surgeons. This silent and attention-free pump provides constant, very gentle suction for the chest cavity, which not only aids in the immediate re-compression of the lung components, but insures inflation as long as may be necessary. Suction is regulated between the safe limits of 0 to 25 cm. of water, to avoid hemorrhage; yet volume of suction is high enough to handle most cases of leakage.

The 766 operates on the same principle as the long-accepted Gomco Thermotic Drainage Pumps (see page 3), except for a timing device to smooth out the suction for this specialized application. Here is a unit you can use with complete confidence !

No. 766
THERMOTIC
THORACIC PUMP
(Approx. 34" High)

For The Cystoscopic Room —

GOMCO No. 855 IMPROVED TIDAL IRRIGATOR AND CYSTOMETER

Designed for the urologist and neurosurgeon, the 855 performs a completely automatic and safe cycle of irrigation and drainage. The Doctor simply sets the Tidal Irrigator at the patient's symphysis pubis level, determines the bladder emptying pressure and sets the rate of flow of the irrigating liquid. The nurse has only to fill the reservoir and empty the receptacle. The Tidal Irrigator does the rest, by noiseless, positive gravity and siphon action. A complete, compact unit that is easy to set up, easy to operate and easy to clean.

THERMOTIC DRAINAGE PUMPS

Intermittent, Continuous Suction For:

- duodenal drainage
- gastric lavage
- fistula drainage
- abdominal decompression
- drainage following prostatectomy
- all continuous, mild drainage

Suction is preset at 90 or 120 mm. of mercury, and will continue at that degree indefinitely. Pump is noiseless, non-mechanical and needs no attention. The gentle suction is ideal where delicate tissues must be protected.

No. 765 THERMOTIC DRAINAGE PUMP, (Shown on Left) with all tubing, gallon suction bottle and overflow trap bottle as shown.

No. 765-A THERMOTIC DRAINAGE PUMP, (Shown on Right) with all features of the 765 plus Aerovent Overflow Valve providing automatic overflow protection.

STRONG, CONTROLLED SUCTION

GOMCO No. 789 Portable ELECTRIC ASPIRATOR

GOMCO No. 790 Stand Mounted ASPIRATOR

Quality-built and dependable in the Gomco tradition, the 790 is extremely mobile on its non-tipping stand —ready to give 0" to 20" of suction in O.B., Polio Wards, Treatment Rooms or other needed places in your hospital. No institution should be without these time-tested units.

GOMCO EQUIPMENT

Explosion-Proof SUCTION and SUCTION-ETHER UNITS

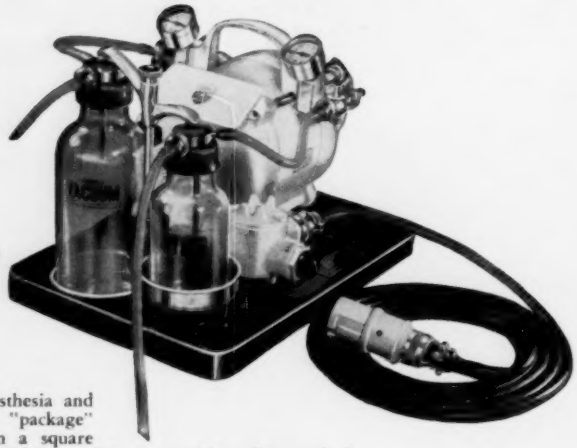
GOMCO No. 900 Stand-Mounted Suction and Ether Unit

This provides all the smoothly controlled suction and anesthesia facilities of more expensive cabinet models, and has the same powerful, whisper-quiet Gomco motor-and-pump unit. Explosion-proof and protected against suction overflow by the Gomco Safety Overflow Valve, the 900 is both safe and trouble-free for operating and treatment room use, year after year.



GOMCO No. 910 Explosion-Proof Portable Suction And Ether Unit

Here are complete anesthesia and suction facilities in a "package" taking little more than a square foot of table space! Widely used as an auxiliary floor unit in large hospitals for treatment such as spraying merthiolate and in conjunction with surgery; very popular with smaller hospitals as an all-around anesthesia and treatment unit.

GOMCO No. 901 Stand-Mounted Suction Unit

Equipped with the same mobile, non-tipping stand and lifetime Gomco rotary pump as the 900, shown at left, but with suction facilities only, this explosion-proof unit is equally popular with institutions where budget dictates a lower first cost. The Gomco Safety Overflow Valve prevents a flooded pump, should the gallon suction bottle become over-filled.

GOMCO No. 911 Explosion-Proof Portable Suction Unit

An ideally safe, compact unit for floor use wherever suction is required. Its powerful rotary pump can be counted on for instant service at any time. Operator has pinpoint control of suction, from 0" to 25" of mercury, by means of the convenient Gomco Regulator Valve and Precision Gauge. A sturdy, carefully built unit for many, many years of the heaviest duty.

Annual Statistics

The American Hospital Association this year expanded its annual statistical program. A primary reason for this expansion was the action of the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association, which voted in June 1954 to discontinue their program of registration of hospitals. This action automatically terminated their hospital statistics program, which was derived from the registration program. In order to maintain the valuable series of statistics that had been pioneered by the American Medical Association, and published annually since 1931, the American Hospital Association expanded its own program to continue the most essential tabular presentations in an unbroken series.

These include certain tabulations on hospital utilization, nursing and nursing schools and paramedical personnel. The staffs of the two associations have coöperated and consulted during the entire transfer process. Readers familiar with "Hospital Service in the United States," the statistical report formerly presented annually by the American Medical Association, will recognize many tables in this issue—Tables 5 to 10 and Tables 21 to 34—as continuations of tabulations previously carried in that report.

HOSPITALS INCLUDED

The American Hospital Association statistics this year are derived from questionnaires sent to all institutions providing inpatient care which are included in the Listing of Hospitals in the Directory Section of this Administrator's Guide Issue.

Correlation between data tabulated in the Listing of Hospitals and the annual statistics is not exact, because corrections were accepted for the published listing after tabulating was begun. Hospitals were asked to report data for the 12-month period ending September 30, 1954.

Caution must be exercised in comparing over-all totals—such as numbers of hospitals or numbers of beds—with those for previous years. It is difficult to evaluate whether certain changes in such totals represent actual changes or changes in definition and classification.

TOPICS AND TABULATIONS

The first fourteen tables of the annual statistics present data on hospital plant, utilization, finances and total personnel. Some of these are "national" statistics; that is, they include data for only the continental United States. Others include data for the United States and its territories and possessions and for Canada, either by region or by individual states, territories and provinces. The states included in the regional groupings are shown on the map facing this page.

The data are also tabulated by type of service and by ownership of the hospitals reporting. The various classifications by service and ownership are listed facing this page.

A group of miscellaneous tabulations on various phases of hospital service and operation are given in Tables 15 to 21. These include data for types of patient conditions and types of patients admitted routinely; specified facilities and services; accredited hospitals; outpatient visits; deaths and autopsies in hospitals, and use of standard nomenclature. These are national tables, for the continental United States only.

hospital utilization and expenditures in the United States, 1954

The concluding tabulations in the annual statistics—Tables 22 to 34—are also national statistics. They include data on professional and nonprofessional nursing personnel and nursing schools and on various classifications of technical personnel employed in hospitals.

Special statistics on a number of specific questions of interest to hospitals—Tables A to K—are given following the annual statistics, and are discussed separately at that point.

HOSPITAL GROWTH

In September 1954 the hospital plant in the continental United States included 6,970 hospitals listed by the American Hospital Association. These hospitals had a bed complement aggregating nearly 1,578,000 beds, equivalent to about 9.8 beds per 1,000 population.

Statistics on the national hospital plant—the number of hospitals and number of beds—were reported by the American Medical Association from 1909 to 1953, intermittently at first but annually from 1931. Similar statistics have been compiled by the American Hospital Association annually since 1946. The two sets of data are presented in Table 1.

Differences between the data compiled by the two associations from 1946 to 1953 were due to differences in the number of hospitals registered by the American Medical Association and hospitals listed by the American Hospital Association. The total numbers of hospitals and beds reported for 1954 are higher than the totals for 1953 reported by the American Medical Association, but are slightly lower than the totals for 1953 reported by the American Hospital Association.

It will be noted that the total number of hospital beds in the United States has doubled in little more than a quarter century. Even more impressive than the growth in the hospital plant is the increase in the utilization of the nation's hospitals. Admissions during 1954 totaled 20,345,431. This was an increase of more than 160,000 over the previous year, and was more than 4.6 million over the total admissions reported in 1946. Nine-year trends in hospital utilization, classified by hospitals by major type of service, are given in Table 2.

In Table 2 and in succeeding tables, the data on admissions and on average daily census, and the derived figures on per cent of occupancy and on average length of stay, include estimates for some hospitals which did not report these particular data. These estimates were based on the actual figures substituted by reporting hospitals. After the hospitals had been classified according to detailed type of service and number of beds, the ratios for average daily census to number of beds, and of admissions to number of beds, were computed for each group of hospitals and were used to estimate the data for nonreporting hospitals. The 1954 data on hospital utilization are tabulated in varying detail in Tables 3 to 10—by size of hospital, by major or detailed type of service, by detailed ownership, and by geographic units. Many of the classifications are new to the Administrators Guide Issue; some have been included to permit comparison with the tabulations of the American Medical Association.

In the tabulations of hospitals by specialized type of service, it will be noted that the totals for "chronic and convalescent" and for "all other" show considerable variation from the American Medical Association totals for "convalescent and rest" and for "all other hospitals." The combined totals for both groups in the respective series are, however, more comparable. These differences are the result of a detailed analysis of the reports from hospitals formerly included in the "all other" category,

[a] The American Medical Association series for 1953 and prior years are those that were formerly published in the American Medical Association's Hospital Service in the United States, Census of Hospitals. Includes hospitals registered by the American Medical Association.

[b] The American Hospital Association series for the years 1946 and following are those that have been published in the American Hospital Association's Administrators Guide Issue, Part II of June HOSPITALS. Includes hospitals listed by the American Hospital Association in its Guide to Hospitals in the Administrators Guide Issue.

[c] Statistics for hospitals operated by state governments were not tabulated separately by the American Hospital Association from 1946 through 1952. Thus, for these years statistics for the state hospitals are included under "All Other" in this table.

as a result of which a large number of institutions were reclassified as "chronic and convalescent."

Hospitals classified by the American Medical Association as "industrial" and as "institutional" have been reclassified as "general" and as "all other," respectively.

TRENDS IN UTILIZATION

In the nine years since the American Hospital Association began its statistical program there has been a definite increase in the proportion of hospitals in the "short-term general and special" classification. While the proportion of proprietary hospitals has decreased, the proportions of both nonprofit and nonfederal governmental hospitals have increased. This trend is still more marked

Research shows why D & G gut is stronger

D & G gut

Photomicrograph shows the smooth surface of D & G SURGICAL GUT, with practically no fraying or roughness. Reason: Carefully controlled slitting of plies plus uniform twisting provides a smooth, well-bonded strand. No need to grind it to size. Gentle polishing gave the matte finish. Result: the full natural strength of each gut ribbon (ply) is preserved; the strand is not frayed by grinding.

Another leading gut

Photomicrograph reveals rough, frayed surface of another leading brand of gut. This has been ground to size. Gut processed in this way appears very uniform in diameter to the naked eye. But the photomicroscope reveals serious imperfections which may cause fraying and loss of strength when the knot is tied.

Photomicrographs (unretouched) by E. J. Thomas, Stamford Laboratory of the Research Division of the American Cyanamid Company, Stamford, Conn.

Method used: dark field, transmitted bright field illumination, 138 x. Material used: medium chromic gut, size 5-0.

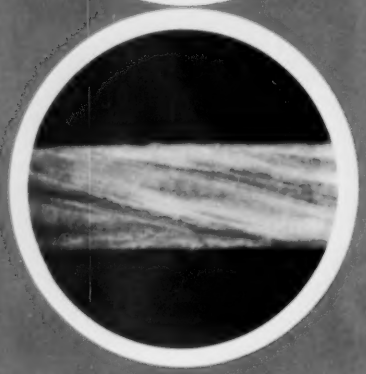
Photomicrography shows why D & G gut is more flexible

D & G GUT

Firm, even cohesion of plies is apparent in this photomicrograph of a D & G SURGICAL GUT suture.
Reason: plies were twisted into a strand before suture was chromicized. Natural cohesive forces of moist untreated collagen firmly bond the plies together and hold the twist.
Result: under stress, plies of the suture hold together. The D & G gut is more flexible and knot strength is greater.



ANOTHER LEADING GUT

Photomicrograph detects separate and distinct plies in a strand of another leading brand of surgical gut. Here each ply was chromicized before they were twisted into suture strands. Such "ribbon chromicizing" hardens the surface of each ply, decreasing the natural bonding action, lowering the flexibility and tensile strength of the suture.

Photomicrographs (unretouched) by E. J. Thomas, Stamford Laboratory of the Research Division of the American Cyanamid Company, Stamford, Conn.

Method used: dark field, reflected illumination, focus on crest of surface, 38 x. Material used: medium chromic gut, size 00.

every plunger fits every barrel

B-D MULTIFIT Syringes cost less to use because their

- rate of replacement is lower— the clear glass barrel virtually eliminates loss from friction and erosion.
- cost of replacement is lower— in case of breakage, you lose only the broken part— the unbroken part remains in use.
- ease and speed of assembly cut handling time— free personnel sooner for other tasks.

with regard to the number of beds (see text tables, top of page 8).

In average daily census, however, the most marked increase as a proportion of the total group was for the mental and allied hospitals, which accounted for almost 50 percent of the total average daily census in 1954 (see table above).

More than 90 percent of all admissions were to the short-term general and special group in 1954, a three percent increase in the relative proportion as compared to 1946. This balanced a three percent decline in the proportion of admissions to federal hospitals for the same years (see table above).

HOSPITAL: POPULATION RATIOS

In spite of the tremendous growth in population in the United States, the supply of hospital beds has increased at the same rate as the population. The number of admissions per 1,000 population has increased, with some fluctuation in individual years (see tables above).

Bariumette
by Westinghouse

Saves Time—
Controls Temperature—
Promotes Good Housekeeping—

This compact "kitchen" provides a day-long source of barium solution ideally warmed and cooled to exact temperatures. The warm barium is held at body temperature for enema work; the cool barium is for oral administration.

Each transparent plastic container holds three gallons of barium solution in constant agitation, thus maintaining uniform consistency. Cool barium is held at 40°-50° F., and warm barium at 100° F. Barium solution is dispensed through approved stainless steel faucets. The large storage space holds two easily accessible 100 lb. drums of barium sulphate in the base. The unit is finished in attractive hillcrest green enamel with green Micarta top and polished stainless steel trim.

The floor space required is only 36" wide by 32" deep, which makes the Bariumette easy to install in the most convenient location. In most instances it will readily replace the present barium sink and use the same plumbing connection. This self-contained unit, 65½" high with the work area 35" from the floor, requires no wall support.

Be sure to see the Bariumette at Westinghouse Booth 329 at the American Hospital Association Convention in Atlantic City, September 19-22, 1955.

ANGELICA "TY-FREE"*†‡ PATIENT GOWNS

and reduced linen room repairs

It's a smart P. A. who recognizes the merits of a new idea in hospital apparel. New Angelica "Ty-Free" Patient Gowns have many features that mean big savings:

(1) Indestructible cloth buttons eliminate ties, cut linen room repairs, save nurses' time. (2) Overlapping back tabs form perfect, comfortable neck closure. (3) Roomy sleeve openings permit easy access for examination. (4) No bulging back ties to lie on. (5) Re-inforced neck-line and front yoke for longer wear.

All Angelica Hospital Apparel is available for immediate delivery. Call your Angelica representative today.

American Hospital Association statistical program since its inauguration in 1946. It will be noted that many new arrangements and tabulations, corresponding to the expanded utilization tables, have been included this year.

Data for assets, income, expense (total and payroll) and full-time personnel (including full-time equivalents of part-time personnel) include estimates for hospitals not reporting certain data. Some of these estimates were based, like the estimates for the utilization data, on the actual figures reported by hospitals in the various classifications by detailed type of service and by size. For certain small groups, estimates were obtained by the application of regional adjustment indexes, based on 1953 figures, to national data for 1954 for the same group.

Total and per diem expenses continued to rise, reflecting the increase in the payroll component of hospital costs. The $5.2 billion expended by all hospitals in 1954 represented an increase of nearly half a billion dollars over 1953. Sixty-four percent of this expenditure was for payroll.

A detailed summary of nine-year trends is given in Table 11 for hospitals classified by major type of service. It is interesting to note that the proportion of patient

BOSTON MODEL

AUTOPSY TABLES

Of stainless steel construction for ease of cleaning and long life
Designed to meet the exacting requirements of the pathologist

Further information and detailed specifications of the Boston and other standard models are available on request.

WRITE TO DEPT. H

Market Forge Co.

EVERETT, MASSACHUSETTS

The Boston Model is exclusive in design by virtue of its centrally located pedestal and top which may be rotated through an arc of 90 degrees.

Standard equipment includes an irrigator hose, suction apparatus and rubber headrest.

Accessories which increase the tables usefulness are a built-in sponge bowl and an instrument tray that provide a convenient cutting surface and holder for instruments.

income continues to increase. Patient income made up 90.4 percent of the total income of all nonprofit hospitals in 1954, as compared with 89.6 percent in 1953, and with 83.5 percent in 1946. During the nine years from 1946 to 1954, the payroll component of expenditure increased from 56.2 percent to 64.0 percent.

When total expenses for each group of hospitals are calculated as a proportion of the total expenditures of all hospitals, it is apparent that there has been no marked change in these relative proportions except for a rise in the percent expended by mental and allied hospitals and a similar drop in the proportion expended by federal hospitals. (See text table, top of page 12.)

Special note on table 9

The Carville (Louisiana) hospital for Hansen's Disease is listed in the "all other" category under U. S. Public Health Service hospitals. In the other tables with a less detailed breakdown of federal hospitals, this hospital is included in the "general and other special" group.

The "all other" category under "Other Federal" hospitals includes 52 Indian hospitals recently transferred from the Office of Indian Affairs to the Public Health Service. These hospitals had 2,732 beds, an average daily census of 1,930, and a total of 40,000 admissions in 1954. They reported 352 bassinets, with 5,174 births.

POST-OPERATIVE STRETCHER

Adjustable Back Rest to allow patient to sit in semi-reclining position (heart attacks, thyroid drainage, X-rays). Wood panel construction in cushion permits X-rays of upper body without disturbing patient.

outstanding features throughout

- Side rails may be elevated ½ way or to full 15" height.
- Mid-position catch must be released before rail can be lowered.
- End rail, easily removable, may be positioned at either end or stored under unit.
- Provision for arm rests and restraining straps.
- New Sponge Rubber Shoulder Rests prevent slipping.
- Adjustable 3-position Back Rest.
- Smooth-action elevating mechanism either horizontally, to Trendelenburg, or to reverse Trendelenburg positions.
- Double ball-bearing swivel casters with 10" adjustable, ball-bearing, rubber-tired wheels.
- One caster at either end with dual control locking mechanism.
- Unit electrically conductive throughout.

Available: (a) entirely painted; (b) entirely painted, except with stainless steel side rails and stainless steel removable end rail; (c) entirely of stainless.

designed for medical practice today

Pharmaceuticals discovered or developed in our laboratories now include . . .

SF† antibiotics that conveniently provide stress-formula vitamins and antibiotics in a single capsule at little or no additional cost to the patient

a wide selection of antibiotics for the treatment of a broad range of infections

a selection of steroid hormones, including CORTRIL, (hydrocortisone) for anti-allergic and anti-inflammatory therapy

a new long-acting motion-sickness preventive, BONAMINE, for a travel-busy world

How PIONEER Surgical Gloves reduce hospital operating costs . . .

PIONEER Surgical gloves actually stand up under many extra sterilizations. Hospital conducted tests show no perceptible loss of strength after ten sterilizations—excellent condition after twenty is common. Made of finest quality virgin latex or neoprene, their higher strength (average 5000 lbs.) and greater elongation (850%) exceed Federal Specification ZZ-G-421-A.

Sheer but tough, these long-lasting gloves provide the extra comfort, finger-tip sensitivity and almost barehand dexterity doctors and nurses demand.

PIONEER'S exclusive Multi-Size Markings and Color Bands speed up, simplify glove sorting—save time and money.

ROLLPRUFs®

Exclusive flat-banded beadless wrists cling to surgeons' sleeves — no roll down to interrupt surgery. Flat-banding also reduces tearing.

No. RP-158 White latex

No. RP-168 Brown latex

Sizes: 6 to 9½

ROLLPRUF features also available in soft-textured neoprene. Neoprene is free of natural rubber allergen that sometimes causes dermatitis.

No. 75 LW Hospital Green neoprene

ROLLPRUF® Rough Surgical Gloves

have all Rollpruf features plus new non-slip rough textured grip areas on fingertips and palm. Safer, surer handling of instruments and moist tissue.

RP-169R Brown latex

Regular Surgical Gloves

Finest quality latex, tissue thin but tough, with regular wrists.

No. 22 White latex

SQ-77 Brown latex

U-35 Medical Utility Glove

New comfortable soft flock lined—no clammy feeling. Ideal for non-surgical hospital housekeeping and autopsy. Neoprene resists oils, acids, caustics, greases and detergents. Short curved fingers — roomy across palm and knuckles for working ease and comfort.

U-35 Gray neoprene, yellow flock lined

Small, medium, large

Obstetrical Gloves

Either hand style — any two gloves make a pair. Elbow length.

No. O-B White latex

Sizes: Medium (7, 7½), large (8, 8½).

Quixams

fits either hand. Short wrists permit easy donning for examinations, dressings, treatments.

White latex or green neoprene.

and Educational Institutions.

Since 1920 Tamblyn and Brown, Inc., a Charter Member of the American Association of Fund Raising Counsel, has helped hospitals and other non-profit institutions and agencies meet situations that were different. Our experience in meeting the fund raising and publicity needs of approximately 1000 clients enables us to cope with new and unusual problems.

A permanent and diversely experienced staff is equipped to deal with conditions which require special techniques and unusual approaches, rather than a stereotyped plan of action.

If your hospital situation is different, an executive of Tamblyn and Brown, Inc. will gladly consult with your officers in confidence and without obligation on your part.

of interest to all hospital administrators

yours for the asking

You'll want your copy of this interesting story by Albert M. Ingram, Director of Melrose Hospital Association, Melrose, Mass. Mr. Ingram tells how his organization licked the problem of processing incoming patients. He observes: "There is no greater potential for good will and public relations than the Admitting Office." Likewise there's no greater source of ill will than keeping nervous, sick people waiting in a reception room because of outmoded, cumbersome admitting methods.

The Melrose Hospital Admission set is a 19-part unit pack, all "headed" in one typing . . . with the last copy as legible as the original.

Your routines perhaps differ from those of Melrose Hospital . . . and that's the beauty of McBee Hospital Admission sets. Yours will be "tailored" to individual needs and problems. You'll want to read of the increased efficiency, higher organization morale and cash savings gained by McBee Admission methods. Send for your copy today.

Hospital personnel interested in any phase of oxygen therapy are invited to write for Ohio Chemical's new 40-page brochure describing the most complete therapy oxygen service available. Since this is a rather costly piece of literature, we must limit its distribution to key personnel. Please favor us with your complete name and title when filling out the coupon.

"Before purchasing any incubators, those in charge of premature care should carefully appraise all the available types . . ."[1]

Only the ISOLETTE provides all these lifesaving features:

Precisely regulated temperature, humidity and oxygen—"The Chapple incubator and isolation unit (The Isolette) provides temperature, humidity and oxygen control and filtered outside air within a chamber which is kept constantly closed."[2] "This incubator . . . has many advantages . . . visibility, the maintenance of a constant temperature and high humidity and the ease of caring for the baby without disturbing it or altering the environmental conditions greatly . . ."[3]

"excellent mechanical controls"[4]—"The incubator which we have found most efficient is the Isolette . . . the atmosphere within the unit can be kept at a constant temperature and humidity . . . it affords excellent visibility . . . (and) ease of handling the patient . . .

"By placing the baby in an Isolette . . . he can be protected from respiratory infections which might be lurking in the doctors and nurses who are in attendance."[5]

Useful as an isolation unit—"Individual air-conditioned incubators in which strict isolation is maintained at all times may be utilized for either the nonsuspect or the suspect infants . . . It may even be possible to omit an isolation nursery . . ."[6]

Protection from cross-infection by forced air circulation—". . . individual isolation provided by Chapple's bed protected the baby from dangers of cross-infection . . . the infant is surrounded by conditioned fresh air drawn directly from outdoors and is further protected from all droplet infection . . . We now have four of the old-type Chapple beds and eight of the new-type 'Isolettes' and have at last achieved the ideal for which we aimed."[7]

High humidities without temperature variation—"In the forced air circulation type of incubator . . . it is possible to raise the humidity as high as 95% without varying the temperature within the incubator."[8]

Ice chamber for cooling—". . . it is often overlooked that cooling may be equally as important (as warming) . . . Incubators with a forced air circulation system can lower the temperature effectively . . ."[8]

"Such incubators are expensive but certainly no more so than many another piece of hospital equipment that contributes to the saving of lives."[1]

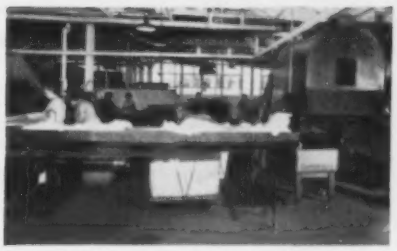
Above, washroom of 703-bed Albany Hospital's mechanized laundry department. Shown, one (of two) 60" Notrux Extractor; five 42 x 96" Cascade Unloading Washers with Full Automatic Controls; 42 x 24" Cascade Washer; 30" Extractor. This is just a part of the automatic laundry equipment reducing operating costs $18,500 a year.



A great aid to increasing production 100% is this 48 x 84" Rotaire Conditioning Tumbler (right), with conveyors feeding large and small linens to two 8-Roll Streamline Flatwork Ironers, one equipped with a Sager Spreader.

Operator morale hit a new high when these Trumatic Folders were installed on the two Streamline Flatwork Ironers in Albany Hospital's laundry. This automatic equipment saved labor and put linens back into service faster.

Albany Hospital saves $18,500 a year by mechanizing laundry

A new laundry was in store for 703-bed Albany Hospital, Albany, N.Y., as a part of their overall expansion and modernization program. The administrators, realizing the importance of automatic labor-saving equipment, wanted the best for their new laundry. They called in an American Laundry Consultant to make a complete survey of their new laundry requirements.

They readily saw that only American could supply them with complete laundry facilities with emphasis on automatic equipment. Now, Albany Hospital has a completely modern, American-equipped laundry which produces highest quality work . . . faster. Benefits? Quicker return of linens to service. Production increased 100%. Savings of $18,500 a year in labor alone!

Whether you are planning a new laundry, or the modernization of present facilities, it will pay you to get the advice of your American Laundry Consultant before you make your first move. His expert services are available to you without cost or obligation.

World's Largest, Most Complete Line of Laundry and Dry Cleaning Equipment

You can depend on your American Laundry Consultant's advice in your selection of equipment from the complete American Line. Backed by our 87 years experience in planning and equipping laundries, he can help solve your clean linen problems. Ask for his specialized assistance anytime . . . no obligation.

YOUR GUIDE TO BEAUTY and ECONOMY for HOSPITAL FLOORS and Easier Housekeeping

APPROVED HILLYARD PRODUCTS

All Hillyard finishing products for hospital floors are U/L approved anti-slip

4 SIMPLE STEPS	WOOD	Terrazzo Cement Magnesite	Marble • Slate Ceramic Quarry Tile	Asphalt • Rubber Linoleum
1. CLEANING	All-purpose! SUPER SHINE-ALL No rinse! No scrub! Faster wetting through 100% neutral chemical cleansing agents. Safer because it contains no alkalis or acids. Halves clean-up time of floors, walls, woodwork, equipment.
2. SEALING	WOOD PRIMER for foundation sealing to provide smooth, easier-to-clean finished wood floor.	ONEX-SEAL—a combination seal and finish—prevents surface checking, efflorescence—provides a traffic-resistant beauty finish for hard-surfaced floors. NEW WHITE ONEX-SEAL keeps white cement, marble, terrazzo, tile, white. No waxing. No yellowing. Adds light reflection to aid "seeing." (In cleaning use ONEXITE.)		HIL-TEX—seals off dirt-catching pores. Protects resilient floors against grease, moisture spillage.
3. FINISHING	SUPER HIL-BRITE WAX Top quality, water emulsion wax for longer wear.			SUPER HIL-BRITE WAX Slip Resistant! Needs less frequent stripping and rewaxing.
4. MAINTAINING	SUPER HIL-TONE—non-oily dressing. Adsorbs dust, then evaporates! No slipping or fire hazard with Super Hil-tone daily dust-up.			HIL-SWEEP, especially designed for asphalt tile. Safe! Easy to use in daily maintenance.

MAKE FLOOR CARE EASIER with the HILLYARD

TABLE 14 -- Hospital Plant, Utilization, Finances and Personnel, United States and Canada, 1954; by State, Territory and Province, and by Major Type of Service and Ownership (Continued)

Statistics on finances and personnel are for reporting hospitals only. Figures for total lines for these data have been omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short-term nonprofit and short-term proprietary hospitals and average length of stay for long-term, mental, tuberculosis and federal hospitals.

● 1,000,000 NEWSWEEK families will better appreciate the Radiologist as a physician after reading this message in the August 15 issue. Reprints of each advertisement in this series are available.

the battle to save a life. A brain operation is about to take place. The neuro-surgeon is being briefed for action. In a few, swift moments, he'll engage in combat — but he cannot start until his chief of intelligence, the radiologist, has pointed out the enemy's exact location. Pre-operative conferences like this are based on x-ray reconnaissance, frequently started long before the patient becomes a surgical problem. The radiologist is a highly trained specialist whose maps are radiographs. Under his practiced scrutiny, the light-and-shadowed areas of these films often reveal the secret sources of man's afflictions.

So, while the patient is made ready in the operating room — while all the other necessary preparations take place, quietly, surely — the surgeon and the radiologist plan for battle.

The various medical specialties are interdependent . . . closely bound by a common cause. All require years of study and experience. All deserve the very finest equipment that American industry can produce. The X-Ray Department of General Electric is proud to serve the radiologist by supplying constantly-improved x-ray apparatus.

Progress Is Our Most Important Product

GENERAL ELECTRIC

2 GREAT HOSPITAL FUND-RAISING CAMPAIGNS!

Just Completed

METHODIST HOSPITAL

Memphis, Tennessee

RAISED $2,226,000

"I have already expressed to many my appreciation for the fine work the representatives of your firm have done in connection with the Methodist Hospital Building and Development Fund Campaign, but I wish to put myself on record more formally. They have done a magnificent job and have been everything we could possibly expect in the way of expert campaigners."

Millsaps Fitzhugh,
General Chairman

"Again I would like to bring to your attention a remark that you made to me in the early stages of our negotiations to the effect that the value in public relations created by such a campaign would have as much value to the institution as the money raised during the campaign. I am more convinced now than ever of the correctness of your statement."

J. M. Crews,
Administrator

GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL Lebanon, Pa.

RAISED $1,255,316

Oversubscribed $255,316

The client wired at close of campaign . . . . .

OVER THE TOP BY 25 PER CENT RAISED $1,255,316 EVERYONE AMAZED AND OVERJOYED YOUR ORGANIZATION THROUGH YOUR REPRESENTATIVES DID A WONDERFUL JOB GREAT PLEASURE WORKING WITH THEM OUR SINCERE THANKS AND APPRECIATION

R. L. RILEY
BETHLEHEM STEEL COMPANY
GENERAL CAMPAIGN CHAIRMAN

"By now you have certainly heard the good news from Lebanon and how we raised $1,255,316 in the recent hospital campaign. This achievement exceeded our wildest expectations even in the closing days of the campaign."

Harry Quinn,
Lebanon Steel Foundry
Master Gifts Chairman

Surgical Tubing You Can Depend On—

You can depend on RLP Pure Latex Surgical Tubing because:

It's Safe—

RLP Tubing is formed by a patented process in which no acids or minerals are used to coagulate the latex. Hence any ill effects which might result from such processes are eliminated.

It's Dependable—

This translucent, amber colored tubing is absolutely smooth both inside and out. This feature precludes the possibility of obstructions forming on uneven surfaces. There are no seams to burst because RLP Tubing has no seams.

It Has Long Life—

The Pure Rubber Latex of which RLP Tubing is made provides maximum resistance to storage and the effects of repeated usage and sterilizations.

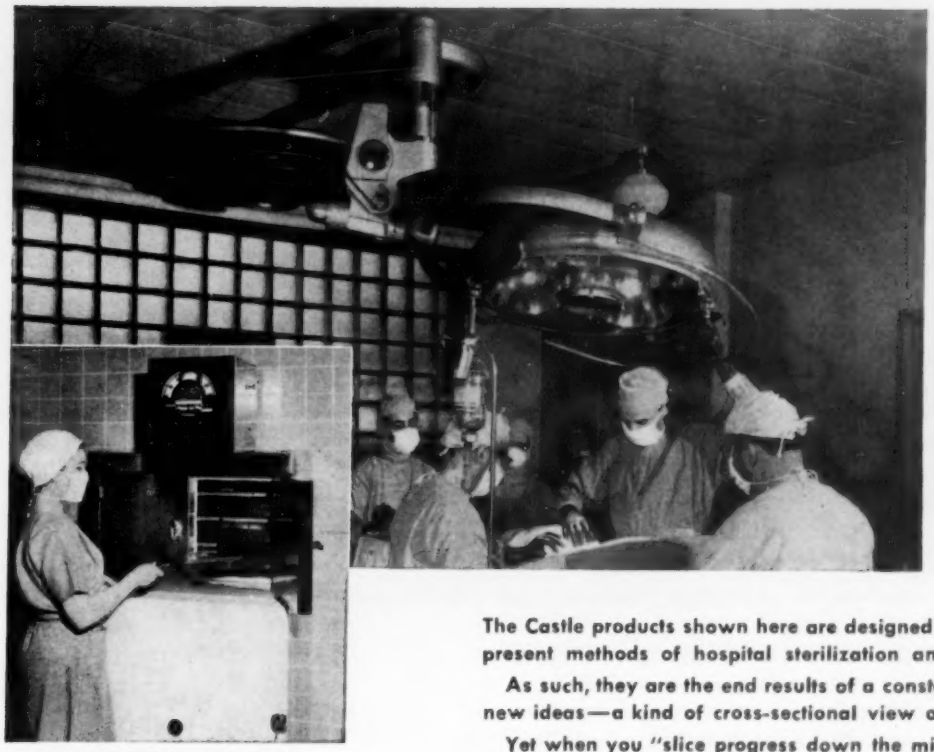
PROGRESS...

with a Wilmot Castle label



Castle No. 62 Major Operating Light—for the surgeon's own manipulation...a new concept of precision surgical vision.

Castle No. 4 Radiant Energy Sterilizer, first commercially produced dry heat unit for the processing and protection of fine cutting edge instruments.

The Castle products shown here are designed to advance present methods of hospital sterilization and lighting.

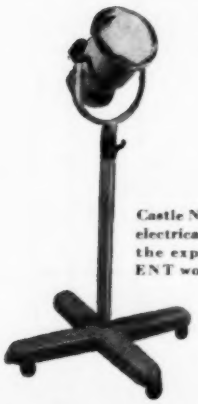
As such, they are the end results of a constant flow of new ideas—a kind of cross-sectional view of progress.

Yet when you "slice progress down the middle", part of the picture isn't shown. Left out are the years of research, testing, and re-designing that lie behind each of these new products.

And beyond this...a thing called "follow-through", which in terms of Castle means the detailed planning that makes each installation the latest word in work-flow efficiency and time-saving routine.

All these things mean progress—when it's spelled the Castle way.

Castle No. 200 Combination Instrument Washer & Hi-Speed Emergency Sterilizer—for safe, swift, error-free post-surgical sterilization.



Castle No. 56 Reflex Light—electrically sealed to reduce the explosion hazard of ENT work.

The Castle Planning Department invites your consultation on any problem of hospital sterilization and lighting. Write for complete information, no obligation.

Statistics on finances and personnel are for reporting hospitals only. Figures for total lines for these data have been omitted since less than 100% coverage would result in improper weighting. Also omitted are income data except for short-term nonprofit and short-term proprietary hospitals and average length of stay for long-term, mental, tuberculosis and federal hospitals.

EXPENSE RATIOS

Expenditures per patient day in nonprofit short-term general and special hospitals averaged $22.78 per patient day in 1954, an increase of 127 percent over 1946.

More significant than cost per patient day, however, is the cost per patient stay. The average cost per patient stay to these nonprofit hospitals in 1954 was approximately $171. This represented an increase of only 107 percent over the comparable cost in 1946, because of the decline in average length of stay which took place during the nine-year period.

Index figures for hospital costs per day and per stay for the period from 1939 to 1953 are shown in the chart on page 50, together with the Consumer Price Index for this period. Since the American Hospital Association series extends only through 1946, American Medical Association data for the length of stay were used in calculating the index numbers. These data were somewhat higher than the comparable American Hospital Association figures from 1946 to 1953.

HOSPITAL OPERATION AND SERVICES: MISCELLANEOUS DATA

Tables 15 through 21 include tabulations of various miscellaneous services and operations of hospitals in the continental United States. Some represent entirely new additions to the annual statistics; some are continuations of regular tabulations; and others represent continuations of American Medical Association data.

Table 15 is a new table on the types of patient conditions treated routinely. On inspection of the data, it is apparent that there was some difference of interpretation of the word "routinely," and that in certain instances hospitals were reporting "willingness to accept" rather than "routine admission." Of the 343 hospitals reporting "other selected patient conditions," a large segment was made up of those reporting diagnostic workups and temporary treatment, rather than full-term care, for specialized conditions.

Table 17 continues the annual tabulation of specified facilities and services. Twenty-six such items are included for 1954. "Rehabilitation department" was included for the first time, and over 12 percent of the 6,447 hospitals reporting had such departments.

Those in the medical and scientific fields know that it takes an unimaginable variety of equipment, instruments and supplies to satisfy the demands of hospitals, physicians and laboratories—literally tens of thousands of items representing a good cross section of the nation's industrial output. Keeping these items on hand in strategically located distribution centers at every major point of the compass is the challenging job which the Aloe Company has accepted. The modern physical plant shown above is evidence of our determination to give you the kind of service you have a right to expect—prompt, efficient, courteous. Your inquiries will be appreciated.

Accreditation statistics, previously reported in the special tables, are now included in the annual statistics in Table 18, which shows totals for all hospitals with either full or provisional approval. Since a significant number of hospitals requesting accreditation surveys were not visited in 1954, the 45 percent of all hospitals now accredited does not represent all hospitals able to meet accreditation standards. As the following tabulation shows, more than 90 percent of all hospitals of 100 or more beds were accredited either fully or provisionally in 1954.

in the questionnaire sent to hospitals as clinic visits (by patients unable to pay a private physician), private outpatient visits (by patients referred for diagnostic or therapeutic services and charged established rates) and emergency visits (by patients received in the emergency, accident or equivalent department suffering from a condition requiring immediate medical or surgical care). However, more than one-fifth of the hospitals reporting outpatient visits did not specify the type of visit, and an "unspecified" category was therefore added to the tabulation.

Hospital deaths and autopsies are reported for the first time in Table 20. Since a significant proportion of the reporting hospitals apparently misinterpreted the questionnaire's request for data on autopsies by the hospital pathologist on deaths released to legal authorities, these data are not reported in detail. The returns indicated, however, that in perhaps 20 to 35 percent of such cases the autopsy was performed by the hospital pathologist.

Use of the Standard Nomenclature of Diseases and Operations is reported in Table 21. This is a continuation of data formerly reported by the American Medical Association, and was compiled, like the tables on nursing and other paramedical personnel which follow, from data supplied by that association.

a Quiz that may save your life

Q. What is cancer?

A. An uncontrolled growth of cells. If permitted to spread through the body, it inevitably leads to death.

Q. Can cancer be cured?

A. Many types can be cured, but only if they are discovered and treated early.

Q. How can cancer be discovered in time?

A. By your doctor who has available many diagnostic tests.

Q. What is the American Cancer Society?

A. The only national voluntary agency which fights cancer by research, education and service to cancer's victims.

Q. What has it accomplished?

A. It helped save an American from dying of cancer on an average of every seven minutes last year.

Q. Does that mean it has solved the cancer problem?

A. Unfortunately, no. Despite the advances made, more than 235,000 Americans will die of cancer this year.

Q. Can I help to prevent this tragedy?

A. Yes. By having regular health examinations yourself. And by contributing to the American Cancer Society.

Q. What will my contribution be used for?

A. For research that may some day save your life, for education and for helping cancer's victims.

[a]Data for this tabulation supplied by the American Medical Association.
[b]Total excludes private-duty nurses.
[c]Includes nurses serving as "superintendent or assistant superintendent of hospital" and as "director and assistant director of nurses and/or nursing school."

professional nurses

Tables 22, 23 and 24 show the number of graduate professional nurses employed in hospitals, and the number of private duty nurses, classified by major type of service and by size of hospital, by state and by specialized type of service of hospital. These are continuations of tabulations previously reported by the American Medical Association.

More than 245,000 professional nurses were employed in hospitals in 1954, and nearly 30,000 more were private duty nurses—a total of more than 275,000 providing service in hospitals. This represented an increase of more than 8,000 as compared with 1953. The total increase represented some interesting variations in the individual classifications. Thus, the total numbers of administrative nursing personnel and of supervisors and assistant supervisors declined; the numbers of full-time instructors, of head nurses and of general duty nurses—both full-time and part-time—showed increases. In 1954, there were nearly 4,500 more full-time general duty nurses, and nearly 2,000 more part-time general duty nurses, employed in hospitals than in 1953.

Over 83 percent of the graduate professional nurses were reported by the short-term general and special hospitals; 64 percent were employed in the nonprofit hospitals of this group. Less than 4 percent were employed in the mental and allied group of hospitals.

J. T. POSEY COMPANY

Manufacturers and Distributors of Hospital Specialties

Since 1937 we have manufactured and distributed quality hospital equipment designed to aid modern institutions. Every Posey product is guaranteed 100% satisfactory, or it may be returned for refund. We also manufacture the Posey Fracture Equipment and a number of other products which are used and favorably known throughout the hospital world.

POSEY PATIENT SUPPORT

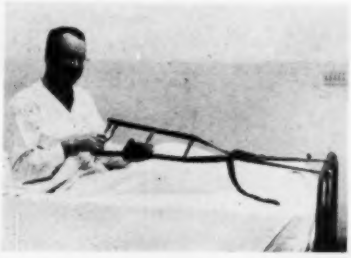
Patent Pending

The Posey Patient Support was designed to fill a long-felt need. It is used on wheelchairs or conventional chairs. It is possible to get a bed-patient up into a chair with safety and with no fear of danger. Generously designed to accommodate practically all size patients and all types of chairs. Available in small, medium and large sizes in two models. Standard Model, Cat. No. PP-753, $5.85 each. Adjustable shoulder strap model, Cat. No. PP-154, $7.50 each.

THE POSEY SAFETY BELT

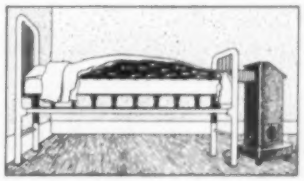
U. S. Patent No. 2,333,346

Prevents patients falling out of bed. Maximum freedom with safe restraint. Causes no mental fear or physical discomfort. Better than side boards, the Posey Safety Belt is so designed that it is under the patient and out of the way. Sizes: Small, Medium, Large. Cat. No. S-141, Price $6.00 each. Available extra heavy, riveted construction with key-lock buckles, Cat. No. P-453, $18.50 each.



POSEY PATIENT AID

A rehabilitation product which encourages self-exercise and is a positive aid to the geriatric. No. B-654 (For open-end beds) No. B-654-A (For beds with solid foot ends) $5.95 ea.



The SWEETLAND BED WARMER and CAST DRIER

U. S. Patent No. 2,122,964

For treating patients by continuous flow of thermostatically controlled warm air. Warms bed for post-operative care in from 7 to 10 minutes. Warmer, when used with cast drying mats, will dry plaster casts in less than one-half time usually required. Ideal in treatment of burn cases. Bed Warmer price $295.00. Accessories: Adult Body Cast Drying Mat $37.50; Adult Leg Cast Drying Mat $27.50; Child Body Cast Drying Mat $35.00; Child Leg Cast Drying Mat $25.00.

POSEY WRIST OR ANKLE RESTRAINT

A friendly restraint available in Infant, Small, Medium and Large sizes. Widely used. No. P-450. $5.25 per pair. $10.50 per set; with sponge rubber padding $6.25 per pair, $12.50 per set.

POSEY BED CRADLE

Full width of bed. Simple, self-locking clamp to mattress holds Cradle in place. Leaves patient accessible. Light hooks on body size Cradle. Available in body or leg sizes. Price $6.75 each.

McDONALD RESTRAINT

A strong friendly restraint designed to prevent patients from getting or falling out of bed. Sizes: Small, Medium, Large. Cat. No. P-4147, Price $5.75 each. Available extra heavy riveted construction with key-lock buckles, Cat. No. P-353, Price $18.75 each.

[a]Data supplied for professional nursing schools by the National League for Nursing; for practical nursing schools, by the National Association for Practical Nurse Education. Data reported by hospitals for both professional and practical nursing schools, supplied by the American Medical Association and similar to the series previously published by that Association, have not been included in the statistics this year but are available, in mimeographed form, from the American Hospital Association.

Special note on table 25

Practical Nursing Schools—Idaho: All practical nursing schools are conducted by hospitals but are supported by Vocational Education funds. Indiana and Nevada: Schools existent, but no admissions during reporting period. Pennsylvania: This state approves schools for licensed attendants rather than practical nurses. Only those schools approved by the National Association for Practical Nurse Education are included in this tabulation. It should be noted, however, that some states consider graduates of the Pennsylvania schools eligible for examination for licensure as practical nurses.

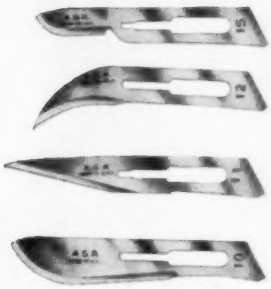
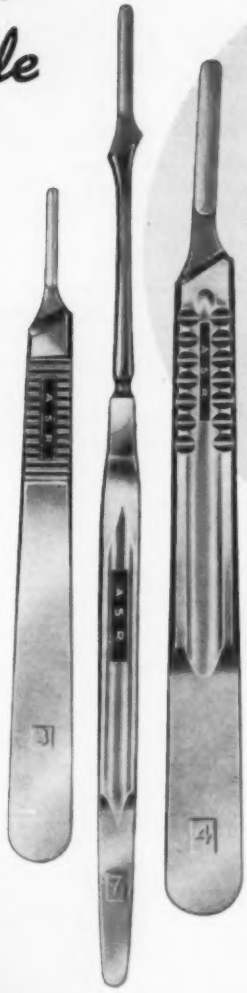
nursing schools

Data for various types of nursing schools were in the past compiled, and classified in a number of ways, by the American Medical Association. Table 25 on professional and practical nursing schools by state—data for which were supplied by the National League for Nursing—is the only tabulation on this subject included in this year's statistics. It should be noted that the data for the professional nursing schools report the number of students enrolled; while the data for the practical nursing schools, most of which provide one-year courses, report the number of students admitted.

SURGICAL BLADES and HANDLES

Precision-made by A.S.R.





A.S.R. Blades Nos. 10, 11, 12, and 15 fit Handles Nos. 3 and 7.

A.S.R. Blades Nos. 20, 21, 22, 23 and 24 fit Handle No. 4.

A.S.R. Surgical Blades are unsurpassed for precision and quality. They are the sharpest ever made and have uniform edges.

The new, exclusive A.S.R. SHARPOMETER measures the critical edge-fineness of every lot of Surgical Blades. A.S.R. special treatment of surgical steel insures keen edges that last longer.

No wiping required!—blades are wrapped in rust inhibiting paper.

practical and auxiliary nursing

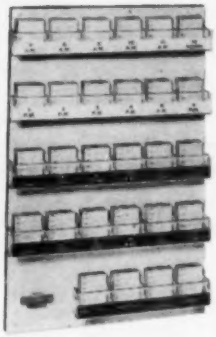
Tables 26, 27 and 28, present data on practical nurses and auxiliary nursing personnel employed in hospitals according to classifications parallel to those for professional nurses. These, too, are continuations of American Medical Association reports for previous years, and were compiled from data supplied by that association.

As compared with the data reported in 1953, the data for 1954 reported more than 6,000 additional practical nurses and more than 10,000 additional nursing aides. However, there was a 10,000 decrease in the number of attendants reported, and smaller decreases in the number of ward maids and orderlies. These shifts may reflect changes in classification of personnel by the hospitals.

In each of these categories, the majority of the personnel were employed by the short-term general and special hospitals, with one exception. In the case of the "attendants" category, 57 percent were employed by hospitals in the mental and allied group.

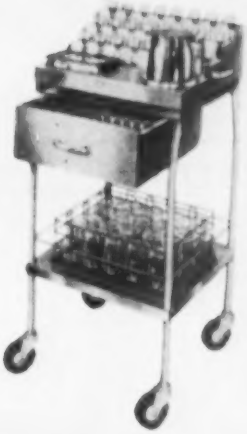
MEDI-TIME CARD RACK

A must for every nursing station. Unique Plexiglass, transparent file rack keeps active medication and treatment cards completely organized for the full 24 hour day. The famous DEBS Medi-Kards and Hypo-Kards fit it perfectly.



THE MEDI-KAR

The original medication cart. Time and work saver for nurses. Carries 48 medications — both oral and hypo — safely identified — for one nurse to administer on only one trip from the nursing station. Over 4000 now in use!



AR-EX BODY LOTION

The lotion safe for all skins . . . normal and the supersensitive. Only AR-EX offers all the benefits of a fine body lotion with the Safety Plus Benefit . . . Hypo - Allergenic Properties.

By Request

Among the thousands of products DEBS handles . . . a few will always rate the "soft spot" in our hearts. These are the very special "DEBS EXCLUSIVES" . . . each developed "by request" and in close cooperation with many progressive institutions.

The confidence placed in us to interpret and produce these specialties, and their acceptance by the field today as standard is a great compliment. We are pledged to constantly help to find a new or better way to do a job.

DEBS HOSPITAL SUPPLIES, INC.

CHICAGO FORT WORTH

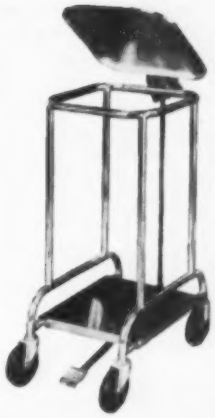
DENTURE JAR

The perfect answer to the problems of protection for the patients' very personal belongings. Thousands and thousands of these handy jars are serving hospitals across the nation.

ALL STEEL FOOTSTOOL

Dependable, safe, sturdy . . . won't tip, won't slip, won't skid! Designed and made with the extra care so important to the patient. Quality in every inch at a truly amazing price. Thousands of patients step on this favorite every single day!



New NURSERY HAMPER

Answers the requirements for a covered container for soiled linen and diapers in the nursery. Just insert an ordinary laundry bag under the protective stainless steel cover. Step on the pedal to open or close. Rolls easily and quietly. Takes minimum space.

paramedical personnel

Statistics for four groups of paramedical personnel employed in hospitals—medical technologists, x-ray technicians, occupational therapists and physical therapists—are included in Tables 29 to 31. These continue the series begun by the American Medical Association on technical personnel. Totals reported this year for the four groups show increases over the 1953 totals for all except the occupational therapists.

Each of these technical groups has an official program for registration of qualified persons. Hospitals were asked to report the number of registered and unregistered personnel in each classification, as well as their full-time or part-time status.

Medical Technologists.—A total of 27,870 medical technologists were employed in the 5,417 hospitals reporting on this item, and 88 percent were full-time employees. Thirty-six percent of the entire group were reported as registered, and 91 percent of the registered technologists were full-time employees.

Eighty percent of all medical technologists, and 88 percent of all registered medical technologists, were employed in the nonfederal short-term general and special hospitals. Among hospitals classified by specialized type of service, 89 percent of all medical technologists were employed in general hospitals.

X-ray Technicians.—The 5,129 hospitals reporting on this item employed a total of 14,493 x-ray technicians; 89 percent were full-time employees. Forty-four percent were reported as registered; less than 8 percent of the registered technicians were employed part-time.

Eighty percent of all x-ray technicians, and 85 percent of the registered x-ray technicians, were employed in the nonfederal short-term general and special hospitals. Among hospitals classified by specialized type of service, the general hospitals employed 89 percent of all x-ray technicians.

Occupational Therapists.—Only 1,152 hospitals were included in the group reporting employment of a total of 4,072 occupational therapists. Ninety-one percent of all occupational therapists were full-time employees, and 45 percent of the entire group were registered.

Less than 18 percent of the occupational therapists were employed in the nonfederal short-term general and special hospitals. Among hospitals classified by specialized type of service, only 29 percent of the occupational therapists were reported by the general hospitals, while 54 percent were employed in the mental and allied hospitals.

Physical Therapists.—A total of 1,991 hospitals reported employing 5,302 physical therapists; 88 percent of these employees were full-time personnel. The proportion of registered employees was higher for this group than for any other; 69 percent of all physical therapists were in the registered group.

Sixty-one percent of all the physical therapists were employed in the nonfederal short-term general and special hospitals, while an additional 26 percent were employed in the federal hospitals. Among hospitals classified by specialized type of service, the general hospitals employed 76 percent of all the physical therapists reported.

Add AUDIO easily to your present VISUAL nurse call system of corridor domelights Executone's DEPENDABLE Audio-Visual Nurse Call System Cuts Foot Travel in Half!

Easily and quickly added to your present visual domelight system, Executone frequently uses existing conduits or raceways—providing you with a modern Audio-Visual Nurse Call System! All accomplished with no interruption of service during installation!

Many hospitals—old and new—are discovering the economy and efficiency of Executone's Audio-Visual system. More patients are handled with less effort, in less time! One hospital reports that Executone has reduced operating costs 8% per bed. It is an invaluable aid in relieving the nurse shortage.

By pressing a bedside button, the patient activates signals at three locations — chime and light on nurse's control station, corridor domelight, buzzer and light on duty stations. The nurse presses key to reply . . . Executone's Call System may be installed complete, added to existing domelight systems, or installed without domelights.

FOUR MORE Executone SERVICES

1. Radio-Sound Distribution System provides patient with entertainment programs through individual "pillow speakers".
2. Doctors' Call System locates doctors instantly, anywhere in the hospital.
3. Bed Occupancy Monitor© alerts nurses when a "bed restricted" patient tries to get out of bed.
4. General Administrative Intercom coordinates activities between departments and individuals.

DIACK CONTROL

(General Purpose 250° Control)

Used by conservative hospitals for the past 46 years.

Temperature—Time—Moisture

HOW THE DIACK WORKS: When you wrap your dressings, include a Diack Control at the center of each pack. Load the sterilizer and insert one or two Diacks well down between the packs. Then autoclave. . . . When the charge has been run, examine the Diacks placed among the packs. If melted, send the load to surgery or store. In surgery, when the packs are opened, the nurse should give final check to complete steam penetration of pack, by examining Diack Controls previously placed at the center of the packs. A melted Diack is your assurance of clean, safe dressings.

Use Diacks in sterilizing dressings, rubber goods and liquids at 250°

INFORM CONTROLS

(230°—10 Minute Control)

An aid in control of Epidemic Infant Diarrhea

If you are following the recommended technique calling for terminal heating of formula at 230° for 10 minutes, please recall that 250° (not 230°) and thirty minutes (not 10 minutes) are used in general sterilization. .. . Therefore, when you use only 230° for just 10 minutes, you must be sure that this minimum condition is fully achieved inside the formula!

Actually, several minutes of the ten-minute exposure are taken to heat the milk to 230°, and only during the remaining few minutes is the liquid held at full 230°. Time cycle is a variable depending upon several factors, viz., efficiency of autoclave, size of load, steam head in lines, etc. . . . However–there is now available a means of checking all these factors—of making sure your formula is safe—the Inform Control.

NOTE: When loading the autoclave with formula, place a test bottle about one-third and another test bottle two-thirds back in the chamber, and in each tier of the formula load.

Tables 32 to 34 present statistics for five additional groups of paramedical personnel employed in hospitals—dietitians, medical social workers, pharmacists, medical record librarians, and other medical record personnel. These continue the series on technical personnel formerly reported by the American Medical Association. Except for a slight decrease in the total for medical record librarians, all 1954 totals were above those reported for 1953.

Hospitals were asked to report separately the number of registered and unregistered medical record librarians, as well as their full-time or part-time status.

Dietitians.—The 4,053 hospitals reporting on this item employed a total of 9,399 dietitians; 93 percent were full-time employees. Seventy-seven percent of the dietitians were employed by the nonfederal short-term general and special hospitals; and an additional 12 percent were employed by the federal hospitals.

Among hospitals classified by specialized type of service, the general hospitals employed 84 percent of all the dietitians reported.

Medical Social Workers.—Only 1,323 hospitals reported the employment of medical social workers. A total of 5,153 such personnel were employed, of which 96 percent were full-time workers. Forty-five percent were employed by the nonfederal short-term general and special hospitals; 23 percent by the nonfederal mental and allied hospitals, and 21 percent by the federal hospitals.

Among hospitals classified by specialized type of service, the general hospitals employed 56 percent of all medical social workers, while the hospitals in the mental and allied group employed an additional 28 percent of the total personnel reported in this classification.

Pharmacists.—A total of 2,671 hospitals reported the employment of 4,943 pharmacists. Eighty-four percent of the pharmacists were full-time employees.

Of the total number of pharmacists reported, 73 percent were employed by the nonfederal short-term general and special hospitals, and 18 percent were employed in the federal hospitals.

Among hospitals classified by specialized type of service, the general hospitals employed 85 percent of all the pharmacists reported.

Medical Record Librarians.—A total of 4,246 hospitals reported the employment of 6,571 medical record librarians; 88 percent of these librarians were full-time employees. Thirty-three percent of all medical record librarians were registered.

Eighty-six percent of the medical record librarians were employed in the nonfederal short-term general and special hospitals. Among hospitals classified by specialized type of service, the general hospitals also reported 86 percent of the total number of medical record librarians.

Other Medical Record Personnel.—A total of 3,158 hospitals reported data for other medical record personnel. The number of such employees reported was 13,217; of these 67 percent were reported as employees of nonfederal short-term general and special hospitals, and 19 percent were employed in the federal hospitals.

Among hospitals classified by specialized type of service, the general hospitals employed 79 percent of the employees reported in this classification. An additional 13 percent were employed by the hospitals in the mental and allied group.

Specify CHIMEDIC for quality pharmaceuticals

TOLYPHY

TOLYPHY Chimedic for safe, effective relaxation of skeletal muscle spasm without loss of normal muscle tone or function.

TOLYPHY exerts the full spasmolytic action of TOLYSPAZ (Chimedic brand of mephenesin) plus the beneficial effects of physostigmine and atropine on the neuromuscular system.

Indications: TOLYPHY is specifically designed for the relief of pain, for increased range of motion and restoration of normal function in a wide variety of conditions complicated by skeletal muscle spasm or neuromuscular hyperirritability, such as arthritis, fibrositis and bursitis.

URISED

URISED Chimedic for dual attack against urinary infection Through its rapid, dual action, URISED effectively combats the two primary causes of pain, burning, urgency, dysuria and frequency in genito-urinary infections.

URISED, by exerting the prompt antibacterial action of methenamine, salol, methylene blue and benzoic acid along the entire urinary tract, rapidly reduces irritation, spasm and the pus cell count and encourages healing of the mucosal surfaces.

URISED rapidly relaxes painful smooth muscle spasm and aids in the restoration of normal tone through the dependable parasympatholytic action of atropine, hyoscyamine and gelsemium.

BEXII-M

BEXII-M Chimedic for high potency Vitamin B_{12} therapy High potencies of B_{12} have been reported to bring quicker, more effective relief of pain in a wide variety of conditions such as osteoarthritis, osteoporosis, diabetic neuritis and peripheral vascular disorders. BEXII-M—1000 mcgms. Vitamin B_{12} Crystalline U.S.P. per cc.—combines exceedingly low toxicity with high potency.

Write for literature or samples of Tolyphy, Urised and Bexii-M. Ask your local Chimedic salesman about the complete line of Chimedic pharmaceuticals and pharmaceutical specialities.

Special Statistics

EACH YEAR, in addition to presenting annual statistics on hospital utilization, service, finances and personnel, the American Hospital Association publishes special information about a variety of topics in many areas of hospital organization, administration and planning.

Sometimes the value of these special topics is such that they become regular items in the annual statistics of succeeding years. Sometimes they are included occasionally to indicate trends. Most of the special questions, however, are in the nature of "spot checks," asked only once. They serve to fill a void in information on a subject or to replace an assumption with a specific fact.

This year the special statistics included in the eleven tables in the following pages demonstrate the usual wide range of subject matter. The tables begin with data on the routine use of diagnostic tests without special doctor's orders, and conclude with information concerning the number of general hospitals providing psychiatric facilities and the nature of these facilities.

The remaining tables show the volume and type of laundry operation in hospitals; the frequency of use of various types of opinion polls; hospital planning for disaster and its integration with community planning; religious services and facilities; hospital auxiliaries, and auxiliary and other volunteer service within the hospital; the use of formal budgets and of the AHA chart of accounts, and the delegation of administrative responsibility at night.

For the first time since these special tabulations were begun, the text of each special question has been included to accompany each tabulation of the data reported in reply to these items of the questionnaire. This addition was made because it was realized that analysis and interpretation of such spcialized data are frequently aided by knowledge of the precise wording of the corresponding questions.

For ready reference to the special statistical material published in recent years, a cumulative subject index has been prepared. This index includes all special tables from 1950 through 1955.

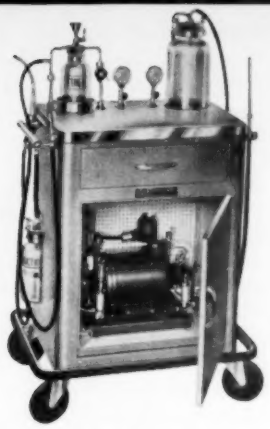
IMPROVED*

... SKLAR-BUILT SUCTION AND PRESSURE UNITS

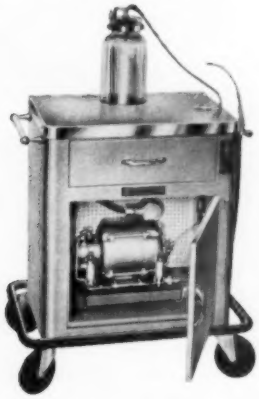


Improved motor assembly and simplified electrical installation result in lower manufacturing costs which are reflected favorably in the prices of these new models.

These suction and anesthesia units are totally explosion proof and approved by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. for use in Class 1, Group C hazardous locations. All tubing, casters and bumpers on the Bellevue and Printz models are of conductive rubber. Motor units are rubber mounted, minimizing vibration. Cabinets are insulated with Celotex to insure noiseless operation.

NEW IMPROVED BELLEVUE MODEL, CAT. No. 100-75.

Now equipped with 32-ounce suction bottle for the exclusive use of the anesthetist in addition to the regular 1-gallon suction bottle and 32-ounce ether bottle.



NEW IMPROVED PRINTZ MODEL SUCTION UNIT, CAT. No. 100-80.

Equipped with 1-gallon suction bottle and recessed suction gauge. Printz Model, Cat. No. 100-85 (not illustrated) has a 32-ounce ether bottle in addition to the 1-gallon suction bottle.

Printz Model, Cat. No. 100-87 (not illustrated) is same as 100-85 but equipped with separate rotary compressors for ether bottle and suction bottle.

NEW IMPROVED TOMPKINS MODEL SUCTION AND ANESTHESIA UNIT, CAT. No. 100-10.

Complete with 32-ounce suction bottle, 16-ounce ether bottle, two-way by-pass valve and spray tube. Sklar Pump Table, Cat. No. 100-40 (not illustrated) mounted on conductive rubber casters, complete with utility drawer, shelf and rack for sprays and sinus cleanser. Tompkins Model for suction only, Cat. No. 100-15 (not illustrated) is equipped with two 32-ounce suction bottles and no ether bottle.

Table A – DIAGNOSTIC TESTS

THE QUESTION

Indicate which of the following diagnostic tests are given routinely (i.e., upon recommendation of the medical staff, but without a doctor's specific order for each case) to patients admitted to your hospital:

- ☐ Urinalysis on all admissions.
- ☐ Blood count (RBC, WBC, Diff, Hb) on all admissions.
- ☐ Serological test for syphilis on all adult admissions.

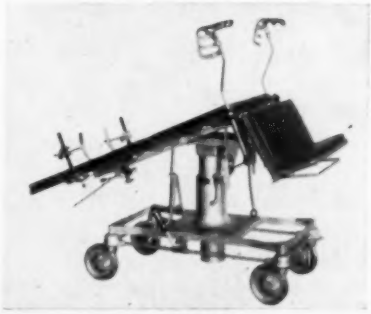
Reliance No. 25 All Purpose HYDRAULIC WHEEL STRETCHER

for: TRANSPORTING – X-RAY TREATMENT – EXAMINATION – MINOR SURGERY

No. 25-SB

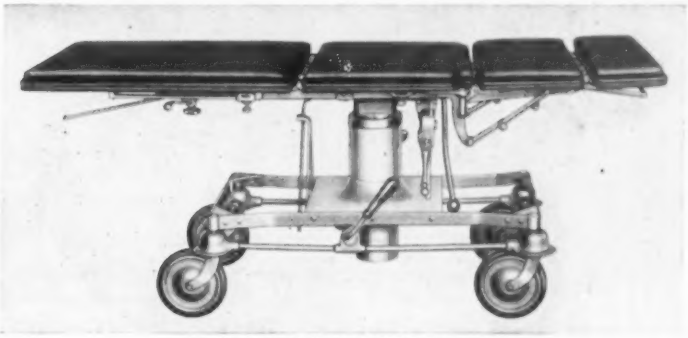
No. 25-GC

No. 25-AR



No. 25 GC/SB

For convenience, for versatility, there is nothing like the "RELIANCE" No. 25. Its many distinctive features make it a truly invaluable asset in a busy hospital. Its precise, sturdy construction guarantees long years of useful service.



No. 25 Without Attachments

- 11 inch height adjustment is effortlessly attained hydraulically. A single lever both raises and lowers top.
- Positive four-wheel brakes may be applied from either side of stretcher by simple, single lever action.
- Fully swiveling wheels permit sidewise movement of stretcher. Rubber tires are conductive.
- Geared tilting device, similar to that employed on major operating tables, enables top to be tilted to a 30 degree head-down position. Calibrated indicator registers degree of tilt.
- The two separate foot sections of the stretcher top may be lowered by tripping a conveniently located lever. When raised they engage automatically. No fastening or locking is necessary.
- Head section may be raised to any position between horizontal and vertical, and will automatically remain where set.
- Upholstered top is of high quality artificial leather over soft sponge rubber pads. Measurements of top are 24 by 74 inches.
- Accessories, available at additional cost, include head rest for proctological examination, adjustable shoulder braces, arm rests (for use when table is in chair position) and gynecological leg supports.

- ☐ Chest x-ray on all admissions.
- ☐ Electrocardiogram on all patients over 45 years of age.
- ☐ Rh grouping on all pregnancy cases.
- ☐ Pre-operative blood grouping on all surgical cases.
- ☐ Pre-operative coagulation test on all tonsillectomy cases.
- ☐ Post-operative urinalysis on all surgical cases.
- ☐ Others (please list)_____.
- ☐ No diagnostic tests given routinely without special doctor's order.

The definition of "routine use" given in the question is important in the interpretation of this table. Many hospitals carry out certain diagnostic tests as a matter of routine but still require individual orders in each case from the physician. This tabulation of the use of the specific tests listed includes only hospitals in which a "blanket order," in the form of a recommendation from the medical staff, has superseded the need for specific orders for each case.

Even by this definition, it will be noted that a large proportion of hospitals report routine use of diagnostic tests, especially among the larger hospitals. The tests usually associated with general physical examinations were also employed routinely in many of the long-term hospitals. Thus routine electrocardiograms on patients over 45 years of age were reported by less than five percent of all hospitals, but by a much higher proportion of the hospitals providing various types of long-term care.

a. Check which one of the following procedures most nearly describes the laundry operation of your hospital:

- ☐ Your hospital operates its own laundry and processes all of the soiled linen for the hospital.

☐ Your hospital operates its own laundry, but some of the soiled linen is processed by another laundry.

☐ Your hospital does not operate its own laundry and all of the soiled linen is processed outside the hospital.

b. How many pounds per week of linen have you processed in your laundry and/or had processed by another laundry on the average during the past three months?

The tabulations include only the hospitals reporting both the type and volume of laundry operation. When hospitals reporting only the type of operation are added, the proportion of all hospitals operating their own laundries is reduced from 62 per cent to 58 per cent.

While the types of laundry operation and the total pounds processed were the subject of a special question in the 1951 Administrators Guide Issue, figures for the pounds processed per patient day are reported here for the first time. The variations in the amounts processed reflect variations in types of service, being markedly lower for the groups of hospitals providing chiefly custodial care, such as the mental and allied institutions.

[a] Excluded are 1,457 reporting hospitals that failed to indicate number of pounds of soiled linen processed per week.
[b] Excluded are 221 reporting hospitals that failed to indicate number of pounds of soiled linen processed per week.
[c] Excluded are 1,078 reporting hospitals that failed to indicate number of pounds of soiled linen processed per week.

How A Prominent Chicago Hospital Increased Laundry Production Within Its Limited Space!

The PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITAL, one of Chicago's leading institutions, needed increased extraction capacity within a limited space. ZEPHYR famous HYDRAXTORS not only made good beyond expectations on these counts, but in addition they provided extraction with no increase in labor costs, no vibration, no balancing of load, less maintenance . . . all this and more, PLUS LOWER INITIAL COST!

Let us prove to you how Zephyr HYDRAXTORS will increase YOUR production in a minimum space with savings in labor, power, etc., at only a small initial investment. Send for complete information today.

Table C – OPINION QUESTIONNAIRES

THE QUESTION

Check any of the following types of written questionnaires which have been used periodically in your hospital:

- ☐ Patient opinion poll.
- ☐ Personnel (employee) opinion poll.
- ☐ Medical staff opinion poll.
- ☐ Community (public) opinion poll.
- ☐ None of the foregoing opinion polls.

The use of written questionnaires to explore attitudes has only recently received special attention as an administrative tool in hospitals. While such questionnaires are not yet generally employed among all hospitals their use is quite common among the larger nonprofit institutions.

The patient opinion poll is most frequently employed; it may be noted that the American Hospital Association has developed a questionnaire of this type which is available to hospitals.

Guard Against Static Spark Explosion!

Three proven aids to give you maximum safety at minimum cost and without inconvenience to busy operating room personnel.

The CONDUCTOMETER®

In operating rooms, delivery rooms and emergency rooms throughout the country, Conductometers are in daily use, testing the electrical resistance of personnel, flooring and equipment. Our exclusive elbow switch permits personnel testing under aseptic conditions. The quick and easy routine of Conductometer testing is as vitally important to safety as the scrub-up! (See N. F. P. A. Booklet No. 56, regarding electrical testing of flooring, equipment and personnel.)

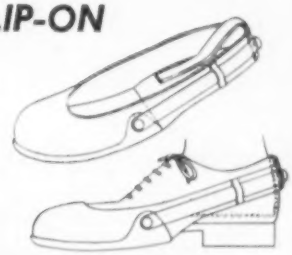
CHACO CONDUCTIVE RUBBER SLIP-ON

Reg. U.S. Pat. Off. Patent Pending



This slip-on is worn over the wearer's regular shoes and gives perfect contact between the wearer and conductive flooring. In this manner the personnel are effectively grounded and no static charge can build up in their bodies.

Please write for price list on our Conductive Rubber Sheeting.

Table D – DISASTER PLANNING

THE QUESTION

a. Do you have a written plan for mobilization of the employees and/or medical staff of your hospital in the event of a major community disaster? (Yes, No) If "yes," does the community have a master plan for a community disaster within which the hospital plan is integrated? (Yes, No)

b. Is your hospital represented on a disaster planning committee for your community? (Yes, No)

While over half of all hospitals reporting were participating in community disaster planning, a smaller proportion had written plans for mobilization in the event of community disaster. In about 85 per cent of the latter group the written plan was integrated in a master plan for the community.

Standby Power in O.R. only, is not enough!

Let ONAN Standby Electric Plants supply power for all your essential services

Patients, hospital personnel and property may be endangered when any other vital equipment cannot be operated or important service performed . . . especially when the power outage is of long duration.

From the wide range of Onan Electric Plants you can choose a model with the capacity to operate all essential equipment . . . automatic heating system, respirators, aspirators, X-ray machines, ventilators, communications, pumps, elevators and lights for as long as you need these services.

When power interruptions occur, the Onan Emergency Power System takes over automatically . . . supplies electricity for the duration of the outage . . . and transfers the load back to the regular source of power when service is restored to normal.

MODEL 25HN
25,000 watts A.C.

Free Estimating Service

Let us know what equipment you would like to include in a complete emergency power system and we will recommend the proper equipment and estimate the cost. If you are building a new hospital or remodeling extensively, we suggest that you consult your architect or engineer.

ONAN ELECTRIC PLANTS are available in a wide range of models and capacities — Gasoline-engine-powered: 500 to 50,000 watts, A.C.

Table E – RELIGIOUS SERVICES AND FACILITIES

THE QUESTION

Is there a chapel in your hospital? (Yes, No)
Is there a meditation or prayer room in your hospital? (Yes, No)
Do you have an organized visiting clergy staff? (Yes, No)

The proportion of hospitals with chapels was more than twice the proportion of hospitals with meditation or prayer rooms. Some hospitals reported both facilities.

Comparison of the data on organized visiting clergy staff with the data on chaplain services given in Table F shows that the various types of chaplain service are more frequently available than the services of an organized visiting clergy staff. Since "organized visiting clergy staff" was not defined in the question, this may have affected the number of hospitals reporting this service.

A. NEW! FULLY AUTOMATIC "KLEEN-O-MATIC" NEEDLE CLEANER: Fast, simple . . . labor-and cost-saving by improving work-flow. Needles pre-soaked, pre-loaded in special manifolds from floors. Receive a 5-second wash of hot detergent solution under pressure, 5 second tap water rinse, 5 second distilled water rinse . . . thoroughly washes all 3 vital parts . . . hub, lumen, outside of shaft. Needles protected from burring – personnel protected from infection.

B. "KLEEN-O-MATIC" SYRINGE WASHER: Reduces costly labor by 90%. Truly versatile, it washes not only syringes but constriction tubes, seritubes, Amp-O-Vac and Pour-O-Vac closures, miscellaneous glassware and other CSR items. In 2 loads it will process a day's supply of glassware for a 200-bed hospital. Extremely effective fill-and-empty process . . . reduces breakage.

C. SELF-SEALING "POUR-O-VAC": America's most widely used sterile fluid flasking method, now features improved self-sealing nylon cap to use with all existing Pour-O-Vac collars. Surgical fluids sealed under vacuum to assure prolonged sterility . . . water hammer click gives audible signal that solution is sterile. Initial cost of this thick walled, easy-to-handle, pear shaped Pyrex glass is actually less than thin-walled laboratory flasks . . . offers more uses over longer period. Flask sizes 75 ml. to 3000 ml.

D. "AMP-O-VAC", REUSABLE AMPOULE: Permits withdrawal of novocaine, other medications, without exposing balance of contents to air. Hermetic closures, especially designed for puncture-sealing withdrawal, may be repeatedly sterilized and re-used. Sizes of 75 ml. to 150 ml.

Table F – CHAPLAIN SERVICES

THE QUESTION

Do you have a chaplain who is available to see patients in your hospital? (Yes, No)
If "yes," is (are) your chaplain(s): Full-time? Part-time? On call only?

Chaplain services were available in two-thirds of all hospitals. Since some hospitals reported such services without specifying their type, and others reported more than one type of such services, the totals for the various types do not always add exactly to the totals for all hospitals reporting chaplain services.

THE NEW HERB-MUELLER UNIT

With The Automatic Recirculating Oil System

Everything about this new Heavy-Duty Herb-Mueller Ether-Vapor-Vacuum Unit is designed to facilitate proper anesthetization and dependable surgical suction with an absolute minimum of attention and servicing care. Explosion-proof, controlled by a single panel at a handy level, it provides an even, uninterrupted flow of controlled ether vapor, simultaneously maintaining a constant vacuum (to 25 inches Hg.). Special GE explosion-proof motor and integral twin pumps operate at full capacity at comparatively slow speed . . . a long-life unit, vibration-free, cool, quiet . . . so quiet the cabinet doesn't require sound insulating! And, of course, the exclusive new Mueller Recirculating Oil System eliminates usual service problems . . . there's no constant checking, no frequent oiling to remember . . . oil need be changed only two or three times a year, depending on frequency of use. Pumps are kept at top efficiency, and there's no oil drip or spray in cabinet or pressure lines. The Herb-Mueller Unit is fully approved by Underwriters' Laboratories. And still most reasonably priced. Write for complete details today.

Brand New ADJUSTA-RAK

Adapts Itself to Your Instrument Storage Problems

Made to Fit Any of Your Cabinets, Wall Cabinets or Walls

SURGICAL ASSISTANT

Easily mounted in any of your instrument, storage, or wall cabinets—or on any wall—Adjusta-Rak is just the thing for handy, time-saving sorting and storage of surgical instruments. A great space-saver, too! Non-Slip Adjusta-Rak hangers are simply hooked on—lifted off—spaced as needed—on the rigid steel bar mount. Their complete flexibility of spacing makes Adjusta-Rak perfectly adaptable to almost any type of instruments. We'll supply your Adjusta-Raks in any lengths you specify, built to fit your needs, at remarkable small cost. Standard equipment includes bar, mounting bolts, washers, nuts, and 3 hangers per foot of length. Extra hangers are available, and inexpensive. Write for complete details today.

This man is responsible for putting into your surgeons' hands dependable instruments for the surgery they do—and he knows how to do it! Our seasoned instrument makers know how to fashion fine instruments—know what is needed and expected from an instrument—know how to give it to you, in new instruments or repairs. This is why Mueller instruments are preferred instruments the world around.

Table G – HOSPITAL AUXILIARIES

Many hospitals which reported organized hospital auxiliaries did not report the number of auxiliary members, and still fewer hospitals reported the number of auxiliary members contributing service within the hospital. However, since the auxiliary membership for all hospitals reporting such figures averaged over 350, these figures substantiate previous estimates that membership in organized hospital auxiliaries has passed the million mark.

THE QUESTION

a. Is there an organized hospital auxiliary affiliated with your hospital which has been established for the sole purpose of promoting and advancing the welfare of the hospital? (Yes, No) If "yes," what is the total individual membership of the auxiliary? How many of the members of your organized auxiliary have done volunteer service within your hospital during the past year?

b. Are there individuals, other than members of your auxiliary, who have done volunteer service within your hospital during the past year? (Yes, No) If "yes," how many?

An average of more than 100 auxiliary members contributed volunteer service within each hospital. Volunteer service was also contributed by a smaller number of nonauxiliary volunteers, representing a diversity of community service groups. In many communities, volunteer service in hospitals was pioneered by such groups.

The various types of volunteer service within the hospital are discussed in the Management Guides, Section IV of this issue.

When a patient presents a "feeding problem," ice cream may provide an ideal solution. Containing an excellent form of easily-digested protein, ice cream supplies an abundance of valuable minerals and vitamins, sugar, and moderate fat content for a readily-assimilated source of quick energy.

Because of its high calcium and phosphorus content, ice cream meets specific dietary requirements for the tubercular patient[1] and the pregnant[2] and lactating woman.[3]

An ideal food with which to tempt the older person, ice cream supplies many elements necessary in building resistance to infection[4]—in retaining nutritional status in osteoporosis,[5] in chronic colitis and other gastrointestinal diseases that interfere with digestive processes.[6]

For the pediatric patient, too, ice cream is not only traditional in the post-tonsillectomy period, but is also useful during recovery from poliomyelitis.[7]

Borden's Ice Cream offers the same food values as whole milk, but in different proportions—the same important proteins, minerals, and vitamins. Like other Borden dairy products, Borden's Ice Cream is made from only the finest of fresh milk, homogenized to break down curd size and render it easily digestible. Its high solids content, moreover, assures improved flavor and texture.

And a wide selection of popular flavors is further reason why Borden's Ice Cream is likely to be enjoyed even when the rest of the meal goes untouched. A good reason to include Borden's Ice Cream in the diet—for it has helped solve many a "feeding problem" both in the hospital and out.

Table H – FORMAL BUDGETS

THE QUESTION Does your hospital operate under a formal budget which is approved by your governing board? (Yes, No)

Except in governmental hospitals required to prepare formal budgets in advance of each fiscal year, budgeting in hospitals has in the past often been confined to informal estimates. It is of considerable interest that today the formal budget, approved by the governing board, is now employed by well over one-third of all nonprofit short-term general and special hospitals.

Table I – AHA CHART OF ACCOUNTS

THE QUESTION Does your hospital use the chart of accounts recommended in the American Hospital Association Manual on Accounting, Statistics and Business Office Procedures for Hospitals?

The chart of accounts recommended was published by the American Hospital Association in 1950. By 1954, the chart was in use in nearly half of the hospitals reporting, and in two-thirds of the

Mr. Hospital

ADMINISTRATOR:

These two National machines will reduce your accounting costs!

Hospitals are big business! Like any other business they need accurate, detailed accounting information to guide them toward successful operation. This information must be immediately available and at low cost. As Hospital Administrator . . .

- You must have control over all charges made for services rendered.
- You want assurance that you will collect for all charges through control over remittances.
- You need to maintain vital hospital records such as . . . Accounts Payable, Endowment Funds, General Ledger, Payroll Accounting, Securities Records, Insured Patients' Records, Inventories, General Funds, Statistical Reports.

Two National machines . . . the Hospital Window-Posting Machine for Charges and Remittances . . . and the Class 31 Multiple-Duty Accounting Machine for Hospitals . . . will do all your accounting work.

Ease and simplicity of operation, efficient posting and record handling, and mechanical accuracy produce neat, auditable records with speed and economy. The cost of these machines is only a fraction of what they save! When you have daily finger-tip information about each department of your Hospital, you can make sound decisions, reduce costs, and manage more profitably.

Why not investigate these two National machines today? Your nearby National representative will gladly show you how proper mechanization will reduce your accounting costs and develop a more profitable operation in your office.

Table J – NIGHT ADMINISTRATIVE RESPONSIBILITY

THE QUESTION

Do you have a member of the administrative staff on duty in the hospital at night? (Yes, No)

If "no," have certain administrative responsibilities been delegated to the night nursing supervisor? (Yes, No)

Traditionally, certain administrative responsibilities have been delegated to the night nursing supervisor in the absence of the regular administrative staff at night. This is still the case in the majority of hospitals, especially in the short-term general and special group of hospitals.

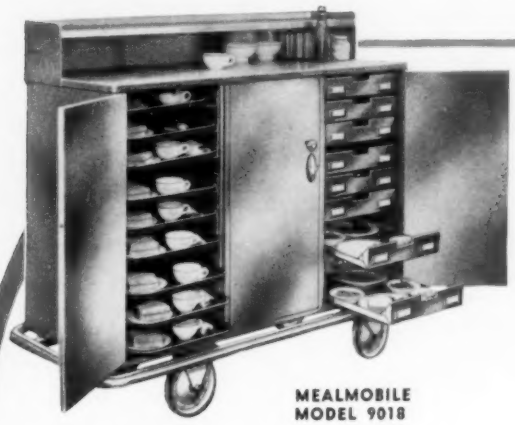
Ideal EQUIPMENT FOR TODAY'S MODERN HOSPITAL

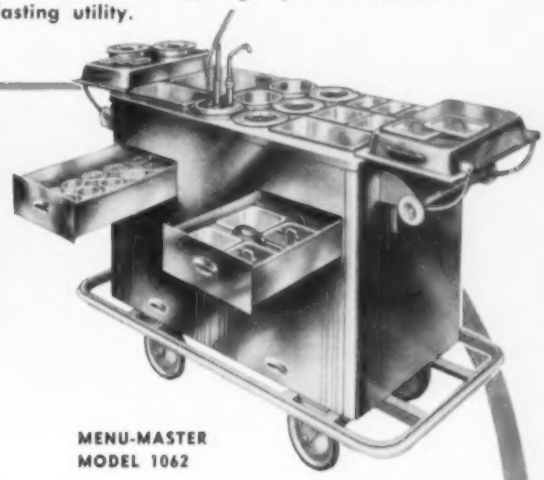
Ideal equipment items — food conveyors, tray conveyors, ice trucks, sterilizers, stainless steel tables and therapeutic equipment — meet the exacting requirements of today's modern hospital, large or small.

Ideal stainless steel products, made only by Swartzbaugh, are specially designed — inside and outside — to fit your need for maximum efficiency, fingertip convenience and lasting utility.



MEALMOBILE MODEL 9018

One of the many Ideal tray conveyors available for centralized service systems. Ideal Mealmobiles enable you to extend "kitchen-control" to the patient's bedside. You can now easily serve kitchen-fresh appetizing meals — with hot foods hot and cold foods cold — anytime, anywhere. Bodies are made of stainless steel and are protected at all points by the exclusive Ideal bumper. Serves 18 to 32 meals.



MENU-MASTER MODEL 1062

One of the many Ideal bulk food conveyors available. The trend toward special diets in today's modern hospital demands greater flexibility in the top deck arrangement of your food conveyor. Ideal's Menu-Master, Model 1062, has it! Made of gleaming stainless steel throughout, the Menu-Master provides plenty of room for combinations of square and rectangular pans — without sacrificing valuable beverage capacity. Indoor and outdoor models available.

DIET-THERM MODEL 7001

A compact, low-priced food conveyor designed to facilitate the serving of late breakfasts, special diets, delayed servings, and hot snacks. Equipped with heating elements and thermostatic equipment for independent operation. The food well in the Diet-Therm will accommodate any desired combination of standard steam table full size and fractional size pans. It can be removed from its stand and placed on top of any other unit. It is completely insulated . . . will not damage any surface.

TERMINAL STERILIZER MODEL TH48

Completely automatic infant formula sterilizer with a capacity from 48 to 70 bottles per load. Utilizes non-pressure free flowing steam to bring formula temperature up to 212°, maintains this for 25 minutes, then gradually cools formula so that immediately upon removal from sterilizer it can be placed in refrigerator. Automatic operation and cooling provide an exceptionally safe and sterile formula. Safe and simple to operate, this unit eliminates the need for constant attention of a trained operator. Easy to install. Requires only 220 V outlet. Cold water inlet, vent and drain.

Table K – PSYCHIATRIC FACILITIES IN GENERAL HOSPITALS

THE QUESTION (addressed to general hospitals only)

Does your hospital admit patients for psychiatric care in other than emergencies? (Yes, No)

If "yes," check the type of facility to which such cases are admitted:

- ☐ A separate building operated by your hospital.
- ☐ A separate department in the hospital specifically designated as a psychiatric ward.
- ☐ A clinical service of the hospital not specifically designated as a separate psychiatric ward or unit.

Only about one in every eight general hospitals replying to this question admits psychiatric patients in other than emergencies. This proportion is similar to that for general hospitals in the annual statistics on types of patients admitted routinely to all hospitals, which are given in Table 15 in the preceding section.

*With the termination of the American Medical Association program of registration of hospitals, this listing compiled by the American Hospital Association becomes the only listing of acceptable hospitals with their services and facilities.

The absence of a hospital from the listing does not necessarily mean that the institution is not an acceptable hospital. Listing is a voluntary procedure and no hospital is required to apply for inclusion. Some applications for listing have not yet been processed.

This year the listing includes all hospitals registered by the American Medical Association and published in their final Census of Hospitals in 1954. The listing also includes certain additional hospitals whose compliance with eligibility standards could be determined with reasonable accuracy prior to publication. Information on hospitals accepted for listing subsequent to publication may be obtained from the offices of the American Hospital Association.

EXPLANATION OF LISTING OF HOSPITALS

All listings are alphabetical. Under the three main divisions—by state, by U. S. territory or possession and by province of Canada—the institutions are listed first by city or town and then by hospital.

At the beginning of each state and territorial listing, and on the first page of the Canadian listings, data are given for state populations, lien laws, licensure, state hospital and medical associations, hospital councils, state agencies related to hospitals and health, and certain Type VI members of the American Hospital Association.

Operating and fiscal statistics totaled for the individual states, territories or possessions and provinces are given in the Hospital Statistics (Section I, Tables 10, 14, 23, 25, 27, 30, 33). Such totals for any state calculated from the Listing of Hospitals may not correspond exactly to the totals in the Hospital Statistics because late corrections for the listings were accepted after tabulation for the Hospital Statistics section had begun.

KEY TO INDIVIDUAL LISTINGS

For each hospital, the name, date of establishment, address and telephone number and name and title of the administrative officer are shown in the first column of the table.

★ A star preceding a hospital's name indicates membership in the American Hospital Association.

When a hospital is restricted to a specialty service not indicated by the usual coding for type of service, this information is indicated in parenthesis; for example, "(Alcoh.)" would indicate a hospital classified as "Mental and Allied" but restricting service to treatment of alcoholics.

Operating and financial data are tabulated in the remaining columns under the following headings:

*Approvals—Various accreditations, approvals and affiliations

*Ownership—Type of ownership or control

*Type of Care—Classification by average length of stay (under or over 30 days) as short-term or long-term

*Service—Type of service provided—general or major specialty

Beds—Bed complement, exclusive of bassinets

Admissions—Total inpatient admissions for 12-month period

Bassinets—Newborn infant bassinet complement

Births—Total live births for 12-month period

Newborn Census—Average daily census of newborn

Expenses, Payroll and Total—Annual payroll and annual total expenditure

Assets, Plant and Total—Net fixed assets in land, buildings and equipment (original cost less depreciation, if calculated), and total assets

Personnel, Int., Res., Stud. and Paid—Number of interns, residents and students, and number of personnel on regular payroll

"IBM was one of the first companies to . . ."

"I have always been proud of the fact that IBM was one of the first companies to put into effect the Payroll Savings Plan for the purchase of United States Savings Bonds, and I am delighted to see this patriotic endeavor continuing year by year and increasing throughout our organization. Today thousands of IBM employees, through their participation in the Plan, are helping their country and providing for the future of their families and themselves." THOMAS J. WATSON, JR., President International Business Machines Corporation

If employee participation in your Payroll Savings Plan is less than 50% . . . or, if your employees do not now have the opportunity to build for their future through the systematic purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds . . . a letter to: Savings Bonds Division, U.S. Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., will bring prompt assistance from your State Director. He will be glad to help you put on a person-to-person canvass that will put an application blank in the hands of every employee. This is all you have to do. Your men and women will do the rest, because they will welcome the opportunity to build for personal and national security.

American Hospital Association

THE AMERICAN HOSPITAL Association was established in 1898. Its purpose is "to promote the public welfare through the development of better hospital care for all people." Included in its membership are hospitals throughout the United States and Canada, hospital auxiliaries, Blue Cross Plans, agencies and organizations in the health field, and personal members who are representatives of institutional members or who are interested in the purpose and objectives of the Association.

The growth of Association membership has been steady throughout the years. Originally the Association was basically a hospital superintendents' organization, and only individuals, not institutions, were admitted to membership during the first 20 years. It was in 1918 that institutions were first granted membership, and during the first year 98 hospitals were accepted. Since that time hospital membership in the Association has grown tremendously.

Regardless of how members of the Association are analyzed—by type of service, by type of ownership, or by hospital size—most hospitals throughout the country are now on the Association's membership rolls. This is particularly true of the nonprofit hospitals, which provide an important share of the hospital services in the United States and Canada. More than 92 per cent of the general nonprofit hospital beds in the United States are represented in the Association's membership roster.

The Association's program is aimed at meeting the needs of all hospitals regardless of their size, type of clinical service offered, or ownership.

As every hospital administrator knows, Association membership provides services that cannot be carried out economically by any one hospital acting alone. The goals of the Association are to help hospitals extend their services to the public and to increase their efficiency and quality of services. The Association accomplishes this in many ways.

On the opposite page is a chart showing the organization of the Association. This chart, although greatly simplified, gives a rather clear outline of how the Association functions in serving the membership.

HOUSE OF DELEGATES

The 101-member House of Delegates is the supreme policy-making body of the Association, in which ultimate legislative authority for the Association is vested. Of 101 delegates, 72 are elected by institutional members in the states and provinces for two-year terms; 12 are delegates-at-large, elected by the House for three-year terms; three represent the Blue Cross Plans (Type IV members); and the remaining 14 include the 13 members of the Board of Trustees and the chairman of the Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries, all of whom are elected by the House for three years with the exception of the treasurer, elected annually, and the auxiliary committee chairman, who is a member ex officio.

The House of Delegates also projects and reflects needs of the hospital field and of the public, which relies on hospitals, by authorizing Association programs and activities. It meets annually during the Association's convention, at which time the officers and Board of Trustees are elected.

OFFICERS AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Officers of the Association are the president, president-elect, past president, and treasurer. The Board of Trustees includes these officers and nine trustees, three of whom are elected each year for three-year terms. The Board usually meets four times a year. It is the Board of Trustees, in addition to Association councils and committees and official representatives to other organizations and agencies, that fulfills the customary responsibilities of a governing board between meetings of the House of Delegates.

COÖRDINATING COMMITTEE

Recommendations concerning the Association's programs and activities are made to the Board of Trustees by the Coördinating Committee, composed of the chairmen of the Association's six councils (Administrative Practice, Association Services, Hospital Planning and Plant Operation, Professional Practice, Prepayment Plans and Hospital Reimbursement, and Government Relations), the Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries, and the Blue Cross Commission.

The function of the Coördinating Committee is two-fold. First, it provides a quarterly forum where the work projects of the councils can be discussed so that the various councils do not duplicate projects and can assist each other on those projects of overlapping interest or concern. Secondly, this committee provides as much detailed information as is necessary to assist the Board of Trustees in evaluating Association programs.

COUNCILS AND COMMITTEES

The councils and committees of the Association are composed of hospital administrators, hospital department heads, and experts from allied fields. These working groups develop and guide the progress of the Association programs. They are responsible for developing the printed aids, such as manuals, pamphlets, and booklets, a list of which is to be found in this section of the Administrators Guide Issue. Working with the headquarters staff, they keep the Association in close touch with the needs of the hospital field. Ultimately, most of the activities of councils and committees require the approval of the Board of Trustees and the House of Delegates before becoming effective.

SERVICES TO THE HOSPITAL FIELD

It is primarily to these membership groups that the services, programs, and activities of the Association are directed. Among the media and methods ordinarily used to bring the services and programs of the Association to the attention to the membership are: the official publications (HOSPITALS, TRUSTEE, This Month, Auxiliary Newsletter); direct mail announcements, including promotional type materials; annual convention; institutes and short courses for hospital workers; attendance of officers, trustees, council and committee members, and headquarters staff at meetings of hospital associations and of allied and related organizations; exhibits; and a systematic working relationship between the Association and local, state, and regional hospital associations, between the Association and other organizations, and between the Association and the government.

The Association, through joint committees with other national organizations in the health field, expresses the over-all hospital needs so that the activities of these other organizations representing various segments of the hospital may be coördinated with the over-all activities. Likewise, through the Association's Washington Service Bureau, hospital needs and problems are presented to legislative committees and government agencies so that legislation and administrative decisions may aid, rather than impede, hospital progress.

Administrators and other personnel connected with member hospitals may direct special inquiries to the headquarters staff of the Association on specific problems. Through the Association's library and the assistance of staff specialists in such fields as housekeeping, laundry, medical records, accounting, administration, medical staff organization, nursing, dietetics, and similar subject areas, reference materials are compiled for assistance on special problems.

Institutes, working conferences, and training courses for hospital personnel are a major endeavor of the Association. Annual attendance at these "extension courses" is well over 3,000.

In its function of coördinating the organized efforts of the hospital field, the Association renders central services and conducts working conferences for officials of state, regional, and local hospital associations. The Association also prepares manuals, booklets, and printed materials to make the work of local hospital associations more effective and to assure that the efforts of hospital associations are coördinated so that they complement, rather than duplicate, one another's efforts.

An essential service of the Association is the annual Listing of Hospitals. With the cessation of the American Medical Association's program of registration of hospitals, the listing in the Administrators Guide Issue of HOSPITALS becomes the only single central source of information for the identification of the hospitals of the United States and Canada, and for the details of their individual characteristics and operations.

The listing service is a part of a major function of the Association —the collection of facts which will be useful to the hospital field. The statistical services of the Association have been constantly expanded to meet growing needs. Both the scope and the volume of hospital service are continually increasing. In order to compare and to evaluate these constant changes, many indices are needed. Through the annual statistics and special studies presented in the Administrators Guide, hospitals and the health field are provided many of the facts required to understand the past and the present and to plan for the future. Throughout the year other special reports—such as the annual rate survey — provide additional data.

In the final analysis, the task of the Association is to provide central services and resource help and to conduct programs and activities that no one hospital working alone can properly undertake or achieve. All hospitals have an interest in these activities and jointly share responsibility for their conduct and their guidance.

Membership in the American Hospital Association is divided into two major classifications: Institutional and Personal.

MEMBERSHIP DUES

The major source of Association income is from membership dues. These are established by the membership through the House of Delegates and are stated in the Association's bylaws. A listing of membership categories, the amount of dues assigned each, and the method of computation follow.

MEMBERSHIP

Association membership represents all sizes and categories of hospitals, including proprietary; voluntary, nonprofit, church-operated; and those operated by units or divisions of the federal, state, provincial, and local governments. At the present time Association membership includes over 5,300 hospitals in the United States and Canada; more than 1,000 hospital auxiliary groups; the 85 approved Blue Cross Plans; and several hundred governmental and related health agencies, such as state health departments and national health associations. A total of 4,300 individuals affiliated with hospitals and related health fields hold personal membership in the Association.

INSTITUTIONAL MEMBERSHIP

Institutional membership is offered to six categories of organizations.

Type I includes hospitals, both general and special, that care primarily for patients with conditions normally requiring a comparatively short stay. Dues are computed at the rate of 12 mills per patient day, with a $90 annual minimum and $1,200 annual maximum.

Type II includes all other institutions that provide inpatient care. Dues range from $90 to $240 per year and between these limits are computed at six mills per patient day.

Type III includes dispensaries, clinics, and other organizations for the diagnosis and treatment of the sick that do not render inpatient care. Dues are $90 per year.

Type IV includes only organizations operating hospital service (Blue Cross) plans approved by the American Hospital Association Board of Trustees. Dues are $90 per year.

Type V includes hospital auxiliaries or other service groups affiliated with hospitals that are institutional members of the American Hospital Association. Dues for service organizations in hospitals of 100 beds or less are $30 per year; 101 to 300 beds, $50 per year; 301 or more beds, $100 per year.

Type VI includes hospitals in the planning stage or under construction, related organizations in the health and hospital field, and hospitals and health organizations in foreign countries. Dues for nonprofit organizations in this category are $90 per year; for those operated for profit, $180 per year.

Government Hospitals: For government hospitals the Board of Trustees makes special provisions. Groups of hospitals operated through central agencies of government may obtain institutional membership under this provision. The main unit of such groups pays full dues, and all other hospitals in the group each pay $90 annually.

Purchases of Services: Where laws prohibit purchase of membership with public funds, governmental hospitals may purchase the services given institutional members for an annual sum equal to what their dues would be.

Duplicate Mailings: Members may receive duplicate mailings of publications and written material at an annual charge of $90 in addition to regular dues if a duplicate copy of HOSPITALS, the Association Journal, is included; $88 if it is not.

Affiliation: Forty-six state hospital associations have entered into agreements of affiliation with the American Hospital Association. In these states at least 50 per cent of the state hospital association's institutional members are also institutional members of the American Hospital Association. Types I, II, and III only are covered by affiliation agreements.

PERSONAL MEMBERSHIP

Personal membership in the American Hospital Association is available to individuals connected with member hospitals and with related organizations holding institutional membership. Dues are $15 a year unless otherwise established.

Blue Cross Organization

Blue Cross Plans are the only hospitalization plans officially approved and sponsored by the American Hospital Association. They have this approval because they offer prepayment of hospital bills on a nonprofit, community-sponsored basis in accordance with standards established by the American Hospital Association. Their conformance to these standards is evaluated annually by the Association.

Blue Cross Plans provide benefits in terms of actual hospital services. This is possible through agreements with more than 6,000 participating hospitals, which guarantee to furnish necessary hospital care for subscribers and their dependent families when hospitalized. In this way, Blue Cross members receive maximum service, for the most part without dollar limitations.

Each Blue Cross Plan is an independent, locally-governed, nonprofit corporation. Its trustees represent the hospitals, the medical profession, and the general public. They contribute their experience and guidance without pay as a civic service. This local control enables each Plan to tailor its benefits, rates, and other regulations to the particular facilities and needs of its own area.

Through reciprocal agreements among the Plans, enrollment on a regional or national basis can be offered to firms and other groups desiring it. Transfer of membership from one Plan to another may also be arranged when changing residence. The Blue Cross Commission of the American Hospital Association serves as the central coördinating agency for all the Plans.

Blue Cross Highlights

More than 46 million persons are enrolled in the Blue Cross Plans of the United States and Canada. This is more than one-fourth of the entire population. More than $4 billion have been paid out by Blue Cross Plans for hospital care of members in the past 10 years. During 1954 alone, the Plans paid more than $700,000,000 to hospitals for care of members. Approximately 90 per cent of Blue Cross Plan income, on a national average, is returned to members in the form of benefits.

More than 6,000 hospitals, with 85 per cent of all general hospital bed capacity, are participating Blue Cross hospitals. Through reciprocal agreements among the Plans, a subscriber who is hospitalized out of his own Plan area may usually obtain the service benefits of the Plan serving the area in which hospitalization occurs.

Most Blue Cross Plans are co-ordinated with companion nonprofit medical/surgical care prepayment Plans, which help pay the doctor's bill. In combination, these Plans offer comprehensive protection against the costs of unpredictable accident and illness.

Blue Shield Plans

Blue Shield Plans are sponsored by the medical profession itself in the public interest. Each Plan carries the official approval and support of its own state or local medical association. It is the physicians themselves who bear the responsibility for the quality of medical and surgical care rendered to subscribers.

Like their companion plans for hospitalization, all Blue Shield Plans are organized and operated on a nonprofit basis. This assures maximum return of the subscriber's premium dollar in the form of benefits.

Each Blue Shield Plan is an independent nonprofit corporation whose governing board is composed of physicians and other citizens who are residents of the area covered by the Plan. Thus, rates, benefits, and enrollment regulations are designed to meet the needs of the area served.

Through reciprocal agreements among the Plans, enrollment on a regional or national basis can be offered to firms and other groups desiring it. Transfer of membership from one Plan to another is usually possible when a subscriber changes residence. Blue Shield Plans coördinate many of the their activities through their national association, Blue Shield Medical Care Plans, Inc.

Blue Shield Highlights

More than 30 million persons are enrolled in the Blue Shield Plans of the United States and Canada, and membership continues to grow at a rapid rate.

More than $1.3 billion has been paid by Blue Shield Plans to physicians for care rendered to members during the past 10 years. During 1954 alone, payments totalled approximately $300,000,000 representing some 6,500,000 separate services of physicians. On an average approximately 80 per cent of total income of the Plans is returned to subscribers in the form of benefits.

More than 122,000 physicians participate in Blue Shield Plans. This is 89 per cent of all physicians in private practice in the areas served by the Plans.

Most Blue Shield Plans are coördinated with companion nonprofit hospital service prepayment Plans, which cover the hospitalization expense. In combination, therefore, these Plans offer comprehensive protection against the unpredictable costs of accident and sickness.

Blue Shield coverage is available in 42 states, the District of Columbia, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and eight Canadian provinces.

For listing of Blue Cross Plans and Blue Shield Plans see pages 347, 348, 349

State Advisory Counselors

The American Hospital Association, through the Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries, sponsors the state advisory counselor program as a way to stimulate the organization of hospital auxiliaries, to coördinate hospital auxiliary programs, and to interpret continuously the effectiveness of hospital auxiliary service to the hospital and to the community.

State advisory counselors are appointed by the president of the American Hospital Association with the approval of the president of the state hospital association. The term of office is for one year, from convention to convention.

The state advisory counselor becomes the liaison representative between the Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries, the state hospital association, and local auxiliaries. She is asked to coöperate with the state hospital association in planning meetings in conjunction with the district, state, and regional hospital groups.

BYLAWS OF THE American Hospital Association

These Bylaws are printed as amended September, 1954. The Council on Association Services recommended several amendments to the Bylaws which the Board of Trustees approved at its May 14, 1955 meeting. To become effective, these suggested revisions must be acted upon by the House of Delegates at its meeting in Atlantic City, N. J., September 19-21, 1955. The recommended revisions and the reasons for them are covered in Part I of the August issue of HOSPITALS.

ARTICLE I—Name and Object

This Association shall be known as the American Hospital Association. Its object shall be to promote the public welfare through the development of better hospital care for all the people.

ARTICLE II—Membership

Section 1. Classes—Membership shall be of two classes: Institutional and Personal.

Section 2. Institutional and Personal Members—Membership on an Institutional or a Personal basis shall be available to organizations and individuals interested in the object of the Association on application and election as provided herein. The term "state" wherever used in these Bylaws shall include the District of Columbia, the territories of Hawaii and Alaska, and the United States territories in the West Indies.

Section 3. Types of Institutional Membership—Institutional membership shall be of the following types:

Type I shall include hospitals, both general and special, that care primarily for patients with conditions normally requiring a comparatively short stay.

Type II shall include all other institutions that provide inpatient care.

Type III shall include dispensaries, clinics and other similar organizations for the diagnosis and treatment of the sick but not rendering inpatient care.

Type IV shall include only organizations operating hospital service plans which have been and continue to be formally approved by the Board of Trustees in accordance with Article XI, Section 6, of these Bylaws.

Type V shall include any hospital auxiliary or other service group organized in connection with a hospital which holds Institutional membership in the Association.

Type VI shall be available to organizations interested in the object of the Association but not eligible to Institutional membership, Types I, II, III, IV, or V, provided these organizations qualify for such membership in accordance with such regulations as the Board of Trustees may enact from time to time.

Any organization not having location or residence within the confines of either the Dominion of Canada or the United States, its territories and insular possessions, may become a Type VI Institutional member upon qualifying in accordance with such regulations as the Board of Trustees may enact from time to time.

Section 4. Types of Personal Membership—Personal membership shall be of the following types:

(a) Type A Personal members shall include members of governing boards and administrative, supervisory, professional and technical personnel associated with Institutional members, Types I and II; persons associated with those Type VI members which are hospital projects in the planning and construction stages, and full-time students enrolled in courses in hospital administration.

Type B Personal members shall include those persons associated with Types III, IV and V Institutional members; those Type VI Institutional members not included under Type A, as well as persons associated with an eligible non-member governmental or nonprofit agency actively concerned with hospitals.

Type C Personal members shall include persons not associated with an organization eligible for Institutional membership, Types I, II, III, IV, and V.

(b) Applications for Personal membership shall not be accepted from persons connected with eligible non-member institutions or from persons connected with hospitals which fail to meet membership requirements, provided that persons in allied fields and organizations may be accepted for membership in accordance with such regulations as may be enacted by the Board of Trustees from time to time.

(c) Any person once a Personal member may continue such membership as long as he conforms with regulations instituted by the Board of Trustees, provided that any Personal member associated with a hospital which resigns, is suspended, or otherwise terminates membership after January 1, 1954, and any Personal member who shall become associated with a non-member hospital after January 1, 1954, shall cease to be eligible to continue such Personal membership, if the hospital with which such Personal member is associated does not become an Institutional member or does not reinstate Institutional membership within a two-year period.

(d) Life members shall be those enrolled as such and Personal members who shall have their membership continued for life with exemption from payment of dues after they have paid annual dues for 30 years. Personal members may prepay their annual dues for the length of time necessary to complete the 30-year qualification period. At the expiration of the 30-year period, such Personal members shall become Life members.

(e) Honorary members shall be persons of distinction who shall be granted Honorary membership by action of the Board of Trustees. Such action shall be reported to the House of Delegates at its next following meeting. Honorary members shall pay no dues.

(f) Recipients of the Association's Award of Merit shall pay no Personal membership dues but shall receive the usual Personal membership services.

Section 5. Election—Application for Institutional or Personal membership shall be made to the director in writing, and the applicant shall become a member upon approval in such a manner as shall be prescribed by the Board of Trustees and upon payment of initiation fee and dues as hereinafter provided.

All Institutional members, excepting Type IV and Type V members, shall pay initiation fees of $10. Institutional members Type IV and Type V and Personal members shall not pay an initiation fee.

Section 6. Resignation—A member not in default in payment of dues and against whom no complaint or charge is pending may at any time file his or its resignation in writing with the director. Such resignation shall become effective as of date filed.

Section 7. Expulsion and Reinstatement—The Board of Trustees may censure, suspend, or expel any member for cause after giving such member an opportunity to have a hearing. Any member suspended or expelled may be reinstated by the affirmative vote of a majority of the members of the Board of Trustees.

ARTICLE III—Personal Membership Departments

Section 1. Establishment — Persons holding Type A Personal membership, upon petition of not less than 25 members having a common area of interest and approval of the Board of Trustees, may establish Personal membership departments in accordance with regulations developed by the Board of Trustees provided, however, that each such department shall have at least 100 Type A Personal members as a qualification for organization.

Section 2. Officers and Delegates—

(a) Officers — Each Personal membership department shall have a chairman and a vice chairman elected by the membership of the department. Election of officers shall be conducted in accordance with rules established by the Board of Trustees. The person receiving the highest total vote shall be named chairman. The person receiving the second greatest number of votes shall be vice chairman. The chairman, vice chairman, the next three nominees, in order of votes received, and three persons appointed in accordance with Article XIV, Section 1, of these Bylaws for staggered terms of three years each (except that the first year appointees shall serve for designated terms of one year, two years and three years), shall constitute a departmental committee which shall serve under the council of the Association to which each such department shall be assigned by the Board of Trustees.

(b) Duties — The departmental committee shall develop the policies and shall conduct the programs of its respective department within the area of its special interest, subject to the approval of its members, the appropriate council and the Board of Trustees.

(c) Delegates—When the membership of a department shall exceed 200 members, it shall be entitled to one Delegate in the Association's House of Delegates in the person of its elected chairman, and its elected vice chairman shall be his Alternate.

Section 3. Eligibility—Standards for membership in the departments shall be established by the respective departmental committees, subject to approval by the Board of Trustees.

Section 4. Dues—Dues of Personal membership departments shall be as hereinafter provided in these Bylaws. If dues of any Personal membership department shall exceed the usual dues of Type A Personal members, all funds so collected shall be administered by the Board of Trustees, and such funds shall be expended at the request of the departmental committee for the conduct of approved departmental programs.

ARTICLE IV—Association Dues

Section 1. Scale—

(a) Annual dues of Institutional members Type I shall be on the basis of 12 mills ($.012) for each day of patient service rendered during the most recent calendar year for which statistics are available, newborn infant days excluded, with minimum dues for any one institution of $7.50 per month, and maximum dues for Institutional members Type I of $100 per month. At the time such applicants are admitted to Institutional membership, they shall pay dues prorated on the basis of total days of patient service rendered during the most recent calendar year for which statistics are available, as hereinafter provided.

(b) Dues of Institutional members Type II shall be on the basis of one half the millage rate and equal to one half the monthly amounts of dues of Institutional members Type I with a minimum of $7.50 per month and a maximum of $20 per month.

(c) Dues of Institutional members Type III shall be $7.50 per month.

(d) The dues of Institutional members Type IV are monies held in trust as provided in these Bylaws. The dues of each Institutional member Type IV shall be established at the rate and payable in the manner approved by a two-thirds vote of the Institutional members Type IV at any meeting of such membership.

(e) The dues of Institutional members Type IV shall be placed in a special Trust Fund, which shall not constitute the property of the Association, to be administered by the Blue Cross Commission of the Association in amounts and under the conditions set forth in the administrative regulations referred to in Article XIII, Section 6, paragraph (b).

(f) Each year the Blue Cross Commission shall transfer to the Association $7.50 per month per Type IV member from the special fund which it administers.

(g) All monies received from Institutional members Type IV or otherwise paid to the Blue Cross Commission shall be held in trust by the individuals from time to time constituting the members of the Blue Cross Commission of the Association, and all sums held in such special Trust Fund shall from time to time be paid out and disposed of in such manner as shall be directed by an order signed by a majority of the members of the Blue Cross Commission of the Association or on the order of such person or persons in whom such authority shall then be vested by an unrescinded instrument signed by such majority, it being intended that the members of the Blue Cross Commission of the Association, as it shall from time to time exist by action of a majority thereof, shall have full power and authority to direct the disposition of all such monies and to delegate such authority to such person or persons as shall from time to time be determined.

(h) Dues of Institutional members Type V that are affiliated with Institutional members Type I or Type II ranging in size from 0 to 100 beds shall be $30 per year; $50 per year for Type V members affiliated with hospitals ranging in size from 101 beds to 300 beds, and $100 per year for Type V members affiliated with hospitals of 301 beds or more. Type V members affiliated with Institutional members Type III shall pay dues of $30 per year. Type V members affiliated with Institutional members Type VI, which are hospitals under construction, shall pay dues of $30 per year.

(i) Dues of Institutional members Type VI, which organizations are operated for profit, shall be $15 per month. Dues of Institutional members Type VI, which are nonprofit organizations, government health agencies, hospitals being planned, or new hospitals under construction but not yet in operation, and hospitals and organizations not having location within the confines of either the Dominion of Canada or the United States, its territories and insular possessions shall be $7.50 per month.

(j) A special schedule of dues shall apply to groups of hospitals owned and operated by governments. All hospitals in a single group shall operate under the jurisdiction of a single governmental agency. Within each such group, dues of the hospital unit reporting the greatest number of patient days of care during the most recent calendar year for which statistics are available shall be computed on the same basis as non-group Institutional members, provided all hospitals in the group are of the same membership type. In groups including hospital units of more than one type, the hospital unit to which regular dues amounts apply shall be the Type I or Type II hospital having the highest dues when computed in the usual manner for non-group institutions. Dues of all other Institutional members within a group shall be $7.50 per month. The Board of Trustees may vary at its discretion the above schedule of dues to meet special conditions that may arise in connection with the membership of centrally owned and operated groups of governmental institutions.

(k) Institutional members which are admitted to membership prior to April 1 in any year shall pay dues for the full calendar year.

Dues of all Institutional members which join the Association on or after April 1 in any year shall be prorated on the basis of the number of whole months remaining in their first membership year from the date of admission to membership until December 31 next following.

(l) Dues of Institutional members located outside the boundaries of the continental United States may be adjusted by the Board of Trustees.

(m) Dues of Type A Personal members, not affiliated with a Personal membership department, shall be $15 per annum. Dues of members in Personal membership departments shall not be less than $15 per annum. Dues above this amount may be voted by a two-thirds affirmative vote of the departmental members.

(n) Dues of Type B Personal members shall be $15 per annum.

(o) Dues of Type C Personal members shall be $90 per annum.

(p) At the time any individual is admitted to membership he shall pay dues for the entire calendar year in which he shall be so admitted, except that any individual who becomes a member after June 30 and before November 1 in any year shall pay only one half the usual annual dues. Any individual who becomes a member after November 1 in any year shall pay dues only for the year commencing on the next succeeding January 1.

(q) Dues of Personal members shall conform to the members' current hospital and organizational affiliations. Transfer of Personal membership from one type to another shall be made upon notification of change to the director of the Association.

Section 2. Default in Payment—If dues other than dues of Institutional members Type IV are not paid within 60 days of the date on which they become due and payable, the director shall notify each member in arrears, and if said dues are not paid within 60 days thereafter, all privileges of membership shall be suspended until all arrears are paid in full. At any time within three years after the date when dues are first required to be paid, a member who has been suspended may be reinstated upon the payment of all dues in default and payable at the time of reinstatement. The Board of Trustees in its discretion may modify the provisions of this section effective for such period as the Board shall determine.

ARTICLE V—Contracting Organizations

Section 1—The Board of Trustees may extend Institutional membership services to eligible hospitals or other bona fide eligible organizations which because of legal or other restrictions are prevented from holding Institutional membership, and the Association shall charge for such services on the same basis as dues are assessed against Institutional members Types I, II, III, V and VI. Such organizations hereafter shall be referred to as "contracting organizations."

ARTICLE VI—Affiliation

Section 1. State and Regional Associations—

(a) The Association may enter into agreements of affiliation with state, provincial, territorial, and regional hospital associations.

(b) Such affiliation shall be undertaken in view of the mutual interests of the participating associations and shall be designed to improve the effectiveness of the associations concerned in accomplishing their mutual objectives of aiding hospitals to provide better care for all the people.

(c) Agreements of affiliation shall include provision for minimum mutual membership requirements, where such are applicable, obligations, responsibilities and privileges of the participating associations, financial arrangements, and similar matters as shall be determined from time to time by the Board of Trustees.

Section 2. Regional Associations—The Association may enter into agreements of affiliation with such regional hospital associations as apply for formal affiliation, provided that such regional hospital associations shall consist entirely and solely of state associations formally affiliated with the Association. Such agreements shall define obligations, responsibilities and privileges of the signatories relative to meeting arrangements, dissemination of information, negotiations with allied groups and industries, and financial arrangements.

Section 3. Renewal—Agreements of affiliation shall be for periods of one year and shall be renewed automatically each year, provided that requirements of the affiliation agreement shall have been met and evidence to this effect submitted to the Association. Either party may terminate affiliation by giving notice in writing at least 30 days in advance of of the date of termination of the agreement.

ARTICLE VII—Educational Trust

The Board of Trustees may accept on behalf of the Association any grants, contributions, gifts, bequests, or devises for the general purposes or any special purpose of the Association. The Association shall also sponsor an Educational Trust to receive contributions for financing special educational or research projects. The trustees of the Educational Trust shall be the president, the treasurer and the director of the Association. The Board of Trustees shall have the right to transfer to the Educational Trust donations made to the Association, which are not otherwise restricted. The trustees of the Educational Trust shall make reports of activities of the trust in accordance with such regulations as may be established by the Board of Trustees. The treasurer shall also submit to the House of Delegates at its annual meeting an annual report of the Educational Trust based on an audit by a certified public accountant.

ARTICLE VIII—Meetings

Section 1. Annual Meeting—There shall be held an annual meeting of the Association, either within or without the State of Illinois, which shall include meetings of the House of Delegates, together with such meetings of the Board of Trustees, councils, departments, and committees as may be authorized by the Board of Trustees. The time and place of the annual meeting shall be designated by the Board of Trustees and shall be announced at least two months prior to the date so fixed.

Section 2. Publications—No paper or statement presented at the annual meeting shall be published in the minutes or in any periodical or similar publication as a part of the transactions of this Association except with the approval of the Board of Trustees. All papers read at any session of the Association, or its sections or at any educational program sponsored by the Association, shall become the property of the Association. The Board of Trustees may cause the same to be copyrighted in the name of the American Hospital Association.

Section 3. Meetings—Meetings of Institutional members and contracting organizations may be held at such time and place, within or without the State of Illinois, upon such written notice as may be fixed by the Board of Trustees, but not less than 30 days prior to the date of such meeting.

Representatives of 200 Institutional members and contracting organizations shall constitute a quorum.

ARTICLE IX—Voting

Section 1. Eligibility—Each Institutional member and contracting organization, excepting Institutional members Type V, shall be entitled to one vote in the election of members of the House of Delegates of the Association and upon any proposal to amend the Articles of Incorporation for the first $240, or portion thereof, of dues paid or of contract services purchased during the current calendar year, and one vote for each additional $240 paid but not to exceed five votes. Every such member and contracting organization shall have not less than one and not more than five votes, provided that each unit represented by a contracting organization shall have not less than one vote.

Personal membership confers no voting right.

Section 2. Voting by Proxy—Voting by proxy shall be permitted, but no proxy shall be valid unless it shall specify the meeting or meetings at which such vote by proxy is authorized and shall be filed with the director of the Association at least 30 days before the meeting. There shall be a maximum time limit not to exceed 11 months placed on every such proxy.

Section 3. Institutional Member Representatives—The chief administrative officer of each Institutional member or contracting organization shall be its duly accredited representative who shall be entitled to the right to vote for that institution, provided, however, that the Institutional member or contracting organization may designate another person or persons in that organization as its duly accredited representative or representatives to exercise that Institutional member's voting rights in accordance with Article IX, Section 1, of these Bylaws.

ARTICLE X—House of Delegates

Section 1. Composition—There shall be a House of Delegates of not to exceed 101 members, plus such members as shall represent Personal membership departments, constituted as follows:

(a) The state and provincial Delegates, chosen as hereinafter provided;

(b) Twelve Delegates at Large chosen by the House of Delegates, not more than one of whom shall be a resident of any one state, territory or insular possession of the United States, or province of the Dominion of Canada;

(c) Three Delegates chosen by the Institutional members Type IV;

(d) One Delegate who shall be the chairman of the Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries;

(e) The elected and ex officio members of the Board of Trustees.

(f) All members of the House of Delegates elected by Institutional members and contracting organizations, or who hold office in the House of Delegates in an ex officio capacity after the adoption of these Bylaws, shall be duly accredited representatives of Institutional members of the Association in good standing at the time of their election. Members of the House of Delegates elected by Personal membership departments and Delegates at Large shall be associated with Institutional members in good standing at the time of their election.

Section 2. Apportionment—Every fourth year after January 1, 1938, the Board of Trustees shall apportion 72 Delegates among the states and provinces in proportion to the total vote of Institutional members in such states and provinces respectively as recorded in the office of the director. For purposes of computing the reapportionment, the total vote of Institutional members during the year immediately preceding shall be utilized. Every state and province wherein Institutional members are located and having at least a total of 10 votes as defined in Article IX, Section 1, shall have at least one Delegate. This apportionment shall prevail until the next quadrennial apportionment whether the membership in the Association from a particular state or province shall increase or decrease.

Section 3. Election—

(a) Affiliated States—In state or provincial hospital associations which are formally affiliated with the Association, the president shall utilize the facilities of each affiliated state or provincial hospital association in the conduct of an election of Delegates and Alternates, in which event the fixing of the time and place of meeting and giving of notice shall be in accordance with the Bylaws of such state or provincial association and the meeting shall be conducted by the officers of such state or provincial association, but the eligibility of nominees and voters shall be in accordance with Article IX, Section 1, of these Bylaws. The results of any such election shall be certified by the secretary of such state or provincial hospital association and approved by the Board of Trustees of this Association as other elections under this section, and such Delegates and Alternates shall thereupon be deemed to be the duly elected Delegates and Alternates from such state or province.

(b) Nonaffiliated States—In states or provinces in which the hospital association is not formally affiliated with the Association, the president shall appoint in each year in which the term of office of Delegates shall expire from the members of the Association in each state and province a committee of three persons for the purpose of conducting a meeting of the representatives of Institutional members and contracting organizations residing or having a usual location within the state or province, at which meeting representatives of such Institutional members and contracting organizations present and represented shall nominate and elect to the House of Delegates the number of Delegates apportioned to that state or province by the Board of Trustees. An Alternate for each Delegate shall also be nominated and elected.

The president shall designate the chairman and secretary of such committee and the time and place at which the meeting shall be held.

Not less than 30 days before the meeting, the director of the Association shall send notice by mail to each and every Institutional member of the Association and to each and every representative of contracting organization in the state or province at the address appearing on the records of the Association specifying the time and place of the meeting and the purpose for which it is being called.

(c) Quorum—To constitute a quorum, at least 25 per cent of the total votes of Institutional members and contracting organizations of the Association within the state or province must be represented, either in person or by proxy, but the Institutional members and contracting organizations present may adjourn the meeting to such time and place as they may see fit until a quorum is represented.

(d) Certification—After the election shall have been duly held, such committee shall transmit to the Board of Trustees a certificate, in the form which shall be furnished to such committee by the director of the Association, certifying to the time and place of holding such election, the number of members present or represented by proxy, and the names and addresses of the elected Delegates and Alternates. When it shall appear from such certificate that the election therein certified to was duly held in accordance with the provisions of this section, the Board of Trustees shall approve the same, and such Delegates and Alternates shall thereupon be deemed to be the duly elected Delegates and Alternates to the House of Delegates from such state or province.

(e) Term — Each duly-elected Delegate and Alternate shall serve for a term of two years and, subject to the provisions of Section 2 of this article, until his successor shall have been duly elected and certified.

(f) Vacancies—Should any one of the 72 Delegates elected by the states and provinces, or their respective Alternates, by virtue of a permanent change of address, leave the state or province in which he was elected, or if his office should be vacated for any other reason, the vacancy shall be filled in accordance with these Bylaws.

Should the position of Delegate or Alternate from a state or province become vacant and there be insufficient time for the conduct of an election in the usual manner as prescribed in these Bylaws, the Board of Trustees may, at is discretion, authorize the seating of an eligible representative from that state or province. Alternates and Delegates authorized in this manner by the Board of Trustees of this Association shall be reported to the House of Delegates at the first session of the House of Delegates for ratification of the action taken by the Board of Trustees.

(g) Multiple Delegates — Any state or province entitled to two or more Delegates shall elect the same number of Alternates who shall be designated in the order of precedence, viz., first Alternate, second Alternate, etc.

(h) Seating—In the failure of one of the Delegates to appear and qualify at any session of the House of Delegates, the sergeants at arms shall be authorized to seat in the place of such missing Delegate the first Alternate in the order of precedence who may present himself. In the event that any state or province shall fail to have designated its Alternates in the foregoing order, the sergeants at arms shall be authorized to seat in the place of the missing Delegate the first Alternate from his state or province who shall present himself with proper credentials.

The vice chairman of the Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries shall act as Alternate for the Type V Delegate.

(i) Delegates at Large—At each annual meeting the House of Delegates shall elect four Delegates at Large to succeed the Delegates at Large whose terms then expire. Delegates so elected shall serve for three-year terms.

(j) Institutional Members Type IV—Institutional members Type IV shall elect, in such manner and at such time and place as the Blue Cross Commission of the Association shall determine, the three Delegates and their Alternates to be chosen by such members to serve for terms of three years. Each Delegate and Alternate shall serve until his successor shall have been elected. The results of any such election shall be certified by the director of the Blue Cross Commission of the Association and shall be approved by the Board of Trustees, as are other elections under this section, and such Delegates and Alternates shall thereupon be deemed to be duly elected Delegates and Alternates for such Institutional members Type IV.

Section 4. Meetings—The House of Delegates shall meet during the annual meeting of the Association, and at such other times and places as it may determine. Meetings of the House of Delegates may be called at any time by the Board of Trustees and shall be called by the president of the Association upon the written request of a majority of the members of the House of Delegates. Thirty members present at any meeting duly convened shall constitute a quorum. The immediate past president of the Association shall preside at meetings of the House of Delegates convened during the year in which he is the immediate past president. If the immediate past president is unable to preside, the president or, at his direction, the president-elect shall preside.

Section 5. Notice of Meeting—At least 30 days' notice of the time and place for holding each meeting of the House of Delegates shall be given to each member thereof.

Section 6. Powers—Authority to make Association policy decisions shall be vested in the House of Delegates who shall elect the trustees and officers of the Association as hereinafter provided. The House of Delegates shall have the authority to approve or disapprove such recommendations, reports, actions, or resolutions as may be placed before the House by the officers and trustees. Further, the House of Delegates shall have authority to make proposals and recommendations to the Board of Trustees, and such proposals and recommendations shall be referred by the Board of Trustees to the appropriate body of the Association for study and recommendations which, if the House shall so determine, must again be placed before the House of Delegates for final action.

All resolutions or recommendations of the House of Delegates pertaining to the expenditure of money must be approved by the Board of Trustees before the same shall become effective. The House of Delegates shall have and may exercise all the powers, rights and privileges which are or may lawfully be vested in the members of the Association, except as otherwise specifically provided in these Bylaws.

Section 7. Voting—Each member of the House of Delegates, in whatever capacity, shall have one vote; no member shall have more than one vote by virtue of any dual capacity. The director of the Association shall act as secretary of the House of Delegates, shall keep a roster of its members and shall keep and be the custodian of its minutes and records. The members of the councils and of the Blue Cross Commission of the Association and the chairman of each standing and special committee of the Association shall have the privilege of the floor in the House of Delegates, but shall have no right to vote as such. Matters submitted to vote of the House of Delegates shall be determined by majority vote of members present and voting, except as otherwise provided in these Bylaws.

ARTICLE XI—Board of Trustees

Section 1. Composition—The Board of Trustees shall consist of the president, the immediate past president, the president-elect, and the treasurer, all of whom shall be members ex officio with power to vote, together with nine members elected by the House of Delegates as herein provided. If the office of an elected member of the Board of Trustees shall become vacant between regular annual meetings of the House of Delegates, such office shall be filled by the Board of Trustees until the next annual meeting, at which time the House of Delegates shall elect a member for the unexpired term. In the absence of the president, or at his direction, the president-elect shall be the presiding officer of the Board of Trustees.

The president-elect, who will assume the office of president at the adjournment of the annual meeting, shall preside over the organizational meeting of the Board of Trustees which may be held on the day on which he is installed as president.

Section 2. Election—At each annual meeting of the House of Delegates, three trustees shall be elected by majority vote of the Delegates present and voting, and they shall serve for a term beginning with the adjournment of the annual meeting at which they were elected and ending with the adjournment of the third annual meeting thereafter.

Section 3. Quorum—A majority of the Board of Trustees shall constitute a quorum.

Section 4. Powers—The Board of Trustees shall have charge of the property, control and management of the affairs and funds of the Association; final authority over the acts of councils, committees and officers; and power and authority to establish administrative regulations, and to do and perform all acts and functions not inconsistent with these Bylaws or with any action taken by the House of Delegates. The Board of Trustees shall act as a referral committee to which resolutions and bylaw changes shall be submitted before being placed before the House of Delegates.

Section 5. Meetings—Meetings of the Board of Trustees may be called by the president or any three members of the Board of Trustees, and at least two days' notice thereof shall be given by mail, telegraph, or telephone.

Section 6. Blue Cross Approval Program—The Board of Trustees shall establish standards for and administer a program of annual approval for organizations operating nonprofit hospital service plans which apply for such approval. The purpose of the standards shall be to protect the interests of the subscribers, the medical profession and the hospitals.

If such an organization shall fail (a) to apply for approval, or (b) to furnish such information in support of such application as may reasonably be required, or (c) to comply with the foregoing standards, all within such period as the Board of Trustees may fix from time to time, then the Board of Trustees may terminate its approval.

ARTICLE XII—Officers

Section 1. Officers—The officers of the Association shall be: a president, a president-elect, a treasurer, and a secretary.

Section 2. Election—Persons eligible to become officers of the Association shall meet the membership requirements defined in Article X, Section 1, paragraph (f). The following officers shall be elected from the eligible membership of the Association by the House of Delegates at each annual meeting of the House of Delegates:

A president-elect who shall assume the office of president on the day of adjournment of the annual meeting next following the annual meeting at which he was elected; the president shall serve until the day of adjournment of the next succeeding annual meeting following the annual meeting at which he takes office, or until his successor shall have been duly elected and installed in office;

A treasurer.

Section 3. Secretary—The Board of Trustees shall appoint and prescribe the duties of a director who shall act as secretary of the Association, and the Board of Trustees may appoint also an assistant secretary of the Association. The director and other employees need not be members of the Association.

Section 4. Duties—The president of the Association shall act as chairman of the Board of Trustees.

The president-elect shall perform the duties of the office of president whenever the president is unable to do so.

Subject to the provisions of Section 6 of this Article, the treasurer shall have charge and custody of and be responsible for all funds and securities of the Association; receive and give receipts for monies due and payable to the Association from any source whatsoever, and deposit all such monies in the name of the Association in such depositories as may be selected by the Board of Trustees.

In addition, the officers of the Association shall perform the duties usually assigned to such officers.

Section 5. Reports—The president and the treasurer shall each submit an annual report in writing to the House of Delegates and these shall be filed with the House of Delegates. The treasurer's annual report shall be based on an audit by a certified public accountant in accordance with such regulations as may be established by the Board of Trustees.

Section 6. Signatures—All checks, drafts and other orders for the payment of money shall be signed by such officer or officers, agent or agents of the Association and in such manner as shall be determined by resolution of the Board of Trustees from time to time.

Section 7. Bonding—All officers and agents of the Association responsible for the receipt, custody, or disbursement of funds or securities shall give bond for the faithful discharge of their duties in such sums and with such sureties as the Board of Trustees shall determine.

Section 8. Vacancies—If the president is unable to perform the duties of his office, the president-elect shall succeed to the office of president and he shall continue to serve for the term for which he was regularly elected.

If both the president and the president-elect shall become unable to perform the duties of their offices, the Board of Trustees of the Association shall appoint from the membership of the Board of Trustees or from the membership of the House of Delegates a president pro tempore to serve for the remaining portion of the term, and at the next meeting of the House of Delegates a president and a president-elect shall be elected in accordance with the provisions of these Bylaws.

If any other office shall become vacant, it shall be filled by the Board of Trustees for the remainder of the term.

ARTICLE XIII—Councils and Blue Cross Commission of the American Hospital Association

Section 1. Purpose of the Councils—The Board of Trustees may create or discontinue councils as it may deem advisable. The councils concerned with major areas of Association activities and interests shall have powers and duties, not inconsistent with these Bylaws, as may be determined by the Board of Trustees. Each council shall endeavor to coöperate with other organizations interested in its particular phase of hospital activity.

(a) The Council on Administrative Practice shall consider such matters of a general administrative nature as hospital economics, purchasing, simplification and standardization of materials and equipment, personnel, admission and collection procedures, uniform accounting and statistics, laundry operation, and housekeeping practices.

(b) The Council on Association Services shall assist hospitals in further improving their public relations; stimulate better association relations and expand educational activities and membership promotional efforts; promote the values of all Association programs; examine Association programs from the standpoint of their value to the entire membership, and consider such other matters as may be assigned to it from time to time.

(c) The Council on Government Relations shall consider matters affecting the relations of hospitals to governments and shall endeavor to coöperate with all branches of government interested in any phase of hospital service.

(d) The Council on Hospital Planning and Plant Operation shall consider such matters as hospital construction, equipment, supplies, and plant operation, including matters relating to heat, light, power and maintenance.

(e) The Council on Prepayment Plans and Hospital Reimbursement shall consider matters affecting hospital prepayment and hospital reimbursement from all sources in the interest of promoting coöperation between all groups concerned and of facilitating the distribution of a high quality of hospital care to all the people.

(f) The Council on Professional Practice shall consider such matters relating to medical service as pathology, radiology, anesthesia, physical medicine, dentistry, nursing, dietetics, social service, laboratory, pharmacy, medical records, outpatient, public health, convalescent and chronic care, rehabilitation and professional education.

Section 2. Appointment—The Board of Trustees shall appoint to each council annually, on nomination of the president, three members to hold office for three years. The president shall designate the chairman and vice chairman of each council each year, but no member of the Board of Trustees shall serve as chairman of a council. The chairman of each council may appoint, subject to approval of the Committee on Coördination of Activities, such committees as may be deemed necessary to carry forward the work of the council.

Section 3. Establishment—The Board of Trustees may create new councils, and each such council shall have nine members, three members appointed for one year, three members for two years and three members for three years. Annually thereafter three members of the council shall be appointed for three-year terms.

Section 4. Reports—Each council, the Blue Cross Commission, the Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries, and each Personal membership department shall, on or before such date in each year as shall be fixed by the Board of Trustees, prepare and submit its written report covering its work for such year and its recommendations, if any. Each such annual report shall be distributed promptly by the director to the members of the Association. No report, recommendations, or other action of the councils or of any committee shall be considered as the action of the Association unless and until the same shall have been approved or authorized by the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees shall submit these reports to the House of Delegates.

Section 5. Coördination of Activities—The chairman of each council, of the Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries and of the Blue Cross Commission of the American Hospital Association, and the president and the president-elect of the Association shall constitute a Committee on Coördination of Activities, of which the president-elect shall be the chairman, for the purpose of coördinating the activities of the committees, councils and Blue Cross Commission of the Association and developing the scope and details of a program of activities for the Association, subject always to the approval of the Board of Trustees. The president shall serve as chairman of the Committee on Coördination of Activities if the president-elect is unable to serve.

Section 6. Blue Cross Commission of the American Hospital Association.

(a) Composition and Election—The Blue Cross Commission shall consist of three commissioners appointed by the president of the Association and one commissioner elected by each of the 12 districts of Institutional members Type IV, as such districts may be determined from time to time by vote of the members. Each appointive commissioner shall serve for a term of three years. In the year 1950 each odd numbered district shall elect a commissioner for a term of one year and each even numbered district shall elect a commissioner for a term of two years. When the term of each commissioner elected by a district shall thereafter expire, the Institutional members Type IV within said district shall elect a successor to serve for a term of two years. An appointive or elective commissioner shall be eligible to succeed himself.

(b) Powers—The Commission shall have the power to establish its own policies and to conduct activities of general interest, involving the use of monies deposited in a special Trust Fund pursuant to Article IV, Section 1, paragraph (e) of these Bylaws, which will extend the application of the principle of group payment for hospitalized illness, will improve the efficiency of nonprofit hospital service plans, and will promote the coöperation of all groups which may influence the scope, development and administration of hospital service plans.

All policies of the Commission shall be embodied in administrative regulations adopted by Institutional members Type IV and approved by the Board of Trustees.

All policies and activities of the Commission involving the use of monies deposited in a special Trust Fund pursuant to Article IV, Section 1, paragraph (e) of these Bylaws shall be guided by administrative regulations adopted by the Institutional members Type IV.

(c) Duties—The duties of the Blue Cross Commission of the Association shall be to elect officers annually, to select administrative personnel, and to receive, manage and disburse funds contributed by Institutional members Type IV and from other sources.

ARTICLE XIV—Committees

Section 1. Appointment—Committees other than the Committee on Nominations shall be appointed by the chairman of the appropriate council, with the exception of such special committees as the Board of Trustees may direct the president to appoint.

Section 2. Vacancies—The president shall have power to fill vacancies on any committee other than a committee appointed by the chairman of a council.

Section 3. Quorum—A majority of the members of any committee shall constitute a quorum.

Section 4. Procedure—Each committee may adopt rules for its government not inconsistent with these Bylaws, subject to approval by the Board of Trustees.

Section 5. Committee on Nominations—Immediately upon adoption of these Bylaws, there shall be constituted a Committee on Nominations composed of seven members, of which three shall be the past presidents who served as president two, three and four years previously. These three members shall serve as members of the Committee on Nominations until the end of the fourth year following their term of office as president of the Association. In addition, during the year following the adoption of these Bylaws, the president shall appoint four members of the committee, one to serve for one year, one for two years, one for three years, and one for four years. The president shall appoint annually thereafter, with the approval of the Board of Trustees, one member to serve for four years unless vacancies occur, in which case the president shall appoint members to serve for the unexpired terms. The ex officio member longest in retirement from the presidency shall be chairman of the Committee on Nominations. Any member of the committee may be removed by the unanimous vote of all members of the Board of Trustees who shall be present at any meeting, or by a majority vote of members present at any meeting of the House of Delegates, provided notice of said proposed aciton shall be given prior to the meeting.

Duties—The Committee on Nominations shall nominate to the House of Delegates at the annual meeting four persons to serve as Delegates at Large as provided under Article X, Section 3 (i), of these Bylaws and shall also nominate to the House of Delegates at the annual meeting the names of candidates for president-elect, treasurer and members of the Board of Trustees. Other nominations for any or all of these offices may be made from the floor of the House of Delegates.

The Committee on Nominations shall hold at least two open meetings, of which due notice shall be given to the membership, for the reception of nominations from the membership. The Committee on Nominations shall consider for eligibility all Personal members and representatives of Institutional members and contracting organizations but shall use due care in selecting those individuals who, by experience in the field and service in Association affairs, have earned consideration for high office in the Association.

Section 6. Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries—The Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries shall be appointed by the president with the approval of the Board of Trustees. It shall consist of 12 members who shall serve for three-year terms. Each year the president shall appoint to the committee four members for three-year terms, and he shall designate a member of the committee as chairman and one other member of the committee as vice chairman.

The committee shall develop programs designed to increase the value of hospital auxiliaries in all activities which will contribute significantly to better hospital service.

All policies and activities of the committee shall be embodied in administrative regulations recommended by the committee and approved by the Board of Trustees.

ARTICLE XV—Amendments

Section 1. Bylaws—Proposals for amendment to these Bylaws may be initiated by the Board of Trustees, by the House of Delegates, or by petition of any 20 members of the Association in good standing.

Every proposed amendment must be submitted in writing to the director and referred thereafter by the Board of Trustees to the appropriate council of the Association for study and recommendation.

Proposed amendments and recommendations must be filed with the director at least 90 days prior to the meeting at which such amendment is to be considered. The director shall cause notice of each proposed amendment, with recommendations thereon, to be given to all members of the Association by publication in the issue of the official journal of the Association or by other appropriate method of publication, not less than ten days nor more than 60 days prior to the meeting at which the amendment is to be considered.

After being reported to the House of Delegates in the manner prescribed above, an amendment may be adopted and it shall become effective upon receiving the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the voting members of the House of Delegates, provided that no less than two-thirds of the total members of the House of Delegates are present.

Section 2. Articles of Incorporation—The Board of Trustees may recommend from time to time amendments to the Articles of Incorporation and, in each such case, it shall direct that such proposed amendment be submitted to a vote of the Institutional members and contracting organizations. The proposed amendment shall be adopted upon receiving at least two thirds of the votes entitled to be cast by Institutional members and contracting organizations represented at such meeting.

ADVOCATING

new and better ways for hospitals to extend their services to the public and increase their efficiency and quality of services. The AHA has a far-reaching educational program of institutes, films, periodicals, manuals, conferences and meetings.

HEADING

a dynamic new program that is expanding with the needs of the membership. The AHA has an impressive record of service to hospitals—a strong program for the future aimed at meeting the needs of all hospitals. It has grown from 11 members in 1898 to include more than 6,600 institutional members—over 85% of all general hospital beds.

ASSISTING

hospitals with their special problems by maintaining the most complete hospital library in the world, staff specialists, a Washington Service Bureau representing hospitals to government and informing them of government action of interest to them, and instigating a broad education program to gain public understanding of hospitals. The AHA has many other services, all with one objective: To promote the public welfare through the development of better hospital care for all people.

AMERICAN HOSPITAL ASSOCIATION • 18 E. DIVISION ST. • CHICAGO 10, ILL.

Special Services

THE OBJECT of the American Hospital Association, as expressed in Article I of its bylaws, is ". . . to promote the public welfare through the development of better hospital care for all the people." The many services offered by the Association to its members are aimed at helping them attain this objective.

Although most of the Association's services and facilities are available only to institutional and personal members, a nonmember may subscribe to HOSPITALS and TRUSTEE, official Association journals, which are published monthly.

Some major services offered by the Association are described here.

LIBRARY

In the Library of the American Hospital Association, members have access to the world's largest collection of literature on hospitals, hospital administration, and related subjects. More than 12,500 volumes, clipped articles by the thousands, brochures, pamphlets, and journals are available for a month's loan without charge.

Library material is supplied in response to letters, telephone calls, telegrams, and personal visits. Often it is supplemented by a personal letter or with pertinent information provided by members of the headquarters staff. When necessary, inquiries are referred to related agencies.

Visitors to the library may inspect and study items in the library's special collection, which, because of their rarity and value, cannot be loaned.

Publications

The Index of Current Hospital Literature, now in its eleventh year, is a semi-annual index of articles appearing in more than 125 hospital and allied journals. Articles are listed by author and subject, and complete bibliographic information is given for every item. Subscriptions to the Index are priced at $3 annually; the Five-Year Cumulative Index for 1945 through 1949 is priced at $5, and the Five-Year Cumulative Index for 1950 through 1954 is priced at $6.

A handbook entitled "The Magic Key to Hospital Literature," describing the library's facilities and services, is distributed without charge upon request. Also available is a list of basic readings for hospital administrators, covering such topics as community health, nursing, hospital organization and management, prepayment plans, and hospital-physician-patient relationships.

Clippings and Vertical Files, Kits

Clippings and reprints from periodicals form a major part of the library's collection. This growing fund of information now fills nearly 100 vertical file drawers. Also available on loan from the library are kits containing sample copies of annual reports; programs for dedications, anniversaries, and special events; employee information booklets; fund-raising brochures; hospital bulletins; nursing school brochures; procedures and standards for hospital accreditation; patients' booklets; and admitting forms.

Safetygraphs

For safety programs and education in safe practices there are 12 spirally bound Safetygraphs, which can be borrowed from the library at no cost for a maximum of two weeks. Produced by the National Safety Council, the illustrated 18x24″ Safetygraphs come equipped with easel and instruction sheet.

Safetygraph titles in the library's collection are: "How to Lift," "Plant Housekeeping," "Ladder Safety," "Using Fire Extinguishers," "Accidents Don't Happen," "Preventing Fire," "Electrical Hazards," "Only a Scratch," "Wanted: Safe Workers," "Falls," "Static Sparks and Flammable Liquids," and "Two Methods of Artificial Respiration."

Films for use by hospitals in public relations or employee education may be rented or purchased from the Association library. Rental charges for most films are $4 for three days' use and $1 for each additional day. A minimum of two weeks' notice is required for booking.

The following section, "Film Library of the American Hospital Association," contains a complete listing of films either suggested by the Association or available from its film library.

Radio Transcriptions

"At Your Service" is a transcribed series of radio programs for use by local radio stations, each 15 minutes in length and dealing with a particular aspect of the hospital. Introducing Your Hospital, Planning Your Hospital, Surgery, Obstetrics, Pathology and Radiology, Nursing Services, Dietary Department, Pharmacy, Hospital Personnel, Hospital Costs, Hospital Auxiliaries, Voluntary Prepayment, Obsolescence, and Expansion are the subjects treated in the individual records.

The entire series may be rented from the library at a charge of $5. Purchase sets of new records are now out of stock; however, sets of used records, still in good condition, may be purchased for $10.

Pins and Insigne

Service pins for presentation to hospital employees, volunteer workers, and auxiliary members are available to member hospitals. Illustrations and descriptions of these pins, all of which carry the official insigne of the American Hospital Association, and official order blanks may be obtained by writing the Publications Department.

Cuts of the official American Hospital Association insigne may be purchased for use by active institutional members. Suitable for use on letterheads, envelopes, publications and other printed matter, the cuts are available in both halftone and line drawing type. Three sizes are offered: three-quarter inch, one and one-half inch, and two-inch diameters. Cuts for state associations affiliated with the American Hospital Association are available in both halftone and line drawing in three-quarter inch, one inch, and one and five-eighth inch sizes. For prices, write to the library of the American Hospital Association.

Awards and emblems for employees and volunteers

Employee service pins or lapel buttons to be awarded to employees for long or meritorious service

Type I—An individualized design, the name of the hospital appearing on a blue-enameled band circling the AHA seal. The shield of the seal is enameled in red, white, and blue, the remainder in fine relief. Number of years of service or jewel for special achievement appears in circle at bottom.

Type II—Similar to individualized Type I award, except that legend "Service to Humanity" replaces hospital name and wreath design decorates bottom half of pin.

Volunteer Service Pin—To be presented to volunteer workers in AHA member hospitals. Requirements: completion within calendar year of 100 hours volunteer work in well-organized volunteer department in hospital, eligibility certified by administrator. AHA seal (gold) in fine relief, encircled by blue-enameled band reading "Hospital Volunteer Service." Octagonal shape.

PERIODICALS

Four periodicals are published by the Association. Editorial offices for all are at 18 E. Division St., Chicago 10. The periodicals are: (1) HOSPITALS, Journal of the American Hospital Association; (2) TRUSTEE, Journal for Hospital Governing Boards; (3) Auxiliary Newsletter and (4) This Month at the American Hospital Association, a membership newsletter.

HOSPITALS is edited for administrators, department heads, and others concerned with the administration of hospitals, the techniques of hospital operation, and the planning and construction of hospitals. One subscription to HOSPITALS is included as part of all personal and institutional memberships. Employees, staff, board members, and others associated with member hospitals may subscribe at the rate of $2 a year; for others the rate is $3 a year; for foreign add $1.

The Administrators Guide Issue of HOSPITALS is published in August as Part II. It includes a complete statistical report on the nation's hospital world. These statistics on hospital use, care, finance, and many other aspects of hospital operation are presented in tabular, easy-to-use form. There is also a complete detailed listing of hospitals in the United States, its territories, and Canada. A third section is a guide to the Association and to other allied professional organizations and schools.

A final section—a handy reference for administrators and department heads—is the Management Guides section. It presents a diversity of technical information on hospital operating departments.

TRUSTEE is the Association's pocket-sized journal for members of hospital governing boards. One copy is provided governing board presidents of institutional member hospitals. Additional subscriptions may be entered at $2 a year by members, and nonmembers may subscribe for $3 per year.

This Month at the American Hospital Association is an informal newsletter sent each month without charge to all institutional and personal members. It informs members of current activities within the Association's councils and committees and contains a message from the director.

The Auxiliary Newsletter is published for hospital auxiliaries holding institutional membership in the Association. Serving as a means of communication between the members, it helps them plan and assists in the selection of programs, projects, and services that will best meet the needs of their hospitals. Presidents of member auxiliaries receive the Newsletter as a membership service, as do presidents and secretaries of state hospital associations. Individual members of affiliated auxiliaries may subscribe at $1.50 a year.

STAFF ASSISTANCE

Special problems may be directed to the Association's specialists in hospital operations and other members of its headquarters staff. This service comprises a great deal of correspondence with member hospitals, officers of state associations, and representatives of other organizations.

WASHINGTON SERVICE BUREAU

As the amount of federal legislation affecting hospitals grows, the role of the Association's Washington office becomes ever more important. Its function on behalf of the membership is two-fold: It represents hospitals to government and governmental agencies in interpreting their needs, and it informs hospitals of governmental regulations and legislation of interest to them.

State association officers are kept informed of developments of interest to them by means of the Legislative Report issued approximately twice monthly by the Bureau.

Bulletins and special letters are sent regularly to members by the Washington Service Bureau. Questions about federal legislation, its legal interpretation and that of governmental action, and similar matters may be directed to Kenneth W. Williamson, director, Washington Service Bureau, American Hospital Association, Mills Bldg., 17th St. and Pennsylvania Ave., Washington 6.

MANUALS

Manuals written by councils and committees of the Association are distributed without charge to institutional members. Personal members may purchase them, and institutional members may buy additional copies. The following section, Publications of the American Hospital Association, lists all manuals currently available. Those out of print may be borrowed from the library.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

"Telling Your Hospital's Story," a basic public relations program for member hospitals, is now available in a single bound volume. Originally distributed as a series of kits and bulletins, this material was designed to help hospitals strengthen their relationship with their community. It deals with use of specific channels, such as radio, press, films, and advertising. Outlined are public relations programs that relate to employees, patients, National Hospital Week, auxiliaries, civic groups, and special events.

The bound volume of "Telling Your Hospital's Story" is available to members on purchase ($5) or on loan.

INSTITUTES

Institutes have been offered to Association members and other representatives of member hospitals since 1944. Held at convenient locations throughout the country, they cover a wide range of subjects of interest to hospital personnel. A sampling: public relations, personnel relations, accounting, dietary department, operating room administration, housekeeping, supervisory training, physical therapy, hospital planning, problems of small hospitals, occupational therapy, and hospital law. Almost 3,000 persons attended the courses during 1954 to study these and other topics.

For a current schedule of institutes showing dates and locations, or for other information, write to the Director of Education at Association headquarters.

CONVENTIONS

The annual convention of the Association, held in strategically located cities, is attended by approximately 12,000 representatives of the hospital and health fields. Here administrators, department heads, trustees, hospital auxiliaries, and other representatives of hospitals are brought up-to-date on current trends in their sphere of operation and learn the solution to many of their administrative problems. The Hospital Auxiliaries conference is held concurrently with the Association convention. A part of the convention each year is the Hospital Merchandise Mart, at which approximately 400 exhibitors display their products and services.

SERVICES TO ASSOCIATIONS

A number of publications designed especially for the use of state hospital associations have been prepared by the Association.

Among these are Program Planning Aids, containing suggestions for convention programs; Organizing the State Hospital Association as a Full-time Endeavor; Organization of Local Hospital Groups; and Handbook for State Hospital Association Officers.

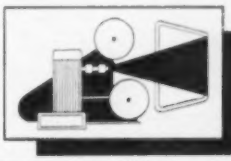
Special meetings and conferences for officers of state and regional associations are conducted annually. Officers of state associations are encouraged to call on the headquarters staff for help on any problem related to their organizations.



Films, Filmstrips and Slides

CAREERS IN THE HOSPITAL

Career: Medical Technologist—(16mm, color, sound, 23 min.). Produced by Churchill Wexler Productions, Los Angeles, for the National Committee for Careers in Medical Technology, 1954. Loan: Committee on Medical Motion Pictures, American Medical Association, 535 N. Dearborn St., Chicago 10, $2 service charge. Purchase: National Committee for Careers in Medical Technology, 1785 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington 6, $135.

The opportunities and satisfactions found in a medical technologists's career are dramatically yet truthfully presented in this film, which tells the story of Joan, a student in medical technology. The film begins as she is faced with the responsibility of blood grouping for a critically ill patient and through a series of flashbacks shows the training that has prepared her for this important assignment.

Excellent for high school students, guidance counselors, teachers, parents, physicians, and medical students.

Deed to Happiness—(16 mm, black and white, sound, 15 min.). Produced by The Cincinnati Sanitarium. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: E. Elliott Otte, The Cincinnati Sanitarium, College Hill, Cincinnati, $97.50.

A nurse recruitment film produced by amateur actors with professional assistance and direction. Describes the experience of a student nurse, starting from the time she decides to go into training. Considerable emphasis is placed on the educational aspects of the training period.

Suitable for showing to junior high school and high school students.

Girls in White—(16mm, black and white, sound, 25 min.). Produced by RKO-Pathe, 1270 Avenue of the Americas, New York 20, N.Y. 1949. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Three-year lease: American Hospital Association, $65.

This picture portrays the life of the student nurse and opportunities open to the graduate nurse.

Excellent for showing to junior high school and high school students, also to women's auxiliaries. Every administrator could get this into school audio-visual libraries with long-time recruitment effect.

Keepers of the Lamp—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by: The Committee on Careers in Nursing and the Theater Arts Institute. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: Motion Picture Associates, 86 George Street, Mt. Ephraim, N. J., $45.

This newest addition to the nurse recruitment program tells the experience of four student nurses and shows what opportunities of employment are offered them upon completion of their training. Both the work and recreation are portrayed, and junior or senior high school girls could easily identify themselves with the four students. Should have great appeal and arouse interest and enthusiasm for nursing as a career. Cleared for television.

Life in Her Hands—(16mm, black and white, sound, 60 min.). Produced by Crown Film Productions. Rental: British Information Services, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City, $6. Purchase: British Information Services, $135.

This is the story of a young woman who, when her husband is killed in a motor accident, decides to become a nurse in a subconscious effort to escape from personal grief but discovers nursing is her vocation, offering a hopeful future. This film departs from the traditional documentary approach and offers a fictional story acted by professionals. It is authentic and moving but has a weak ending. Much too long for most audiences and of possible value for recruitment only in Great Britain or Canada.

My Cap Is My Crown—(16mm, color sound, 27 min.). Produced in 1953 by the Mount Sinai Hospital Women's Auxiliary, Cleveland. Rental: American Hospital Association. $4 for three days. Purchase: Mount Sinai Hospital Women's Auxiliary, $150.

This film relates a young high school girl's hospitalization experience and its impact on her future. While a patient, she observes the student nurses and their activities both in and out of the hospital. This film was financed by proceeds from the Mount Sinai Hospital Auxiliary's gift shop and features some of their activities.

The sincerity of the presentation, the excellent photography, and the fine script make this an outstanding nurse recruitment film. It depicts an unusually good nursing school program with university affiliation; with a few introductory remarks it could be adapted for use in any nursing school situation.

Nurse Please—(16mm, black and white or color, sound, 25 min.). Produced by Trident Films for National Association for Practical Nurse Education, 1954. Rental: black and white, $3; color, $4.50. Purchase: black and white $40; color $140. Orders for purchase or rental to Trident Films, Inc., 510 Madison Ave., New York 21, or NAPNE, 654 Madison Ave., New York 21.

This documentary tells the story of Jean Markel, a young widow whose introduction to practical nursing comes about through her son's disability. Her story is told by a director of nurses who interested and encouraged Jean in her practical nurse training. Introductory remarks by Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, public Health Service. Cleared for television.

The two-fold purpose of this film is recruitment and interpretation of the practical nurse's role; it is not a training film. Very effective and with great dramatic appeal, it is recommended for civil groups, schools, youth associations, hospital or medical auxiliaries, and women's organizations.

Nursing — (16mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Rental: Carl F. Mahnke Productions, 215 E. Third St., Des Moines 9, Iowa. $2 for one day. Purchase: Carl F. Mahnke Productions, $50, less 10% educational discount. One of "Your Life Work" series. Teacher-student manual available for use with film.

Shows nurses at work in many different types of nursing jobs. Nurses are shown at work in operating rooms, as school nurses, in various visiting nursing and government nursing bureaus, and in hospital executive positions.

The narration explains the advantages of nursing and goes into detailed analysis of the qualifications and requirements necessary to be successful in the field of nursing.

For use in nurse recruitment. To be shown to junior high school and high school girls, also to women's groups.

This Way to Nursing—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Emerson Yorke Studio, 333 W. 52nd St., New York City 19. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: Emerson Yorke Studio. $100, less 25% discount to schools of nursing, educational institutions, hospitals, and organizations concerned with health and medical welfare.

Narrated by Milton Cross and has a special music score by Solita Palmer. A factual presentation showing, in part, the theoretical and practical instruction, as well as many other interesting activities, of a student nurse in an accredited school of nursing. Scripted and produced under the supervision of experts in the nursing, health, and medical fields, it is officially endorsed and approved by the U. S. Public Health Service, the American Hospital Association's Student Nurse Recruitment Committee, National Committee on Careers in Nursing, and the American College of Surgeons.

When You Choose Nursing—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced in 1954 under the direction of the Committee on Careers of the National League for Nursing. Rental: ANA-NLN Film Service, $4 for three days. Purchase: Committee on Careers, 2 Park Ave., New York City, $35.

Work and play opportunities for nurses in the field of pediatrics, teaching, industry, and public health are graphically illustrated in this student nurse recruitment film. Mary Hitchcock Memorial Hospital, Hanover, N. H., coöperated in its production. Since it covers many nursing opportunities in addition to those in hospitals, it should be very effective in encouraging high school girls to consider nursing as a career. Cleared for television.

COMMUNITY RELATIONS

Ambulance Doctor—(16mm, black and white, sound, 18 min.). Produced by RKO Radio Pictures in 1951. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Three-year lease: American Hospital Association, $65.

This documentary film protrays the experience of a doctor as he rides the ambulance through the city's busy streets in answer to emergency calls of all kinds. Good for personnel, as well as community groups, since it explains the vital role of hospitals in the community. Not as good as "House of Mercy", however, for the small hospital. "Ambulance Doctor" was filmed at the Roosevelt Hospital in New York City.

Another Light — (16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by the U. S. Public Health Service in 1952. Loan: State Departments of Health. Purchase: International Film Bureau, Suite 1500, 6 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, $65.

This is the story of a small city's ambition to have a community hospital, of their efforts to obtain the necessary funds, and of their ultimate success. The role of the Public Health Service and of the federal government through the Hill-Burton Act is depicted, but emphasis is on local interest and effort. Through three peoples' experience, the modern hospital is contrasted with its earlier counterpart where people came only to die.

Excellent for arousing community interest and support. Cleared for television.

At Our House—(16mm, black and white, sound, 9 min.). Sponsored by the Vermont State Department of Health and produced by Communication Materials Center, Columbia University Press, New York City 27. Rental: Communications Materials Center, $2.50 per day. Purchase: Communications Materials Center, $30.

This film depicts a family's experience with a multiphasic screening project. The various tests are given to the young couple, their son, and their aging father to discover unsuspected disease or disability. Results of the tests are confidential, and where there is need for diagnosis and treatment, a family physician is consulted. Photography and narration are good.

Hospitals will find this film helpful in selling either their governing boards or their communities on the value of multiphasic screening.

Behind the Scene in a Modern Hospital—(16mm, color, silent, 35 min.). Produced by Peralta Hospital, Oakland, Calif., 1938. Loan: Peralta Hospital.

Story of a woman who comes to the hospital for a caesarean section; shows all the departments in hospital, especially the laboratories and x-ray.

Could be used for orientation of lay employees to show all hospital contacts. Not so well adapted for community groups, however, because of the filming of the actual surgery.

The Big Light—(16mm or 35 mm, black and white, sound, 18½ min.). Produced by Blue Cross Plans of New Hampshire-Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut, 1954. Rental and Purchase: Modern Talking Picture Service, Inc., 45 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20. Contact local Blue Cross Plan to arrange booking.

This film shows how a local hospital responds to an emergency and the important part it plays in community life. Teamwork between the community, the hospital, and Blue Cross is stressed. The film gives a good picture of activities in all hospital departments, with particular emphasis on surgery. Photography is excellent, with many close-ups. Cleared for television.

Suitable for showing to hospital personnel for orientation and to church, civic, school, and industrial groups to tell the hospital and the Blue Cross stories.

City of the Sick—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by the Ohio Division of Mental Health of the Department of Public Welfare. National distribution (outside of Ohio) handled by National Mental Health Foundation. Loan copies from American Psychiatric Association, 1624 Eye St., N. W., Washington 6, if borrower prepays postage plus special handling. Rental: Association Films, Inc., 35 W. 45th St., New York City, at $4 a day, $10 a week. Purchase: Special Services Section, National Mental Health Foundation, 1790 Broadway, New York City 19, $35.

An educational film, not a training film in the formal sense, it is intended to help people understand mental illness in their own terms—to make them feel and believe in treatment and recovery. The film is not directed at the specialists who know the nature of the job to be done and the frustrations and obstacles that prevent its being done well. It is intended for presentation to that vast audience whose mental hospital acquaintance should go beyond hearsay and exposé to include some knowledge of the goals that can be achieved.

The E-J Medical Plan—(16mm, color, sound, 27 min.). Produced for Endicott Johnson Corporation, Johnson City, N. Y., 1953.

This film was produced to explain to Endicott Johnson employees the health protection they receive through their company's medical plan and to give them a tour of the Wilson Memorial Hospital and Clinics, which coöperates with the company plan. It was intended to replace the personal but time-consuming tours conducted formerly.

Hospital costs are explained by tying in departmental activities with sections of the itemized hospital bill, e.g., room and board. The effect is both forceful and persuasive.

Designed for a specific purpose, this film has only local application, but it offers all hospitals many ideas for presenting their individual stories to their publics through the medium of a film.

House of Mercy—(16mm, black and white, sound, 17 min.). Produced by RKO-Pathe, 1270 Avenue of the Americas, New York 20, 1950. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Three-year lease: American Hospital Association, $65.

Sets forth the valuable community role of the hospital, and is an extremely fine presentation of hospital life. This is one of the series of "This Is America."

Excellent for employee training, public education, fund raising, auxiliary meetings. A public relations tool with which all administrators should be familiar.

The Inside Story of Blue Cross—For information on availability, contact the Blue Cross Plan for Hospital Care, 425 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago.

This set of colored charts, diagrams, and illustrations for presentation by Vue-Graph equipment traces the history and development of Blue Cross-Blue Shield health protection. It is an excellent graphic portrayal, but the pictures, though fine, are not enough. The success of presentation depends on the commentator, who should be thoroughly familiar with all aspects of Blue Cross. These slides could be used by all Plans in public relations and enrollment activities.

Modern Surgery (The Case of Mrs. Conrad)—(16mm, black and white, sound, 15 min.). Produced by the March of Time, 1948. Loan from the Committee on Medical Motion Pictures, American Medical Association, 535 N. Dearborn St., Chicago 10 ($2 service charge).

This film tells the story of a surgical operation from the time the family doctor suggests hospitalization until the patient fully recovers and is discharged to her home. Among aspects presented are hospital plan benefits, preoperative rest, medical records, laboratory tests, electrocardiograms, and roentgen examinations. The work of the anesthetist is especially well described.

For presentation to lay audiences to acquaint them with the services and facilities of a modern hospital.

Operation Herbert—(16mm, black and white, sound, 27 min.). Produced in 1953 by Marshall Hester Productions under supervision of American Medical Association, Bureau of Health Education. Available without charge from Modern Talking Picture Service, Inc., 45 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City 20.

A lesson in medical and hospital economics, as taught by Herbert, a young man who has an appendectomy in a modern hospital. Although his Aunt Agatha feels sure that her operation in 1937 was less expensive than Herbert's, he shows her that today's costs for medical care are really less. Convalescent ambulation, shortened patient stay, health service prepayment plans, and hospital personnel policies are all discussed. Humorous and entertaining, yet effective in telling the story of medical costs, this film could be used for lay or hospital audiences. Cleared for television.

Operation Hospital—(16mm, black and white, sound, 28 min.). Produced by Ward Hick Advertising Company under the direction of the New Mexico Blue Cross Plan, 1954. Rental or Purchase; New Mexico Blue Cross Plan, 207 Dartmouth Drive, N.E., Albuquerque.

Produced in coöperation with the Albuquerque Hospital Council for National Hospital Week, this film introduces the audience to local hospital facilities in Albuquerque. It shows the various departments—obstetrics, surgery, emergency, nursing school, auxiliary, etc.—in the city's hospitals. Comments by administrators of these hospitals are included, all of them stressing the importance of Blue Cross protection. Introductory and concluding remarks are made by the Blue Cross public relations director, who appears to be seeing the film in his own office.

Although the appeal of this film is limited geographically, it could serve other Plans, local hospital councils, and state associations as an example for local hospital and Blue Cross relations and for a National Hospital Week project.

Why Wait for a Million—(16mm, color, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, Inc., 1952. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days.

The story of Thayer Hospital in Waterville, Me., is told effectively in this film. Detailed hospital operation is not illustrated; a major emphasis is on the work of Dr. Fredrick Hill. The film can be shown to community groups to inspire them to similar action in obtaining modern hospital facilities. The title is self explanatory — don't become discouraged in hopes of a hospital by thinking a million dollars is necessary. The desire for a hospital and the willingness to work to attain it will produce results, as Thayer Hospital can testify. Cleared for television.

You're the Doctor—(16mm or 35mm, black and white, sound, 18 min.). Produced through a grant by Will, Folsom and Smith, 1946. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: American Hospital Association, $40—16mm, $75—35mm.

Stresses the important role played by the hospital in community life, emphasizes the various professional services available to patients in the hospital.

For use in fund-raising campaigns and also to help interpret the hospital to the community. Could be shown to any community group, such as service clubs, church organizations, school, and also the women's auxiliary. Cleared for television.

DEFENSE

Medical Service in Atomic Attack (Part III of the Effects of Atomic Weapons)—(16mm, color, sound, 25 min.). Produced by U. S. Army. Loan from nearest Army Headquarters film library.

With all governmental agencies advocating civilian defense against the atom bomb, this film is among the best of the several films now available. It emphasizes the need for organization and trained civil defense workers and shows the vital role blood donations, treatment centers, and hospitals will play should an attack come.

For showing to all hospital personnel and as public relations promotion to lay citizen groups.

Pattern for Survival—(16mm, black and white, or color, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Cornell Films, 1950. Rental: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago, $7.50 per day in black and white, $15 per day in color. Purchase: Association Films: color version, $200; black and white, $100.

This film, which features William L. Laurence, scientific writer for the New York Times, gives factual information on atomic radiation and suggestions about personal preparation and protection against atomic attack. Neither shocking nor sensational.

For showing to community or to hospital employees in connection with hospital's disaster planning.

Survival Under Atomic Attack—(16mm, black and white, sound, 9 min.). Produced by Castle Division of United World Films, 1445 Park Ave., New York 29, 1951. No rental prints available. Sale prints from United World Films, $17.50.

This is an official U. S. Government civil defense film, approved and endorsed by the Federal Civil Defense Administration and based on a government pamphlet. It explains the effects of atomic radiation and makes suggestions for personal safety but does not urge or even suggest desirability of participation in community civilian defense activities.

Other films in this defense series are "Civil Defense for Industry," "Fire Fighting for Householders," "What You Should Know About Biological Warfare," and shortly to be released, "The Cities Must Fight," "Emergency Action to Save Lives," "Civil Defense for Schools," "What You Should Know About Poison Gases," and "Preparing Your Home Against Atomic Attack."

Target: U.S.A.—(16mm, black and white, or color, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Cornell Films, 1951. Rental: Marsak Films, 220 W. 42nd St., New York City 18, $15 per day in color, $10 a day in black and white. Purchase: Marsak Films, color version, $200; black and white, $100.

Based on studies by the National Security Resources Board, Department of Defense, and the Research Institute of America, this dramatic documentary informs personnel and management how best to safeguard the lives, property, and equipment of their organization. Differing from other atomic bomb films, "Target: U.S.A." deals exclusively with atomic disaster protection in offices, plants, institutions, and hospitals.

Producers will allow a "trailer" at end, crediting the hospital with making the film available in the interests of health and safety.

DIETARY DEPARTMENT

The Danger Point—(16mm, color, sound, 12 min.). Produced by the Public Health Committee of the Paper Cup and Container Institute, 1790 Broadway, New York City 19. Free loan: Association Films, Inc., 35 W. 45th St., New York City 19. Borrower pays transportation charges. Purchase: Association Films, Inc., 35 W. 45th St., New York City 19, $90.

Discusses the spread of respiratory diseases and their prevention by proper food handling sanitation. Transmission by improperly sanitized glasses is demonstrated. Use of paper cups emphasized.

A special sequence dramatizes the way infected eating utensils may serve as the channel of infection by which respiratory diseases are spread in public eating and drinking places.

For showing to health officers, food handlers, dietitians, educators, club groups, and schools.

Dietetics—The Career with a Choice—(2"x2" slides, requiring 35mm projector, Kodachrome, 23 slides). Produced by the American Dietetic Association for loan to members only. Non-members may make loan arrangements through a member. Only charges are those for shipping. Address request to American Dietetic Association, 620 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 11.

These slides illustrate the many opportunities open to dietitians, but emphasize hospital careers. Although their chief purpose is for recruitment and they would be used at community meetings rather than hospital meetings, they could be used within the hospital in developing departmental relationships and acquainting other personnel with the dietitian's duties and responsibilities.

Dishwashing Dividends—(16mm, color, sound, 28 min.). Produced in coöperation with Cornell University by Economics Laboratory, 1951. Free loan from Economics Laboratory, Inc., Guardian Bldg., St. Paul, Minn. Purchase: Economics Laboratory, Inc., $98.50.

Proper maintenance of dishwashing machinery and equipment is the subject of this how-to-do-it film. The efficient and sanitary operation of washing dishes, glassware, and silver is reviewed; among new features are pre-flush garbage grinding, streamlined dishroom layout, electronic dispenser control.

"Dishwashing Dividends" is especially good in training kitchen aides, but it can also be used generally for showing advantages and economies obtained through maintenance.

Feeding the Patient—(16mm, black and white, sound, 15 min.). Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, $31.72.

Explains the factors that affect appetite and digestion; preparation of the environment and the patient for the meal; proper balance of food and arrangement of the tray; individualized feeding care; and the factors to be considered in after-care of the patient. Shows feeding of both recumbent and up-patient.

For inservice training of dietetic aides to make them cognizant of importance of meals to patients.

Hospital Food Service Personnel Training—(16mm, black and white, sound Parts 1-3, approx. 15 min. each, Part 4, (in color) approx. 40 min.). Produced by U.S. Army, 1949 and 1950. Free loan from nearest Army Headquarters film library. Rental: American Hospital Association, $10 for three days for complete set of four films; individual titles not available singly. Purchase: United World Films, 1445 Park Ave., New York City: Part 1, $22.83; Part 2, $17.57; Part 3, $15.86; Part 4, $68.11.

This series consists of four parts: introduction, the individual, equipment, and serving food. All of the four are excellent training films for food handlers. With interesting narration and good photography, ideas of sanitation, personal cleanliness, safety habits, etc., are presented. Recommended for inclusion in orientation and training program of every kitchen employee.

Malnutrition in the Hospital Patient—(16mm, color, sound, 30 min.). Produced by E. R. Squibb & Sons, 745 Fifth Avenue, New York City 22, 1949. Loan: E. R. Squibb & Sons.

In this film, malnutrition in the sick and means of preventing it are discussed in detail by three doctors, who recommend a new post-operative nutritional regimen high in proteins and vitamins. Suitable for showing to medical staff, food service personnel, or nurses.

Modern Commercial Dishwashing—(35 mm slide, black and white, sound—with record, 10 min.). Produced by Jam Handy Organization. On loan from Wyandotte Chemicals Corp., 1113 Statler Bldg., Boston. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days.

Good dishwashing technique. Sanitary methods of dishwashing by both machine and hand operation. Good for training kitchen aides.

Modular Equipment Modernizes the Kitchen—(Set of 15 slides, 3¼x4", prepared by E. R. Kingbury, planning director of L. S. Ayres and Company, Indianapolis). Free loan from American Hospital Association.

These slides illustrate the use of items of a uniform size so that a specified size of tray, rack or pan readily fits related refrigerators, shelves, ovens, or trucks in an orderly manner.

When It's Your Turn at the Meat Counter—(35mm slide strip, color, silent, 25 min.). Produced by Livestock Branch of U. S. Department of Agriculture, 1952. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: Photo Lab., Inc., 3825 Georgia Ave., N.W., Washington 11, $4.

This filmstrip was developed to assist in teaching the market selection of meats. It is presented in a nontechnical form and is designed especially for use with consumer-buyer groups. A U. S. Department of Agriculture catalog, No. C-16, accompanies the filmstrip for use as lecture notes.

Useful in training courses for dietary personnel.

FACILITIES AND SERVICES

Blood Transfusion—(16mm, black and white, sound, 17 min.). Produced by British Information Service, 1947. Rental: International Film Bureau, Inc., 6 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 2, $2.50 daily. Purchase: International Film Bureau, $55.

This film depicts the development of processes in storage of both blood and plasma; it describes the various characteristics of blood, serum, plasma, and dried plasma and shows what contributions various countries have made in blood research. The need for blood donors in peacetime, as well as during war, and the development of blood banks are emphasized. Good continuity and wide and timely appeal.

Although this film naturally stresses British blood banks, it could be used anywhere for public education or blood procurement programs.

The Bone Bank—(16mm, color, sound, 28 min.). Produced by Sturgis-Grant Productions, Inc., 314 E. 46th St., New York 17. Rental: 314 E. 46th Street, New York 17, $10. Purchase: 314 E. 46th Street, New York 17, $150.

Produced in 1950 under the supervision of Philip D. Wilson, M.D., surgeon-in-chief of the Hospital for Special Surgery in New York City, this film describes the organization and administration of a bone bank. The color is excellent and increases the value of the film immeasurably. It is recommended for medical staff meetings or for presentation to the governing boards of institutions considering the establishment of such a facility.

Central Supply Service—(35mm filmstrip, black and white, silent, 42 frames). Produced by: Department of Hospital Administration, University of Toronto. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for 3 days. Purchase: University of Toronto, Department of Hospital Administration, School of Hygiene, Toronto 5, Canada, $3.50.

This filmstrip gives an over-all view of central supply organization and flow of work. It is good for informing hospital staff to this department's purpose and facilities and for orienting new employees of the department. A few frames have no caption; since no record is available with this strip, commentary by a speaker is needed.

Operation Blood Bank—(16mm, color, sound, 15 min.). Produced in 1951. Borrow from nearest Cutter branch office, Purchase: Cutter Laboratories, 4th & Parker, Berkeley, Calif., $105, including reel, can, and shipping case.

The techniques of establishing and operating a blood bank are illustrated in this film.

It can be used for orientation of blood bank personnel or in presenting to the administration a picture of blood bank operation. The film is probably too technical for the general public and not technical enough for use in training. Cleared for television.

Protecting Your Profits—(16mm, color, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Jam Handy Organization. Free loan: Sales Promotion Dept., American Laundry Machinery Co., Cincinnati 12. This 20-minute color film may be shown to hospital laundry managers, hospital officials, and administrators without charge on request.

Perhaps a large percentage of those responsible for power laundry operation appreciate the advantages of modern laundering machinery but are unaware of the manifold details in caring for the machinery and equipment. How to use it properly in everyday operations is revealed visually and orally in this movie.

Good film, stressing large equipment, proper maintenance and inspection—tie-in between laundry department and engineering department. Primarily designed for commercial laundries, but does mention hospitals and could be shown to hospital laundry managers and hospital engineers.

Routine Admission Chest X-ray in General Hospitals—(16 mm, black and white, sound, 21 min.) Produced by U. S. Public Health Service, 1946. On loan from local or state health departments. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: Associated Screen News, Ltd., Benograph Division, 1330 Sherbrooke St., W., Montreal, Quebec, $33.

How photofluorographic equipment can be installed in the admissions offices of general hospitals so that all incoming patients can be given chest x-rays as part of regular admission procedure. Operation of the equipment, method of keeping patient's records, and how the system results in finding a significant percentage of otherwise undetected cases of tuberculosis. Promotes routine chest x-rays in hospitals.

RX—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Louis de Rochemont for E. R. Squibb & Sons. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. E. R. Squibb & Sons, 745 Fifth Ave., New York 22.

This documentary picture, designed for lay audiences of all age levels, describes briefly how drugs are made and points to greater medical achievements in the future through research.

It could be shown to department heads to improve department relations and to student and graduate nurses.

Techniques of Group Chest X-ray Services—(16mm, black and white, sound, 19 min.). Produced by U. S. Public Health Service, 1946. Loan: Audio-Visual Aid Division, Illinois Department of Public Health, Springfield. Purchase: Associated Screen News, Ltd., Benograph Division, 1330 Sherbrooke St., W., Montreal, Quebec, $30.

Covers procedures to be followed in the administration and operation of miniature film mass radiography programs and shows recent developments.

Of value to technical and professional personnel. Good for public education.

There Is No Substitute—(16mm, black and white, sound, 21 min.). Produced by Moss Film Productions for Cutter Laboratories and American Red Cross. Loan or purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York 29.

This film shows the entire procedure of blood donations, including storage and manufacture of plasma. Emphasis is on the great need for more blood from donors, and its purpose is educational—to remove the fears of the general public concerning donating blood. Ending is dramatic; should be effective in recruiting donors.

There is some mention of hospital blood banks, but the Red Cross program receives emphasis.

You Can Be Safe from X-Rays—16mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Prepared by the Division of Chronic Disease and Tuberculosis, Public Health Service, 1952. Loan: Medical directors of Public Health Service, Federal Security Agency regional offices, or Communicable Disease Center, Public Health Service, P.O. Box 185, Chamblee, Ga. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, $14.09.

This training aid for x-ray technicians and other personnel stresses the hazards of secondary radiation in x-ray installations and outlines protective measures against overexposure to radiation. In cartoon style, it depicts an x-ray technician who takes excellent care of his equipment but does not use the same care in protecting himself.

For training personnel concerned with operating x-ray equipment.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARIES

June Fete—(16mm, color, silent, 15 min.). Produced by Motion Picture Associates, Ardmore, Pa. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days.

This film describes the annual festival of the Abington Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, Abington, Pa. This particular fete is a well-established and financially successful event; it includes such activities as a horse show and a dog show, as well as the more usual outdoor projects. It will offer other auxiliaries suggestions and encourage them in their fund-raising efforts.

The Story of Dorothy Sprague—(16mm, color, sound, 29 min.). Produced in 1953 by Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, Inc. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days.

This film explores the important theme of a woman in her middle years and her teenage daughter who become interested in volunteer work in a hospital. While the story is centered on the work of women's auxiliaries in hospitals, its development and treatment emphasize the importance of similar volunteer projects and the personal satisfaction volunteers enjoy. The importance of service is the main thesis.

The women's Board of Abington Memorial Hospital, Abington, Pa., coöperated in the production of this film, whose message is to show what an auxiliary can do, not only for the hospital but for the individual as well. Cleared for television.

Films listed under "Community Relations" are also suitable for Auxiliary meetings.

MATERNAL, INFANT, AND CHILD CARE

Benjy—(16mm, black and white, sound, 25 min.). Produced by the Los Angeles Orthopaedic Foundation, 2424 S. Flower St., Los Angeles 7. Rental: Los Angeles Orthopaedic Foundation, $5.

By breaking his arm, Benjy, a small boy from a poor family, attracts the attention of orthopaedic surgeons, who discover a much more serious condition, a back deformity. Overcoming family objections, the hospital staff attempts to correct the deformity. What is done and how it is done make this a gripping story, well deserving the Academy Award it received.

The narrative is fast moving and the acting unusually fine. Although the film was produced as promotion for an individual hospital, it presents a hospital's activities and staff so clearly and so sympathetically it could be used by any hospital, especially one for children.

Concept of Maternal and Neonatal Care (Rooming-In)—(16mm, black and white, sound, 26 min.). Produced by George Washington University School of Medicine, Washington, D.C., and Medical Film Institute of the Association of American Medical Colleges, 1951. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: Medical Audio-Visual Institute, 185 N. Wabash Ave., Chicago, $50.

Designed for showing to professional audiences, doctors, nurses, and hospital administrators, this film shows the approach and care of the pregnant mother and newborn infant. In the hospital of the film, emphasis is placed upon a balance of scientific facilities, educational experiences, and home-like accommodations of rooming-in. The discussion of rearrangement of conventionally designed hospitals is of interest to both administrators and architects. A fact sheet, an outline, and a bibliography are also available for use in showing this film.

Excellent for training nurses and nursing aides in philosophy of maternity care.

First as a Child—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Virginia State Health Department in coöperation with the Children's Bureau, Federal Security Agency. Free loan from every state and territorial health department; various university extension libraries; Film Program Services, 1173 Avenue of the Americas, New York City 19, for nominal service charge. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: Film Program Services, 1173 Avenue of the Americas, New York City 19, $30.

Every state has a public agency for the care of children who are crippled. Here parents can bring their children to have their handicaps diagnosed and to get help and guidance in their treatment or correction. With sympathetic understanding and knowing skill, doctors, nurses, medical social workers, physical therapists, and other workers treat their small patients—first as children, second as handicapped children, and finally as children with a specific crippling condition. "First as a Child" affords a quick glance at some of the children who get help at one of Virginia's clinics and then tells you the story of "Alexander." Core idea is treating the whole child, not just for his disability. Shows importance of team work of social service worker, public health nurse, doctor. Directed to parents, women's groups, lay citizen organizations.

Making Baby's Formula—(35mm slide film, black and white, sound, 12 min.). (Illustrated booklet and printed commentary available). Produced by Evaporated Milk Association, 307 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Free loan prints available from Evaporated Milk Association.

This instructive film shows the three principal steps in formula preparation: What equipment is necessary, how to make the formula, how to feed the baby.

The film was produced in 1949 and revised in 1951. The techniques are good, and it is recommended for nurses, dietitians, and in prenatal clinics.

Starting Line—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Virginia State Health Department in coöperation with the Children's Bureau, Federal Security Agency, 1947. Free loan from every state and territorial health department; various university extension libraries; Film Program Services, 1173 Avenue of the Americas, New York City 19, for nominal service charge. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: Film Program Services, 1173 Avenue of the Americas, New York City 19, $30.

One in every 20 babies born in the United States is born prematurely. About one-half of all the babies who die during the first month of life are premature babies. Many could be saved if given the specialized care they need. With such care we could add each year many thousands of young lives to the national family. "Starting Line" shows how one state health department—Virginia—is providing this specialized care for some of its premature babies from birth until they can be cared for by their mothers. Eventually Illinois hopes to have a network of "premature" centers throughout the state for the benefit of all babies needing these specialized services.

Factual; very instructive. Directed to parents, women's group, lay citizen organizations.

Temples of Mercy—(16mm, color, sound, 30 min.). Produced by Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children, Chicago 35, and obtainable from hospital on free loan.

This film was made with the primary objective of telling the hospital's story to the multiple Shrine organizations of the Chicago area in order to win more enthusiastic and lucrative support from them. It tells the story of a boy's admittance, treatment, and ultimate recovery in the Chicago Shriners Hospital. The color, acting, and narration are excellent.

Although this film's use is limited because of the Shrine appeal, it could be very helpful as a sample fund-raising film for institutions planning to produce a motion picture of their own activities.

We See Them Through—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Virginia State Department of Health in coöperation with the Children's Bureau, Federal Security Agency. Free loan from every state and territorial health department; various university extension libraries; Film Program Services, 1173 Avenue of the Americas, New York City 19, for nominal service charge. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: Film Program Services, 1173 Avenue of the Americas, New York City 19, $30.

Rheumatic fever kills more school-age children in the United States than any other disease. For each child who dies of it, many more suffer long, drawn-out attacks, lasting several months. Little is known of the cause and prevention of rheumatic fever, but its treatment is helped greatly by a coördinated program that brings together the best medical, nursing, medical-social, and related skills. "We See Them Through" shows how the health department of the State of Rhode Island carries out its program for treatment of children with rheumatic fever, not only through the acute stage but also through the long convalescence from this serious disease.

Directed to parents, women's groups, lay citizen organizations.

MEETINGS

Discussion Technique—(16mm, black and white, sound, 28 min.). Produced by U. S. Department of Army, 1950. Loan: From nearest Army Headquarters film library. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, $34.43.

Various methods of conducting discussions are explained and illustrated, including the forum, symposium, debate, panel, conference, committee, and informal group. "Snafu's" wrong methods of handling groups point up by contrast the correct and effective discussion methods and techniques recommended by the army. Photography is excellent; although the film was made for information officers of the army, it is highly recommended for any civilian group that holds meetings.

How Not to Conduct a Meeting—(16 mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Free loan to borrowers who pay transportation costs to and from General Motors Corporation, Department of Public Relations—Film Section, General Motors Bldg., Detroit 2. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: General Motors Corp., $15 (film agreement required).

Lemuel Q. Stoopnagel, the word-twisting and thought-twisting comedian of stage, screen, and radio, burlesques the common errors and omissions so frequently encountered in poorly-planned meetings.

This picture is not intended to show parliamentary procedure or to depict all the rules for conducting a meeting. Rather it is a comedy treatment of certain types of informal luncheon gatherings and shows the way not to conduct a meeting.

Typical faults included are: Poor acoustics, poor ventilation, interruptions, and inadequate planning.

The film is intended as a satire on the manner in which some poorly planned meetings are conducted.

NURSING AND NURSING PROCEDURES

Aseptic Technique: Terminal Sterilization Following Septic Cases—(16mm, color, sound, 15 min.). Produced by Carl W. Walter, M.D., Boston, 1947. Available on loan from Wilmot Castle Company, Rochester 7, N.Y.

This film shows step-by-step procedure for decontaminating an operating room after septic surgery. Explanation is clear and simple and technique acceptable. For use in training operating room nurses and technicians.

Bathing the Bed Patient—(16mm, black and white, sound, 25 min.). On loan: Commandant of nearest naval district.

Shows hospital corpsmen using proper procedures in bathing patient; includes technique of making bed.

Good training film for ward aides.

Broken Appointment—(16mm, black and white, sound, 30 min.). Produced by Affiliated Film Producers for Mental Health Film Board, 1953. To borrow or rent, inquire at state or local Mental Health Authority or Society. Purchase: Mental Health Materials Center, 1790 Broadway, Room 713, New York 19, $115.

Public health nurse Susan Burke tells her own story of how she learned that, in handling a case successfully, understanding a patient's emotions can be as important as interpreting physical symptoms. The "broken appointment" was Mrs. Peters' pre-natal examination; the plot revolves around a misunderstanding between Mr. and Mrs. Peters.

As a study of psychological aspects involved in public health nursing, this film is good. The nurse, however, seems to have considerable latitude, and the health team concept is disregarded. One would expect the physician or the social worker to assist in the solution of the patient's problems.

This film, designed for use in nursing education, is the first in the Mental Health Film Board's Professional Education series.

Chain of Asepsis—(16mm, black and white sound, 29 min.). Produced by U.S. Navy. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, $43.02.

Emphasizes importance of sterile linens, preoperative preparation of the patient, scrub technique, preparation of the operating room, and maintenance of chain of asepsis during an operation.

Excellent, not only for training operating room personnel but also for laundry and housekeeping auxiliary groups, to inform the public why operating room charges are necessarily the amounts they are.

Handling and Care of the Patient (in Anesthesia)—(16mm, black and white, sound, 26 min.). Produced by the British Ministry of Information. Loan from International Film Bureau, Inc., 57 E. Jackson Blvd., Chicago 4. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: International Film Bureau, $75.

One of a series on the "Techniques of Anesthesia," this film shows by contrast the right and wrong ways of preparing the patient for surgery. The mental aspects, as well as the physical preparation, are emphasized. Film includes both preoperative and postoperative care pointers.

Excellent for training surgical nurses and operating room teams.

Hypodermic Syringes and Needles, Their Care and Function—(16mm, color, sound Part 1—20 min., Part 2—25 min.). On loan: Becton, Dickinson & Co., Rutherford, N. J. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days.

Brief history of development of syringes, basic standards, demonstration of types, cleansing and sterilization, preparation, inspection, intradermal, subcutaneous, intramuscular, venipuncture, and intravenous injections.

Part 1 especially helpful for purchasing agents. Shows factors to be considered in making a durable syringe and needle. Part 2, for nursing staff, outlines explicit instructions for cleansing and sterilizing. Helpful in training of nursing aides.

Isolation Technique—(16mm, black and white, sound, 18 min.). Produced by U. S. Navy. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, $24.26.

Describes isolation technique that must be employed in communicable disease cases. Includes terminal disinfection.

Excellent; good training not only for nursing staff but also for laundry and housekeeping employees.

Oxygen Therapy—(16mm, black and white, sound, 30 min.). Produced by The Linde Air Products Co., 30 E. 42nd St., New York City. Loan from Linde Air Products Co.

Shows the different methods of administering oxygen in a hospital, adjusting and use of the cylinder, different types of masks, and nasal catheter. The importance of timing and careful nursing attention are stressed.

This instructive film would be good for training nurses. It also would be helpful for people who must administer oxygen to patients at home.

Post-Anesthesia Rooms—(16mm, color, sound, 25 min.). Produced by Billie Burke Productions for E. R. Squibb and Sons. Free loan from E. R. Squibb and Sons, 745 Fifth Ave., New York City 22.

The recovery room for post-operative care is the subject of this film, which shows 14 recovery rooms from various sections of the United States. Basic principles of design, equipment, and staffing are discussed. Suggestions are made not only for new construction but also for remodeled installations and adaptations of existing rooms to provide postoperative care.

The advantages of reduction of morbidity and mortality and of more effective utilization of personnel through centralization of postoperative patients and equipment are emphasized. This film is highly recommended for hospital management, anesthesiologists, surgeons, and operating room supervisors. Well presented and well documented, it can be used in those hospitals now operating a recovery room, as well as those where a recovery room is only part of future planning.

Pre-operative Care—(16mm, black and white, sound, 12 min.). Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, $19.03.

Mental and physical preparation of patient for surgery by hospital corpsman. Emphasizes need and methods of allaying patient's apprehension.

Excellent for nursing staff and also nurse aides who may assist in certain of the procedures.

Pressure Steam Sterilization — (16mm, color, sound, 26 min.). Produced for the Committee on Materials for Visual Instruction in Microbiology of the Society of American Bacteriologists, 1953. Borrow from Ideal Pictures, 58 E. South Water St., Chicago. Purchase: American Sterilizer Co., Erie, Pa.

This film demonstrates proper techniques in sterilization by pressure steam and discusses advantages of moist heat. The operation of a modern autoclave and the passage of steam through a load of packs are illustrated by animanted diagrams. Techniques of preparing packs, utensils, gloves, tubing, instruments, syringes, and needles and methods of loading are portrayed. Both manual and automatic autoclaves are demonstrated.

Excellent for training professional and nonprofessional personnel in central sterile supply and operating rooms. The step-by-step presentation and unusually fine diagrams and photography make it an outstanding film.

Setting Up an Operating Room—(16mm, black and white, sound or silent, 36 min.). Produced by Surgical Film Library, Davis & Geck, Inc., Brooklyn. Free Loan: Surgical Film Library, Davis & Geck, Inc., Brooklyn.

This film shows the application of aseptic principles in preparing the operating room and depicts the duties and organization of work among nurses. It was prepared in 1945, with the collaboration of Edythe Louise Alexander, R.N., supervisor of operating rooms of Roosevelt Hospital in New York City, and although a few of the procedures are outdated, it is still a good training film for student nurses and operating room technicians. Three other films in the series, of particular interest to nurses are: "Duties of the Suture Nurse" (23 min.), "Preparation and Draping" (21 min.), and "Care and Handling of Sutures" (26 min.). Transcripts of the commentary are available.

Six Steps To Team Nursing—(35mm, filmstrip, color, sound-record accompanies filmstrip, 14 min.). Produced by Henry Strauss and Co., Inc., 1954. Free loan from Nursing Education Program, Johnson & Johnson, 141 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago 4.

The six steps here suggested are: self-analysis, clarification of nursing department's relationship to the rest of the hospital, determination of composition of nursing team, plan of action and test unit, inservice program, and change-over to team nursing.

This filmstrip, in cartoons, follows up "Team Relationship in Nursing Care" and presents the "how-to-do-it" story.

Team Relationships in Nursing Care—(35mm filmstrip, color, sound, 20 min.). Produced in 1953. Sponsored by Johnson & Johnson, 141 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago 4, and available from them on free loan. Borrower pays insured postage both ways. For sale from Johnson & Johnson, $12.50.

This filmstrip is based on the book, "Nursing Team Organization and Functioning" by Eleanor Lambertsen. The purpose of team nursing is to coordinate into a smoothly functioning, efficient team, the graduate nurse, the student nurse, the practical nurse and the nurse's aide. Administrators and nursing service directors should see this filmstrip for ideas on how the team concept can be adapted in their individual situations.

PERSONNEL: TRAINING AND SUPERVISION

All I Need Is a Conference—(16mm, black and white, sound, 28 min.). Produced by Henry Strauss and Co., Inc., 1954. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: Henry Strauss and Co., Inc., 668 Fifth Ave., New York 19, $165; $2 for trainers manual; $1 for primer.

This film is intended primarily as a means of training conference leaders but is also a valuable tool for employee-relations training because it explores facets of human relations and their effects on productivity. It illustrates the various personalities (and their problems) who gather around the conference table and shows how the leader gets them to think together. Though based on industry, this clever presentation can easily be adapted to a hospital employee audience.

As Others See Us—(16mm, black and white, sound, 15 min.). Produced through a grant from Becton, Dickinson Foundation for the Extension of Scientific Knowledge. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for two weeks.

The vital role played by all hospital personnel in influencing patient opinion, as well as the attitude of the community as a whole toward the hospital, is portrayed in this picture by contrasting two women's hospital experiences. This film is old, styles of dress are outmoded, and in some prints the sound is poorly synchronized. Despite these disadvantages this film still enjoys wide popularity as an effective public relations tool.

The Boss Didn't Say "Good Morning"—(16mm, black and white, sound, 12 min.). Rental: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3, $2.

Shows importance to employee's well-being and sense of security of the boss's greeting. When he doesn't speak, it's human nature to imagine you've done something wrong, that your job is in jeopardy.

Would be fine for starting a discussion in a meeting of department heads.

By Jupiter—(16mm, black and white, sound, 30 min.). Produced for Marshall Field & Co. by Wilding Picture Productions, Inc., 1345 Argyle St., Chicago 40. Not available on loan or for rent. Purchase: Wilding Picture Productions, Inc., $125, including instructional manual, theater program, souvenir booklet, and tie-in talk to follow showings.

Poindexter is "discovered" in the opening sequence by Jupiter and Juno from their vantage point on Mt. Olympus. Jupiter is trying out his waning miracle-working powers, and Poindexter looks like a great subject for the experiment. He has just been through a completely miserable day in which everyone had contributed some unpleasantness, beginning as usual, with himself. Through Jupiter's intervention, he gets a chance to relive the day. At each instance where the events of his day had turned out badly, Jupiter reminds Poindexter to be kind and courteous, as well as thoughtful. As a result, life becomes much happier for Poindexter and for those he meets. This is the picture story, amusing, well cast and skillfully produced.

Good for employee training in courtesy, getting along with people.

Cleaning and Maintenance of Soft Floors—(16mm, color, sound, 22 min.). Produed by: Kent Lane. Free loan from: National Sanitary Supply Association, 139 N. Clark St., Suite 1105, Chicago 2.

Promotion of good sanitation is this film's message. Besides the emphasis on proper procedures, neatness and orderliness of the supply cabinet and work planning are stressed. Although prepared commercially, product promotion is omitted. This is a good training film for housekeeping and maintenance employees.

Damp Dusting—(16mm, color, sound, 19 min.). Print loaned or made available through local Bell Telephone Co. office in any town. Purchase prints: $121.

Shows proper dusting methods; moves slowly but would be excellent for training; time and motion economy in planning work. Manual available to accompany film.

A similar film is available from the same source on "Mopping."

For training housekeeping personnel.

Discipline: Giving Orders; Discipline: Reprimanding—(16mm, black and white, sound, Giving Orders—15 min.; Reprimanding—10 min.). Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29. Giving Orders—$20.68; Reprimanding—$14.09.

"Giving Orders" stresses the importance of disciplining a person properly and giving orders clearly. Shows the results obtained in an office where emphasis is placed on gaining the workers' confidence. Orders should be given correctly, courteously, and considerately.

"Reprimanding" shows several examples of proper and improper methods of reprimanding employees by supervisors. Chief points to remember are no sarcasm, do it privately, and don't threaten.

These two films are good for supervisory training. Although made during World War II and slightly dated, the principles fit today's situations.

Every Employee a Salesman—(35mm sound slide, 5-color, sound, 15 min.). Produced by Frederick House for the American Hotel Association. Available on loan from local hotel that has purchased set. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: American Hospital Association, 221 W. 57th St., New York City 19. These strips require a 35mm projector with a 16-inch turntable for records.

Impresses hotel employees in all departments with the value of giving proper attention and service to guests as a sales device. Stresses the personalized and internal aspects of selling the guest through courtesy and giving the little "extras" in service.

Cartoons more effective than movies; excellent for employee orientation and training.

Every Minute Counts—(16mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Produced by U. S. Office of Education. Rental: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3, $2. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, $20.74.

A supervisor becomes worried because of absenteeism and tardiness in his department. His superintendent points out many of the causes, and the supervisor takes steps to remedy them.

For supervisory training. Another good film for showing in department head meetings.

A Fair Wage by Job Evaluation—(35mm sound slide film, color, 90 frames, 15 min.). Produced by National Foremen's Institute, Inc., New London, Conn. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: National Foremen's Institute, Inc., $59.50. Leaders Guide accompanies print.

This sound-slide film tells the story of job evaluations in a fictional company. It explains problems before job evaluation, the job survey procedures, common misunderstandings about job evaluation, and advantages after installation of this technique. It is recommended for explaining the "why" of job evaluation to supervisors, employees, and top management, and although it applies directly to industrial establishments, it can be used very well in hospital personnel departments.

First Impressions—(16mm, black and white, sound, 21 min.). Produced by U. S. Navy. Rental: Association Films, 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3, $3. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, $27.12.

Discusses reasons why new employees may not like their jobs and gives some primary steps in giving them a good first impression of their work.

Navy civilian office in wartime, but factors in proper orientation of new employees in any office are well illustrated. Primarily for supervisory personnel.

Hospital Applies Better Methods—(16 mm, color, sound, 35 min.). Produced by Cleveland Clinic, Cleveland. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: DeLuxe Laboratories, Inc., 850 Tenth Ave., New York 19, $120.

Projects undertaken by the methods department of the Cleveland Clinic Hospital to streamline operations and eliminate unnecessary paper work are presented in this film. Most of the examples are from the dietary and laundry departments. This film can be shown to all hospital employees to make them aware of hospital costs and to stimulate suggestions for economies.

The Inner Man Steps Out—(16mm, black and white, sound, 28 min.). Produced by Pathescope Productions. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: Henry Strauss, 668 Fifth Ave., New York City 19, $79.

The problems of supervision are presented in this film. It tells in dramatic fashion and with forceful dialogue the story of a plant supervisor who goes to a doctor for help. His physical troubles, however, are caused by the tensions and unpleasant experiences he encounters as a supervisor. The principles of good supervision are enumerated and film ends at a point that leads naturally into a discussion period with audience participation.

Good for training all supervisors of personnel.

Introducing the New Worker to His Job—(16mm, black and white, sound, 16 min.). Produced by the U. S. Office of Education. Rental: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3, $2. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, $27.88.

A new worker is being started on his job. First, the induction is done very poorly. Then, the same job is done over again, but this time as it should be. The difference between the first and second ways of inducting the worker is obvious.

Direct factory application in employee training, but principles good. Orientation is the same in any management situation.

The Invisible Receptionist—(16mm, black and white, sound, 21 min.). Prints loaned or made available through local Bell Telephone Co. office in any town. Purchase prints: $34.50.

Tells why being a switchboard operator is harder than being a receptionist, because one has to project the whole personality, and gain good will for the company by voice alone.

For training switchboard operators.

It's Up to You—(16mm, black and white, sound, 24 min.). Produced for Associated Merchandise Corporation. Loan or rent from stores that are members of the Associated Merchandise Corporation and have purchased prints. Purchase: Caravel Films, 730 Fifth Ave., New York City.

Store supervision. Supervisor does all the wrong things, antagonizes people, and makes more work for himself; then he sees errors of his ways.

Good for training supervisors: how to get along with people.

Maintenance of Office Machines—(16 mm, black and white, sound, 37 min.). Produced by the U. S. Navy. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, $45.41.

Care and maintenance of typewriters, transcribing machines, dictating machines, adding machines, and calculators. Shows all different makes of machines and how to fight enemies of dust, dirt, and carelessness.

Excellent training film for office employees.

Member of the Team—(35mm filmstrip, black and white, sound, 86 frames, 10 min.). Produced by Victor Weingarten, New York City, through a National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis grant. Available on indefinite loan to groups having a medical social work recruitment committee and to schools of social work from American Association of Medical Social Workers, 1834 K St., N.W., Washington 6.

Designed to show the various settings in which medical social work is practiced and the many kinds of cases referred to the medical social worker. Suitable for presentation before high school and college groups, civic and religious organizations, women's clubs, social service students. Kit includes the record, filmstrip, operation, instructions, and a mimeographed copy of the text.

A New Supervisor Takes a Look at His Job—(16mm, black and white, sound, 13 min.). Produced by U. S. Office of Education. Rental: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3, $2. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, $23.60.

A young workman has just been made a line supervisor. In the interview with the superintendent, he is shown that in his new job he must learn to get results from people instead of machines.

For supervisory training; industry again, but application of principles can be made in hospitals.

Office Etiquette—(16mm, black and white, sound, 14 min.). Produced by Encyclopedia Brittannica Films, Inc., Wilmette, Ill. Rental: Encyclopedia Brittannica Films, Inc., $3.50 for three days. Purchase: Encyclopedia Brittannica Films, Inc., $70.

This film shows the progress of Joan Spencer in the business world and illustrates how getting along with one's associates at work is an important element in attaining success. Courtesy and thoughtfulness are emphasized. It can be used in orienting new employees, especially in the business office, although the basic principles of punctuality, coöperation, and good work habits obtain in every department.

Strange Interview—(16mm, black and white, sound, 55 min.). Produced by General Motors Corporation, 3044 W. Grand Blvd., Detroit 2. Free loan from General Motors Corporation. Borrower pays all transportation costs.

By contrasting the personnel policies of a harassed small business man today with those of Benjamin Franklin, this film teaches a very effective lesson in supervision. The situation in which Bill Parker, the small factory owner, finds himself is typical of those existing in any human relationships, and the audience easily identifies itself with him. The film is fast moving and humorous, and although it runs nearly an hour, it does not seem overdone or unnecessarily prolonged.

"Strange Interview" is recommended for all personnel, especially supervisors.

Supervising Workers on the Job—(16 mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Produced by U. S. Office of Education. Loan: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3, $2. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, $20.74.

Various kinds of poor supervision practices are shown, among them, nagging and snoop-

ing. By dramatized incidents, the poor results of these methods are made apparent.

For supervisory training; factory application, but principles are the same for any employee-supervisor relationship.

Supervisor as a Leader, Parts 1 and 2—(16mm, black and white, sound, Part 1—14 min.; Part 2—13 min.). Produced by U. S. Office of Education. Rental: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3, $2. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, Part 1—$25.71; Part 2—$23.60.

Part 1—Several workmen are asked what they consider to be the qualifications of a good supervisor: Always keep promises. Never take credit for someone else's work. Don't pass the buck. Don't play favorites.

Part 2—Four supervisors discuss the qualities of leadership. Dramatized incidents make clear what they mean. One man lets his job go to his head. Another goes to pieces under pressure; he can't control himself. In other incidents, it is pointed out that the good supervisor is not afraid to praise his men for work well done and that he is loyal to them.

Orientation for supervisors and as a stimulus to group discussion of supervisory problems.

Telephone Courtesy—(16mm, black and white, sound, 25 min.). Prints loaned or made available through local Bell Telephone Co. office in any town.

Depicts proper telephone manners in any situation.

For instructing all employees and staff in the hospital, not just the switchboard operators.

Working with Other Supervisors—(16 mm, black and white, sound, 8 min.). Produced by the U. S. Office of Education. Rental: Association Films, Inc., 79 E. Adams St., Chicago 3, $2. Purchase: United World Films, Inc., 1445 Park Ave., New York City 29, $17.88.

Several supervisors discuss Larry, one of their colleagues, who has been unable to work harmoniously with them. The question is raised—What can be done about Larry?

Good for starting discussion on functions of supervision.

REHABILITATION

Coming Home—(16mm and 35mm, black and white, sound, 15 min.). Produced by National Tuberculosis Association, 1790 Broadway, New York City 19. To obtain, consult local or state tuberculosis association.

Story of Jack Burns and his family, it tells of their fight against a disease that threatened all their hopes for the future. It shows how that disease—tuberculosis—was defeated and how Jack came back to his home and his family a well man.

"Coming Home" shows how Jack and Helen Burns solved their problem with the help of the family doctor. In a series of dramatic flashbacks on the screen, Jack tells how his tuberculosis was discovered, treated, and arrested. He tells how Helen managed to maintain their home until he returned, cured, from a tuberculosis hospital and how he regained his job and his place in life.

Shows chest x-ray in mobile truck. Show at all community groups and the women's auxiliary.

The Institute of Rehabilitation and Physical Medicine—(16mm, color, sound, 22 min.). Produced by New York University Film Library, 26 Washington Place, New York City 3. Rental: New York University Film Library, $1 a day plus parcel post special delivery charges.

The Institute described in the film is a unit of the New York University-Bellevue Medical Center established as a model demonstration center for the rehabilitation of disabled civilians. The film shows in some detail the retraining program, the exercises employed, group training, development of equipment, etc., in the direction of making the patients self-sufficient, independent, and capable of active participation once more in the work from which previously their physical handicaps had excluded them.

Very good for instructiong community in rehabilitation needs; would encourage any community to establish such a center.

Journey Back—(16mm, black and white, sound, 20 min.). Produced by Veterans Administration. Loan: Veterans Administration, Medical Illustration Division, Research and Education Service, Vermont and H Sts., N.W., Washington.

The rehabilitation of a hemiplegic veteran. Early physical measures, the retraining methods in self-care and ambulation activities, prevocational and avocational guidance, speech retraining, and social and economic readjustment. Methods by which these procedures are carried out and the means of achieving an integrated teamwork program. Suitable for showing to community groups to illustrate the completeness of the care given these patients.

On Our Own—(16mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Produced by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, 120 Broadway, New York City. Loan from the National Foundation.

The training of poliomyelitis victims to adjust to normal life and be able to care for themselves again is the message of this film. A boy tells the story of his learning to walk again and of the rehabilitation team that helps him. The training methods and understanding of the instructors and medical personnel who help polio patients to regain their physical and mental strength again are stressed.

Good for showing to general public for fund raising for polio campaigns and for showing to student nurses to acquaint them with problems faced by polio patients.

Rodney — (16mm, color, sound, 10 min.). Produced by: Film Graphics, Inc. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: National Tuberculosis Association, 1790 Broadway, New York 19, $55.

This animated cartoon is cleverly prefaced by roadside signs listing producer, director, etc., and leading to the center of the town where Rodney lives. Rodney is a boy in his early 20's whose life is disrupted temporarily by the discovery that he has tuberculosis. Sanitarium life and care are well portrayed; the main message of the film is that tuberculosis is curable.

In a very entertaining way, Rodney can be used to arouse community interest in mobile chest x-rays and regular check-ups. Excellent for general community showings as a public education service.

Story of Lucy—(16mm, color, sound, 17 min.). Produced by Kessler Institute, Pleasant Valley Way, West Orange, N.J. Loan from Mr. William Page, Administrator of Kessler Institute for Rehabilitation.

This film presents a 25-year-old paraplegic woman's comeback from complete despondency to independence and full employment. Lucy's recovery is not presented as a miracle but as an "all hands" evolution involving many individuals and groups. The rehabilitation team consisting of physicians, nurses, therapists, vocational counselors, and bracemaker, together with many individuals and agencies in the community, make it possible for Lucy to secure training and to solve her problem realistically.

Good to acquaint community groups with importance of rehabilitation and how it is achieved.

Time Out—(16mm, black and white, sound, 25 min.). Produced by U. S. Army, 1949. On loan from army surgeon of the army area where request originates.

Hospitalization of army tuberculosis patient and importance of occupational therapy in his recovery. Very good. Not overemphasized. Patient was extremely coöperative. Good film for teaching the public about tuberculosis and effectiveness of the treatment given in sanatoria. Suitable for showing to all community groups and the women's auxiliary.

SAFETY AND FIRE PREVENTION

Accidents Don't Happen: III—Handling—(16mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.). Produced by National Film Board of Canada, 400 W. Madison St., Chicago. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. National Film Board of Canada, $1.50 a day. Purchase: National Film Board of Canada, $21.

In almost any job, occasions arise for lifting or moving large objects. This film shows the right and wrong ways of handling heavy materials. It would be useful in hospital safety programs. Other films in the series are: I—"Organization," II—"Machines," and IV—"Falls."

Cause for Alarm—(16mm, black and white, sound, 10 min.; 35mm, black and white, sound, slide strip.). (Discussion leader's manual, true-false quiz, and photoscript booklet accompany print). Produced by the National Safety Council, 425 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago. Rental: American Hospital Association has one 16mm print, $4 for three days. National Safety Council, $3 per day, $5 first week, $3 for each additional week. Purchase: National Safety Council, $45 (film); $18 (sound slide strip).

A step-by-step portrayal of what to do in case of fire, it describes the three types of fires and the most common types of fire extinguishers. The narration is excellent.

A useful aid in employee training for fire safety, it can be shown to advantage to all hospital employees but especially to the maintenance and housekeeping staffs.

Diagnosis Danger—(16mm, black and white, sound, 27 min.). Produced by Chicago Film Studios, 1947. Loan: St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co., 111 W. Fifth St., St. Paul 2, Minn. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days.

Designed to eliminate unsafe conditions occurring within the hospital. Shows the danger of inadequate equipment in the various departments of the hospital, such as slipping on wax floors, worn-out electric cords, serving food on chipped dishes, hot water bottle burns, dispensing and administration of incorrect drugs, and similar hazards that may result in harm to the patients, visitor, personnel.

For employee training in every department to watch for accident hazards and report them. Emphasizes waste of time and equipment caused by needless accidents.

Fire—and Your Hospital—(16mm, black and white, sound, 25 min.). Produced in 1952 by Audio Productions, Inc., Film Center Building, 630 Ninth Ave., New York City 36. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: Audio Productions, Inc., $65.

This training film shows how a fire safety plan should be organized, how each department of a hospital should react to a fire alarm, how patients can be saved and fire spread reduced, and how to prevent disaster. Its chief purpose is to train all hospital employees; it can also be used to acquaint civic groups with the many fire safety problems in a hospital. Filmed in an actual hospital, this movie is timely, and its message is urgent. Strongly recommended.

Fire Prevention—(35mm sound slide, five-color, sound, 15 min.). Produced by Frederick House for the American Hotel Association. Available on loan from local hotel that has purchased set. Rental: American Hospital Association, $4 for three days. Purchase: American Hotel Association, 221 W. 57th St., New York City 19. These strips require a 35mm projector with a 16-inch turntable for records.

Has received unofficial approval of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Its theme is prevention.

For employees training in fire safety; for maintenance men or housekeeping staff. Effective cartoon, would serve as an introduction for any discussion on fire prevention.

Stop Fires, Save Jobs—(16mm, black and white, sound, 19 min.). Produced by Audio Productions, Inc., 1950. Free rental from National Board of Fire Underwriters, Film Library, Bureau of Communications Research, Inc., 13 E. 37th St., New York City 17. Purchase: Audio Productions, Inc., 630 Ninth Ave., New York City 19, $47.

This motion picture was designed specifically to stimulate employee coöperation and reduce the numbers and costs of industrial fires. Nevertheless, the principle of fire safety—good housekeeping, elimination of igniting elements, etc.—are as valid for hospitals as for industry, and despite the definite industrial application, this film could well be shown in a Hospital safety program.

The Torch—(16mm, color, sound, 11.5 min.). Produced by National Board of Fire Underwriters. Loan: National Board of Fire Underwriters' Film Library Bureau of Communications Research, Inc., 13 E. 37th St., New York City 17.

Unusual new color cartoon showing that there is just a bit of human carelessness in everyone. A new slide motion technique is used to make an intriguing and humorous film of fire safety. Mr. Torch has his rogue's gallery—anyone could be guilty of carelessness and qualify.

Excellent for fire prevention teaching in general. Could be included in safety programs and shown to all hospital personnel as a prelude to discussion.

What's Your Safety I. Q.?—(35mm, slide film; 16 mm movie, black and white, sound, 15 min.). Rental: National Safety Council, 425 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 11. To members: $3 a day, $5 a week, $3 second week; price doubled for non-members. Purchase: National Safety Council. To members: 35mm slide films, $18; 16mm movie, $45; price doubled for non-members.

Worker training film on off-the-job accident hazards. Pictures common unsafe acts and conditions that cause accidents in the home, in traffic, and at play. As each set of hazards is illustrated on the screen, workers are asked, "What's wrong with this picture?" They are given from 12 to 15 seconds to spot the safety errors, then the narrator takes over. He identifies the safety hazards pictured and discusses what should be done to eliminate them.

Effective as a safety training aid in personnel management to encourage workers to "play safe" wherever they are.

GRADUATE AND POST-GRADUATE COURSES

All of the following courses are approved for students eligible for GI educational benefits.

Baylor University, Medical Field Service School, Fort Sam Houston, Texas[1]

Graduate course leading to a degree of master of hospital administration or master of science from School of Public Health, Baylor University, Waco, Texas.

Candidates should hold the rank of major or above; be members of the Regular Army or Organized Reserve Corps and not have passed the age of 42; have had recent hospital experience and demonstrated ability and interest in hospital administration; hold a degree of doctor of medicine from a medical school approved by the American Medical Association or a bachelor's degree in either arts or sciences from a college acceptable to Baylor University. A selected reading list should have been completed prior to beginning of course.

Course is of 21 months' duration comprised of nine months of academic instruction given at the Medical Field Service School, Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and 12 months of supervised approved residency at selected military hospitals. This may be partially waived in the case of students having had considerable recent hospital experience. Candidates are required to write theses or project reports, which must be completed by the end of the residency year.

Special United States and Allied Armed Forces students are admitted to the course.

Course Director: Col. Frederick H. Gibbs, MSC, Department of Administration, Medical Field Service School, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

University of California, School of Public Health, Berkeley, Calif.[1]

Course is on a graduate level and leads to the degree of master of public health.

Candidates for admission are required to have (1) a doctor of medicine or doctor of dental surgery degree from an acceptable medical or dental school or (2) a bachelor's degree with adequate training in the social sciences, natural sciences, and business administration.

In addition to meeting the academic requirements of the graduate division, the candidates must have had three years of experience in hospitals or closely related health fields. In lieu of such experience, one year of approved administrative internship, prior to admission, may be substituted for all or part of the experience requirement.

Following the nine-month academic program, students are normally required to complete a one-year administrative residency in an approved hospital.

Course Director: Richard J. Stull, clinical professor of hospital administration; Associate Director, Keith O. Taylor, lecturer in hospital administration, School of Public Health, University of California, Berkeley 4.

University of Chicago, School of Business, Chicago, Ill.[1]

Course is on the graduate level, leading to degree of master of business administration. The program is based largely in the School of Business, School of Medicine, and the Division of Public Health and Preventive Medicine. It is of approximately two years' duration, consisting of three academic quarters (12 weeks each), in residence and 12 months of administrative residency in a hospital acceptable to the University. Applicants will be required to have a bachelor's degree, or its equivalent, and must have completed a course in basic accounting. Selection will also be based on the applicant's aptitude and capacity for work in the field of hospital administration. In order to assure individual participation in seminars, enrollment is limited to 12 students annually.

Course Director: Ray E. Brown, University of Chicago Clinics, Chicago 37.

Columbia University, School of Public Health, Institute of Administrative Medicine, New York, N.Y.[1]

In addition to the program in hospital administration, the school offers advanced education and practical experience in administration in other divisions of the health field, including prepayment medical care plans, public health, occupational medicine, clinics, medical schools, and other voluntary and official agencies. The courses are at the graduate level and lead to the degree of master of science or master of public health. In the development of the curricula, other facilities of the University, of hospitals, and of various medical care organizations have been utilized. There is a central core of subjects pertaining to administrative organization and management generally. The special considerations of the individual fields are brought into focus by the faculty which consists of leaders in the respective areas. The course requires a total of 21 months, with nine months (32 weeks) in full-time residence at the University and one calendar year of supervised administrative residency in an approved hospital or other organization. The administrative residency is placed between the two halves of the academic period, from February 1 through January 31, in order to better coördinate the total program of the student in his didactic and practical work. The applicant for admission must possess a baccalaureate degree from a university or college approved by Columbia University. Evidence of personal capability and potential fitness for work in the selected field is considered in each case and is essential to admission. Some previous actual working experience in the health field is highly desirable but not required. The academic year in residence cannot be shortened by credit for previous experience or education. Ordinarily, the administrative residency is required of all students. Only full-time students are accepted as candidates for the degree and are admitted only at the beginning of the academic year in September, except by special permission. Admission to certain courses as special students is granted occasionally to advanced students or experienced administrators.

Course Director: E. Dwight Barnett, M.D., Institute of Administrative Medicine, School of Public Health, Columbia University, New York 32.

Duke Hospital, School of Medicine, Duke University, Durham, N.C.[2]

The student is given a practical on-the-job type of training, wherein he gains actual experience in hospital administration. He is rotated by schedule through the various major administrative areas in the hospital. This is supplemented by classroom teaching, field trips, seminars, projects, and individual guidance by the administrative staff. The program is designed to cover two years and requires the full time of the student; therefore, no outside work is permitted. Upon completion of the course a certificate in hospital administration is given by the School of Medicine. At present the course is open to men only, and candidates must hold either a bachelor of arts or bachelor of science degree from an approved college and have an acceptable scholastic average. It is desirable for applicants to have had previous courses in economics, accounting, business management, and basic sciences. Previous experience in the health field is helpful. A sound educational background and excellent personal qualifications are essential, and a personal interview with each applicant by the Admissions Committee is required. Enrollment is limited to two men each six months.

Course Director: Office of the Course Director, Duke Hospital, Durham, N.C.

University of Georgia, Atlanta Division, School of Business Administration, Atlanta, Ga.[2]

Certificate course in hospital administration. The course covers a period of nine months of academic instruction at the Atlanta division of the University of Georgia in Atlanta and 27 weeks of field experience in two or more smaller hospitals outside Atlanta. Acceptable previous experience will be credited against experience requirement.

Candidates for admission are selected by an Advisory Admissions Committee. Selection is based upon the demonstrated ability of two years' full-time successful experience in a hospital or closely related field or as demonstrated by aptitude tests, personal interviews, or other means of evaluation as determined by the Advisory Admissions Committee. Academic credit will be dependent upon meeting the University's requirements. Under certain conditions, the courses in hospital administration may be substituted for public administration for the major for the bachelor of business administration degree. Candidates must submit written application and must meet successfully requirements of the Advisory Admissions Committee.

Course Director: Henry C. Pepper, Ph.D., chairman, Division of Public Administration, Atlanta Division, University of Georgia, School of Business Administration, 24 Ivy St., Atlanta 3.

State University of Iowa, Graduate College and College of Medicine, Iowa City, Iowa[1]

Course is on the graduate level leading to a master of arts degree in the major course of study. Program requires approximately three years, one academic year in residence followed by two calendar years of in-service training in one or more carefully selected hospitals. Applicants are required to have a bachelor's degree with a minimum academic grade point average of 2.5 (on a 4.0 maximum). Basic courses in accounting, sociology or psychology, biology or chemistry, public speaking, economics, and business organization and management are desirable as prerequisites.

[1] Course is a member of the Association of University Programs in Hospital Administration.
[2] Unaffiliated program. (Undergraduate degree required for admission.)

A few qualified candidates will be given the opportunity to study for the doctor of philosophy degree. Only candidates with an adequate base in actual hospital administration experience will be considered.

Course Director: Gerhard Hartman, Ph.D., professor and director, program in hospital administration, State University of Iowa, University Hospitals, Iowa City.

Johns Hopkins University, School of Hygiene and Public Health, Baltimore, Md.[1]

A combined course in public health and hospital administration designed particularly for physicians who anticipate assuming responsibility for a combined program of public health and hospital administration or for physicians with experience in hospital administration interested in the broad development of the hospital as a part of the community health program.

The course consists of a series of elective courses offered in the various phases of hospital administration, plus the regular required courses for the master of public health degree. Approximately 60 per cent of the available time in the academic year is devoted to training in the various phases of hospital administration. These courses include instruction in the fields of general hospital administration, accounting and control, personnel management, hospital records and statistics, hospital maintenance and operation, hospital construction, and medical care administration. Students satisfactorily completing the combined course are awarded the master of public health degree at the end of one academic year. However, those students who specialize in hospital administration would be expected to devote an additional three months to a program of research and study in some phase of hospital administration. A limited number of students may elect to spend from three to fifteen months in supervised practical training in an affiliated hospital. A limited number of specially qualified applicants may be accepted for a program of research and study in one of the fields of hospital administration as candidates for the doctor of public health degree.

Course Director: Dr. Ernest L. Stebbins, director, School of Hygiene and Public Health, The Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore 5, Md.

University of Minnesota, School of Public Health, Minneapolis, Minn.[1]

Graduate course leading to degree of master of hospital administration from the School of Public Health. Course is of approximately 21 months' duration, comprised of one academic year of three quarters in full-time residence and one calendar year of supervised administrative residency in a hospital approved by the University. Candidates must have a degree equivalent at least to baccalaureate level from an approved educational institution; must have had a course in elements and principles of accounting (may be secured by a summer or a correspondence course); and must possess personal capability and fitness for work in the field of hospital administration. No credit for previous experience is given in the academic year. In rare instances the residency year may be shortened with the approval of the course director. Only full-time students are accepted as candidates for the degree. In some instances special students are admitted to the course.

Course Director: James A. Hamilton, professor, course in hospital administration, School of Public Health, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis 14.

Northwestern University, School of Commerce, Chicago 11, Ill.[1]

The holder of a bachelor's degree or its equivalent (in liberal arts, nursing education, medicine, business administration, or other fields) from an institution of accepted standing may become a candidate for the degree of master of science in hospital administration if the transcripts of his college record and of any graduate work he may have done show that he is able to pursue graduate work with credit to himself and to the University. A grade average of B- or better in undergraduate work is considered acceptable. Prerequisites are: accounting, four semester-hours, business administration, statistics, speech, psychology, sociology, and biology, two semester-hours each.

Students are selected for admission to the program on the basis of previous education, experience in hospital work (preferably at the supervisory level), and such evidence of personality, aptitude, and capacity for administrative work as can be obtained from letters of recommendation and through personal interview. A limited number of students is selected each spring by an admissions committee for entrance into the program the following September.

The program is a division of the School of Commerce. Nine months of full-time study in residence are required to complete the academic work. In addition, an administrative residency of 12 months' duration must be served in a hospital approved for that purpose before the master's degree in hospital administration is awarded. Part-time students are admitted and may complete the academic requirements in from two to three years. Most of the classes and demonstrations are held in the evening at present, although it is possible a day program for full-time students will be started in the autumn semester of 1955.

Honorary Course Director: Malcolm T. MacEachern, M.D., professor of hospital administration; Course Director: Charles U. Letourneau, associate professor; School of Commerce, Northwestern University, 339 E. Chicago Ave., Chicago 11.

University of Pittsburgh, School of Public Health, Pittsburgh, Pa.[1]

Course at the graduate level leading to a master of science degree or a master of public health degree depending upon the student's qualifications. The course is of 21 months' duration, of which the first nine are spent in University residence followed by a full calendar year of supervised residency in an acceptable hospital. Applicants must hold at least a bachelor's degree with an adequate background in the natural and social sciences and must meet the minimum standards of the graduate school before consideration is given. Final selection will be based upon demonstrated aptitude and capacity for work in the field of medical administration.

Course Director: John R. McGibony, M.D., professor of hospital and medical administration, Graduate School of Public Health, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh 13.

St. Louis University, Graduate School, St. Louis, Mo.[1]

Graduate course, leading to degree of master in hospital administration. Applicants for the degree must spend at least one year in residence at the University and one calendar year of supervised administrative experience in a hospital approved by the University. To advance to candidacy for the degree, the student must pass an examination in modern language or statistics and present an essay on some phase of hospital administration. Applicants for admission must have a bachelor's degree and in addition must meet all the entrance requirements of the graduate school. Undergraduate training must include three semester hours in accounting, and courses in economics, psychology, and sociology are desirable.

Acting Course Director: Rev. John J. Flanagan, S. J., department of hospital administration, St. Louis University Graduate School, 1438 S. Grand Blvd., St. Louis 4.

University of Toronto, School of Hygiene, Toronto 5, Ont., Canada[1]

The Department of Hospital Administration is in the School of Hygiene and offers a 21 months' course for university graduates in the arts, medicine, or the sciences who have acceptable academic standing, experience, and aptitude. The course consists of 32 weeks of instruction on the campus and in nearby general and special hospitals, followed by 12 months of supervised administrative residency in an acceptable hospital in Canada or the United States. A thesis on a selected subject is required to complete the second year's work. The course leads to the diploma in hospital administration (Tor.), which is equivalent to the master's degree. The teaching staff has been associated also with the Canadian Hospital Association in the development and supervision of a two-year extension course in hospital organization and management, provided by the Canadian Hospital Association, for those individuals who are not eligible for or cannot take the graduate course.

Course Director: Harvey Agnew, M.D., professor, Department of Hospital Administration, School of Hygiene, University of Toronto, Toronto 5, Ont.

Applicants for the course must have a baccalaureate degree or more than its equivalent from an accredited institution. The course is open to men and women. Preparation, capability, and fitness for a career in this field will be deciding factors in the selection of candidates.

Although the following subjects are not prerequisites, they are highly recommended for inclusion in undergraduate studies: at least two semesters of accounting and one semester in statistics, personnel management, principles of marketing, business law, finance, and principles of economics.

The didactic course consists of nine months' intensive classroom instruction, ample opportunity being provided to observe the functions of the various hospital departments.

Following the didactic course, a year's administrative residency must be served. Students are rotated through nine affiliating Virginia hospitals. Under this plan of rotation through various hospitals, the student gains knowledge not only of a teaching hospital but of the smaller hospitals and their problems.

Following satisfactory completion of the didactic phase of the program and of the residency period and on submission of a thesis acceptable to the graduation committee, the degree of master of hospital administration is awarded.

Course Director: Charles P. Cardwell Jr., Hospital Division, Medical College of Virginia, Richmond 19.

Washington University, School of Medicine, St. Louis, Mo.[1]

Graduate course leading to a master of hospital administration degree. The course covers a full-time period of 21 months, nine months of academic instruction at the medical center and 12 months as an administrative resident in a hospital approved by Washington University School of Medicine. Candidates for admission must hold a bachelor's degree in either the arts or sciences from an educational institution acceptable to Washington University or a degree of doctor of medicine from a medical school approved by the American Medical Association. A basic course in accounting must be completed prior to admission. Physical qualifications and personal fitness are additional criteria for admission. Applicants must present themselves for a personal interview.

Course Director: F. R. Bradley, M.D., School of Hospital Administration, Washington University, School of Medicine, 507 S. Euclid Ave., St. Louis 10.

Yale University, School of Medicine, Department of Public Health, New Haven, Conn.[1]

Graduate course leading to a master of public health degree or a master of science degree. (In unusual cases a degree of doctor of public health is conferred on physicians completing special requirements in addition to the full course in hospital administration.) Total period of training required is not less than 21 months, made up of nine months in residence at the University and 12 months in supervised practical work in administration. Three classes of students are eligible for admission: (1) doctors of medicine who have had at least two years in the practice of medicine or comparable experience; (2) graduate nurses who have a bachelor's degree and at least three years' experience in administration of medical care facilities or in public health work; (3) others who have a bachelor's degree in the arts or sciences and who have had either practical experience in the field of administration of medical care or related facilities or who have spent at least one year in graduate studies in public health. At least one-half year of accounting at the university level is required. Preference is given to students with a background of study in the biological and physical sciences.

Course Director: George S. Buis, Department of Public Health, Yale University School of Medicine, New Haven 11, Conn.

MANAGEMENT GUIDES

Guide to Planning

Tool for the Examination of Practices

Basic Reference

THE MANAGEMENT GUIDES are compiled to aid the administrator in checking present practices and in setting up new procedures. Each individual item has been selected for its long-term value as a permanent reference as well as for its current topical interest.

Much of the material was prepared especially for this issue of the Administrators Guide, and appears in published form for the first time. Such material as has been reprinted has been included because of its basic value, and because the busy administrator may not have ready access to the original sources.

The various articles and checklists have been arranged this year by subject, in simple alphabetical order, rather than by the departmental classifications used in previous years. Reference to the contents page for this section will indicate the wide variety of practical administrative aids, from accreditation to turnover rates and costs.

New HOLLISTER Ident-A-Band®

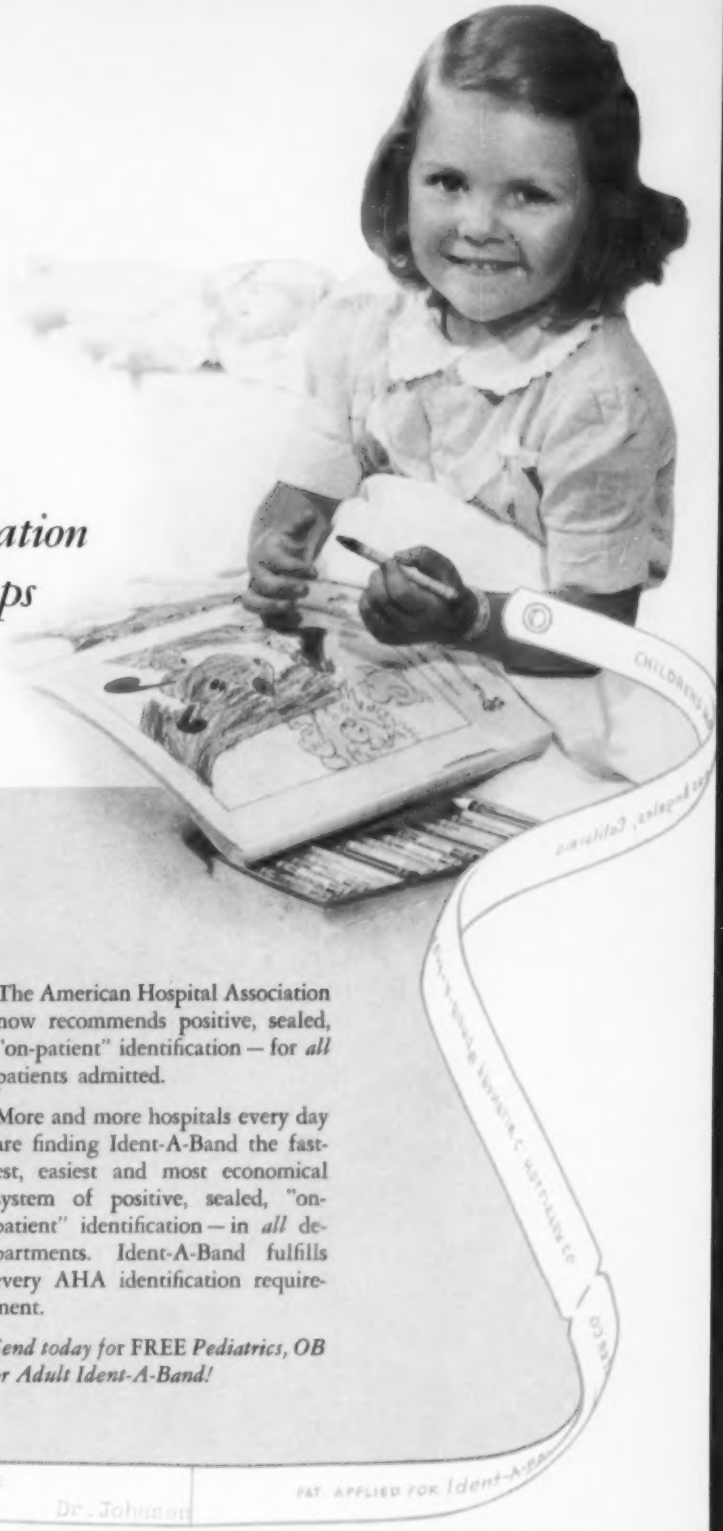
provides positive identification ... prevents patient mix-ups in all departments



Two Mary O'Briens in your hospital? Your Pediatrics Staff can be sure this is the Mary O'Brien who is scheduled for the tonsillectomy . . . when little Mary wears the new Hollister Ident-A-Band on her wrist.

The informative Insert Card is always clearly visible through the transparent vinylite Ident-A-Band. Just a glance tells nurses and doctors Mary's full name, admission number, her doctor's name and other vital data you require.

Soft and comfortable around Mary's wrist, Ident-A-Band is safely secured with a tamper-proof seal. This positive, sealed, "on-patient" identification makes sure the right Mary O'Brien always gets her prescribed medication, her required treatment—nothing more.

The American Hospital Association now recommends positive, sealed, "on-patient" identification — for all patients admitted.

More and more hospitals every day are finding Ident-A-Band the fastest, easiest and most economical system of positive, sealed, "on-patient" identification — in all departments. Ident-A-Band fulfills every AHA identification requirement.

joint commission on accreditation of hospitals program and procedures

THE Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals is an independent, voluntary, nonprofit corporation organized to render a public service. Its main purpose is to improve the quality of care rendered to patients in hospitals. Its method of achieving this goal is to establish minimum standards of quality of patient care and then to invite all hospitals that offer care to the sick to meet or surpass those standards by improving their services and their facilities.

Any hospital desiring recognition of its quality may invite a survey by the joint commission. Upon satisfactory proof that it has met the minimum standards, it will be granted recognition in the form of a certificate and listing by the Joint Commission in its annual publication of accredited hospitals. Hospitals are listed as fully approved or provisionally approved.

ORGANIZATION

The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals is composed of five nonprofit associations, namely, the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association, American Medical Association, and Canadian Medical Association. Each of the members appoints individual persons to represent it according to its interest declared and agreed upon. The representatives of the members are known as commissioners and are 20 in number, appointed in the following proportions:

American College of Physicians 3
American College of Surgeons 3
American Medical Association 6
Canadian Medical Association 1
American Hospital Association 7

One commissioner representing the American Hospital Association is chosen from its Canadian hospital membership.

The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals is independent. It is incorporated under the laws of the state of Illinois and its actions are not subject to ratification by its component members. It is financed by annual grants from the members, made according to their representation. The costs of operation are divided into as many equal parts as there are commissioners. Thus, the American Hospital Association, having appointed seven commissioners, contributes seven-twentieths of the total budget.

One of the objects of the Joint Commission is to make known to the public the names of those hospitals that have invited its scrutiny and have been accredited by it as meeting the minimum standards established for good hospital care.

ACCREDITATION PROCEDURE

A hospital wishing to apply for accreditation should direct its request to the director, Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, 660 N. Rush St., Chicago 11. No application forms are necessary. A letter from the administrator serves as the application.

Minimum requirements for application are:

1. Listing in the Administrators Guide Issue, Part II of August HOSPITALS, published by the American Hospital Association.
2. In operation for at least one year.
3. A minimum size of 25 adult beds.

Upon receipt of a request, the hospital is notified that it has been placed on the list for future survey, and an effort will be made to have it surveyed within six months from the time of application.

The director of the Joint Commission then allots the hospital to the appropriate field survey staff. If the hospital desires no more than accreditation, it probably will be allotted to the field representatives of the American Hospital Association, but not necessarily so. If the hospital also claims facilities for the diagnosis or treatment of cancer, in addition to meeting minimum standards, it will be allotted to the field staff of the American College of Surgeons and similarly of the American Medical Association in the event that it also wishes approval for an internship or residency program.

THE SURVEY

Survey of a hospital is conducted according to a definite, established procedure. The standards upon which the surveyor bases his opinion are outlined in the publication, "Standards for Hospital Accreditation," and there will be little latitude for the personal opinion or prejudice of the surveyor. The criteria are objective.

The director of the Joint Commission notifies the hospital of the date of the surveyor's visit to the hospital. With the notice, he also encloses a detailed questionnaire of statistical (confidential) information for completion by the hospital. The completed questionnaire is presented to the surveyor upon his arrival at the hospital.

On the appointed day, the field representative calls on the administrator of the hospital and proceeds with the survey of the hospital. He is already in possession of considerable knowledge about the hospital, much of it confidential, from the files of the Joint Commission.

The report of the survey is forwarded by the field representative to the office of the Joint Commission, where an appraisal and evaluation of the findings are made by the staff of the Joint Commission. After the Board of Commissioners has acted upon the report, the hospital is sent the results. ■

The Standards for Hospital Accreditation of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals have been formally approved by the Board of Commissioners. These criteria are the basis for determining whether a hospital shall be accredited by the Joint Commission.

On December 6, 1952, the Hospital Standardization Program of the American College of Surgeons was officially conveyed to the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. The policies and standards of the American College of Surgeons were accepted by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals at that time. Subsequent to the initial acceptance of the Accreditation Program, certain standards were changed by the Board of Commissioners of the Joint Commission. Changes made through December, 1954, are incorporated.

KENNETH B. BABCOCK, M.D.
Director

The structure, organization, and facilities of a hospital determine its acceptability for accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. The degree to which these three factors has been developed in the United States and Canada is an index to the advance in medical care. Extremely high standards have been reached in many institutions, but certain requirements are essential for any hospital to be accredited.

An abbreviated exposition of the standards established by the American College of Surgeons and accepted by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals when the Commission assumed the responsibility for accreditation from the American College of Surgeons on December 6, 1952, are presented. The few changes made by the Board of Commissioners of the Joint Commission are herein incorporated.

The standards are divided into required and contingent, arranged on a basis of function. The required standards are essential for the accreditation of all hospitals. The contingent standards are dependent upon the type, size, degree of departmentalization, and financial resources of a particular hospital.

REQUIRED

The following standards are held to be absolute prerequisites to accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. They are arranged in three sections, according to the major functional divisions of a hospital.

I. ADMINISTRATIVE

A. Physical Plant

The buildings of the hospital must be solidly constructed, with adequate space for each patient. This space shall not be less than required by existing legal codes. In addition, the administration of the hospital shall provide the following:

1. Sanitary care to avoid cross-infection and vermin.
2. Facilities for isolation of patients with communicable disease, especially in obstetrical, newborn, and pediatric sections.
3. Fire protection at least equal to the legal code; to attest to this fact the administrator shall exhibit a certificate issued within the past 12 months.
4. Emergency lighting in operating, delivery, and emergency rooms, nursery and stair wells.
5. Adequate diagnostic and therapeutic facilities.

B. Governing Body

All phases of the conduct of the hospital are the legal and moral responsibility of the governing body. In the discharge of its duties, the governing body is responsible to the patient, the community, and the sponsoring organization. Since governing bodies are rarely qualified medically, responsibility for the medical functions of the hospital must be delegated to the medical staff.

For effective action, the governing body shall:

1. Adopt bylaws in accordance with legal requirements.
2. Meet at stated intervals.
3. Appoint committees, with an Executive Committee and a Joint Conference Committee as a minimum.
4. Appoint members of the medical staff [see Required II, A3].
5. Appoint a qualified hospital administrator for a specified term.

C. Administrator

The official representative of the governing body is the administrator, who is responsible for the conduct of the hospital and who provides liaison among the governing body, the medical staff, the nursing staff, and other hospital personnel.

D. Medical Records Department

The governing body shall provide adequate physical facilities and trained personnel for a medical records department.

E. Food

Facilities and personnel meeting the requirements of the local sanitary code shall be provided for the storage, preparation, and distribution of food, including the more common special diets.

F. Drugs

For the protection of patients and hospital personnel, adequate facilities and qualified personnel shall be provided for the storage, accounting for, and dispensing of those drugs essential to the operation of the hospital.

II. MEDICAL STAFF

A. Organization

1. Duties and Responsibilities

The medical staff is responsible to the governing body of the hospital for the quality of all medical care rendered and for the ethical standards of practice in the hospital. How faithfully these responsibilities are discharged will depend both upon the character of the staff and the effectiveness of its organization in:

a. Selection of those recommended for staff appointments and hospital privileges.

b. Constant check upon the character and quality of medical care rendered.

c. Preparation of adequate medical records.

d. Conduct of staff or departmental meetings.

e. Conduct of conferences in clinical pathology.

2. Active Staff

Regardless of any other categories having privileges in the hospital, there shall be an active staff, properly organized, which shall perform all the organizational duties pertaining to the medical staff. These shall include:

a. Maintenance of the proper quality of all medical care and treatment in the hospital.

b. Organization of the medical staff, including adoption of rules and regulations for its government (which require the approval of the governing body), election of its officers, and recommendations to the governing body upon all appointments to the staff and grants of hospital privileges.

c. Other recommendations to the governing body upon matters within the purview of the medical staff.

3. Staff Appointments

a. PROCEDURE.—Staff appointments are made officially by the governing body. Recommendations are customarily made by the active staff, and in no case shall a governing body make an appointment to the staff without first requesting such a recommendation.

b. QUALIFICATIONS.—Members of the staff must be qualified legally, professionally, and ethically for the positions to which they are appointed.

c. TENURE.—Limited terms of appointment are preferred but not required. The prevailing custom is for a term of one year, with reappointments continued as long as qualifications remain satisfactory.

4. Officers

There shall be a president or chief of staff, a vice president or vice chief, a secretary, and such other officers as may be necessary for the government of the staff. These officers shall come from the active staff and shall be elected by the active staff, unless this is precluded by hospital organization.

5. Bylaws

Bylaws conforming to the requirements of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals shall govern the staff.

6. Committees

The following committees are required:

a. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. — The Executive Committee shall coördinate the activities and general policies of the various departments, act for the staff as a whole under such limitations as may be imposed by the staff, and receive and act upon the reports of the Medical Records, Tissue, and such other committees as the medical staff may designate. The Executive Committee shall meet at least once a month and maintain a permanent record of its proceedings and actions.

b. QUALIFICATIONS OR CREDENTIALS COMMITTEE.—The Qualifications or Credentials Committee shall review applications for appointment and reappointment to all categories of the staff, extend privileges in the hospital, and make appropriate recommendations to the staff in such cases.

c. JOINT CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.—The Joint Conference Committee shall represent the staff in meetings with the governing body of the hospital or a committee of that body.

d. MEDICAL RECORDS COMMITTEE.—The Medical Records Committee shall supervise and appraise medical records and shall insure their maintenance at the required standard. The committee shall meet at least once a month and submit to the Executive Committe a report in writing which will be made a part of the permanent record.

e. TISSUE COMMITTEE.—The Tissue Committee shall study and report to the staff or the Executive Committee of the staff the agreement or disagreement between pre-operative diagnoses and reports by the pathologist on the tissues removed at operation. The committee shall meet at least once a month and submit to the Executive Committee a report in writing to be made a part of the permanent record.

7. Staff Meetings

The sole objective of staff meetings is improvement in the care and treatment of patients in the hospital. Unless such objectives are met fully by the program set forth below (Contingent, II, A4), monthly meetings of the staff, not less than 12 in each calendar year, are required.

Active staff attendance shall average at each meeting at least 75 per cent of the active staff who are not excused by the Executive Committee for exceptional conditions, such as sickness or absence from the community.

Each active staff member shall attend 75 per cent of staff meetings unless excused by the Executive Committee for exceptional conditions, such as sickness or absence from the community.

In addition to matters of organization, the programs of such meetings must include a report of the Executive Committee and be limited largely to the review of current or recent cases in the hospital. Scientific programs not associated with the work of the hospital do not meet this requirement.

B. Departmentalization

Of necessity, the governing body of the hospital must delegate the responsibilities for medical functions to the medical staff, including recommendation as to the professional qualifications of all who practice in the hospital. Division of the staff into services to discharge these responsibilities promotes efficiency and is required in general hospitals of 75 beds or more.

The following requirements are considered minimal when a staff is departmentalized:

1. Personnel

Personnel of each service shall be qualified by training and demonstrated competence and shall be granted privileges commensurate with their individual abilities.

2. Chief of Service

The chief of service shall be the member of the service best qualified by training and experience and demonstrated ability for the position. He shall scrutinize the methods of care of patients on his service and make recommendations as to qualification of its members. His duties shall also include recommendation to the administrator as to the procurement of drugs, supplies, instruments, and equipment to insure maximum benefit to the patient.

Additional duties of chiefs of services shall include the following:

a. SURGICAL.—Recommendation as to sterile technic.

b. OBSTETRICAL.—(1) Supervision of care of newborn, if there is no organized service responsible for the nursery; (2) recommendation as to sterile technic.

c. CLINICAL LABORATORY.—(1) Participation in staff and departmental meetings; (2) reporting upon all specimens examined and maintaining a duplicate file of these reports in the department. This includes all tissues removed in the hospital.

d. X-RAY DEPARTMENT.—(1) Participation in staff and departmental meetings; (2) reporting upon all examinations and treatments, maintaining a duplicate file of these reports in the department; (3) insuring that safety precautions as to radiation and fire are observed strictly.

3. Consultations

Except in emergency, consultation with another qualified physician shall be required in all first caesarean sections and in all curettages or other procedures by which a known or suspected pregnancy may be interrupted. The same requirement shall apply to operations performed for the sole purpose of sterilization on both male and female patients. Included in consultations required under this standard are all those which are required under the rules of the hospital staff.

In major surgical cases in which the patient is not a good risk, and in all cases in which the diagnosis is obscure, or when there is doubt as to the best therapeutic measures to be utilized, consultation is appropriate. Obviously, judgment as to the serious nature of the illness and the question of doubt as to diagnosis and treatment rests with the physician responsible for the care of the patient. It is the duty of the hospital staff through its chiefs of service and Executive Committee to see that members of the staff do not fail in the matter of calling consultants as needed. A consultant must be well qualified to give an opinion in the field in which his opinion is sought.

A satisfactory consultation includes examination of the patient and the record and a written opinion signed by the consultant which is made part of the record. When operative procedures are involved, the consultation note, except in emergency, should be recorded prior to operation.

4. Conferences

Each service shall have frequent, periodic conferences, attended by all its members, to consider clinical and organizational problems peculiar to the service. Records of these meetings shall be kept, become part of the records of the medical staff, and be available for inspection.

III. NURSING DEPARTMENT

Adequate care of the hospital patient requires well-organized and efficient nursing. All hospitals must meet the following requirements for accreditation:

A. Functions and Responsibilities

Bedside nursing for all patients is a primary responsibility of the nursing department, which must function in close relationship with other services of the hospital, both administrative and professional. This requires the establishment of a departmental plan of administrative authority with a definite outline of responsibilities and duties for each category of nursing personnel. This shall deal not only with patient care but also with the educational responsibilities of the nursing department. Adequate nursing service must be provided for the surgical suite of the hospital in keeping with the size and degree of activity of this service.

B. Personnel

Personnel engaged for administrative or professional duties must be qualified by training and experience and demonstrated ability for their assignments. All hospitals must provide nursing personnel to meet the following minimum requirements:

Director of department.
Assistant to the director for night relief (night supervisor).
Department or floor supervisors.
An adequate number of nurses and ancillary personnel.

Nurses assigned to care for obstetrical patients and the newborn must not have other duties which may create danger of infection being carried to this service.

C. Records

Adequate records shall be maintained on forms acceptable to the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

D. Departmental Meetings and Conferences

Meetings of the nursing staff as a whole or of each department staff shall be held at least once each week for discussion of nursing problems related to care of patients and administration.

CONTINGENT

The following standards are desirable but are not absolute prerequisites to accreditation of all hospitals by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. Whether they must be met is contingent on the type, size, and organization of the hospital and its financial resources.

I. ADMINISTRATIVE

A. Dietary Department

1. Organization

There shall be an organized department directed by a qualified dietitian and integrated with other departments of the hospital.

2. Facilities

Facilities shall be provided which meet the requirements of the local sanitary code for the storage, preparation, and distribution of food for the general dietary needs of the hospital. In addition, there shall be provided facilities for the preparation of special diets.

3. Personnel

There shall be a chief dietitian and administrative and technical personnel competent in their respective duties.

4. Records

There shall be systematic records of diets, correlated with the medical records.

5. Conferences

Departmental and interdepartmental conferences shall be held periodically.

B. Medical Social Service Department

1. Organization

There shall be an organized department directed by a qualified medical social service worker and integrated with other departments of the hospital.

2. Facilities

Facilities shall be provided which are adequate for the personnel of the department, easily accessible to patients and to the medical staff, and which assure privacy for interviews.

3. Personnel

There shall be a director and administrative and professional personnel qualified in their respective duties.

4. Records

Records of case work shall be kept. Such records shall be available only to the professional personnel concerned.

5. Conferences

Departmental and interdepartmental conferences shall be held periodically.

C. Pharmacy

1. Organization

There shall be a pharmacy directed by a registered pharmacist.

2. Facilities

Facilities shall be provided for the storage, safe-guarding, preparation, and dispensing of drugs.

3. Personnel.

Personnel competent in their respective duties shall be provided in keeping with the size and activity of the department.

4. Records

Records shall be kept of the transactions of the pharmacy and correlated with other hospital records where indicated. Such special records shall be kept as are required by law.

5. Standards

Drugs dispensed shall meet the standards established by the United States Pharmacopeia, National Formulary, and New and Non-official Remedies.

6. Conferences

Departmental and interdepartmental conferences shall be held periodically.

D. Medical Library

1. Organization

There shall be a medical library directed by a competent medical librarian.

2. Facilities

Books and journals shall be catalogued and shall be readily accessible.

3. Personnel

Personnel shall be provided to assure efficient service to the medical staff.

II. MEDICAL

A. Organization

1. Other Categories of Staff

In larger hospitals and in some smaller hospitals the medical staff may include one or more of the following categories in addition to the Active Staff, but this in no wise modifies the duties and responsibilities of the Active Staff as set forth in (Required II) above.

a. HONORARY STAFF.—The Honorary Staff shall be former active staff, retired or emeritus, or of other physicians of reputation whom it is desired to honor.

b. CONSULTING STAFF.—The Consulting Staff shall be recognized specialists willing to serve in such capacity. A member of the consulting staff may also be a member of the active staff but only if the two appointments are made.

c. ASSOCIATE STAFF.—The Associate Staff shall be junior or less experienced members undergoing a period of probation before being considered for appointment to the active staff.

d. COURTESY STAFF.—The Courtesy Staff shall be those who desire to attend patients in the hospital but who, for some reason not disqualifying, are ineligible for appointment in another category of the staff. The privileges of each member of the courtesy staff shall be restricted to those which he is professionally qualified to exercise.

e. PRIVILEGES OF THE HOSPITAL.—Privileges of the hospital may be extended to other qualified physicians under the same conditions as apply to the courtesy staff.

2. Departmentalization

Departmentalization shall be required in general hospitals of 75 beds or more. The minimum division shall be a medical service and a surgical service, and an obstetrical service if such patients are admitted (see Required II B).

3. Other Committees of the Staff

Other committees of the staff are permissible in all hospitals. Members of the associate staff may serve on these committees.

4. Staff Meetings

a. In hospitals where adequate review of the medical work in the hospital is carried out by the Medical Records and Tissue Committees and appropriate study and action is taken by the Executive Committee on not less than a monthly basis, one meeting of the entire active staff must be held during each quarter of the year. At such meetings a report of the medical work of the hospital must be presented by the Executive Committee.

b. In well-organized and departmentalized hospitals, departmental conferences and clinicopathologic conferences may be substituted for meetings of the entire staff, provided that all of the medical work of the hospital is covered by one or another of such conferences and further provided that at least one meeting of the entire active staff is held during each quarter of the year. At such meetings a report of the review of the medical work of the hospital must be presented by the Executive Committee. The attendance requirement applies at all such meetings (see Required II, A 7, above).

c. Business or other executive sessions of the staff shall be conducted by the active staff and other categories of the staff may be excluded.

B. Departmentalization

Functional division of the medical staff into more than the minimal medical and surgical services is frequently desirable in larger hospitals. Each service may be autonomous, or may be a part of a major grouping such as a department. It is required that each service be organized and function as prescribed in (Required II B) above.

C. Anesthesia

The organization of the department of anesthesia shall be comparable to that of the services of the medical staff (see Required II). In addition, there shall be required in every case:

1. Preanesthetic physical examination, with findings recorded.
2. Anesthetic record on special form.
3. Postanesthetic examination, with findings recorded.

D. Dental Staff

The dental staff shall conform in general to standards established for the medical staff (see Required II). In addition:

1. Members of the dental staff shall be graduates of approved schools of dentistry.
2. Patients admitted for dental services shall be admitted on a surgical service and shall be the responsibility of the chief of that service.
3. Adequate medical survey, by a member of the service to which admitted, shall be done on each patient before dental surgery. Indicated consultations shall be held in complicated cases.

E. General Practice Department

A department of general practice shall be an organized segment of the medical staff comparable to that of other staff departments with the following limitations:

1. The responsibilities of this department shall be limited to administration and education. It shall not be a clinical service, and no patients shall be admitted to the department. If and when desirable, however, the department may be made responsible for conducting the outpatient clinic in whole or in part.
2. Since the department of general practice will not have a separate service, the members of the general practice department shall have privileges in the clinical services of the other departments in accord with their experience and training on recommendation of the Credentials Committee. In any service in which any general practitioner shall have privilege, he shall be subject to the rules of that service and subject to the jurisdiction of the chief of the clinical service involved.

F. Rehabilitation Department

The organization of the rehabilitation department shall be comparable to that of other departments of the hospital (see Required II).

G. Clinics

1. Outpatient Department

There shall be an outpatient department organized into sections (clinics), the number of which shall depend on the degree of departmentalization of the medical staff, available facilities, and the needs of the community.

a. ORGANIZATION AND PERSONNEL. — There shall be such professional and nonprofessional personnel as are required for efficient operation.

b. FACILITIES shall be provided to assure the efficient operation of the department.

c. MEDICAL RECORDS shall be maintained and correlated with other hospital medical records.

d. CONFERENCES, both departmental and interdepartmental, shall be conducted to maintain close liaison between the various sections within the department and with the other hospital services.

2. Special Clinics

The organization of special clinics shall be comparable to that of the outpatient clinic (see G 1) above. ■

programs concerned with standards of hospital service

EVERY MEMBER of a hospital governing board occupies a position of trust in the community. The community places its confidence in these men and women to see that their hospital provides the best care that the community can afford. To live up to the community's faith, the individual hospital trustee must know how to measure his hospital against accepted standards of hospital performance.

There are a number of agencies, both voluntary and governmental, that assist hospitals in achieving and maintaining high standards. Knowing these organizations and what each can do to assist him in his responsibility will make his task of trusteeship easier and more effective. Not knowing them can mean that the trustee fails in his trusteeship.

There are two main types of hospital recognitions. First are those given to the hospital as a whole—through membership, through listing, or through accreditation. Second are the recognitions awarded to a specific educational or training program for those hospitals that provide and conduct them, such as those programs conducted for nursing students and various paramedical groups.

Every hospital should strive to qualify for membership in the American Hospital Association and its state hospital association and for listing as an acceptable hospital in the American Hospital Association's annual Administrators Guide Issue. If over 25 beds, it should also seek accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. Further recognition will depend on the facilities provided, training programs conducted, and organizations that exist in the area.

HOSPITAL RECOGNITION CHECK LIST

1. Membership Recognitions

a. Is the hospital a member of the American Hospital Association?

b. Is the hospital a member of the state hospital association?

c. Is the hospital a member of its hospital council?

d. Others?

2. Hospital Recognitions

a. Is the hospital listed by the American Hospital Association?

b. Is the hospital accredited? (J.C.A.H.)

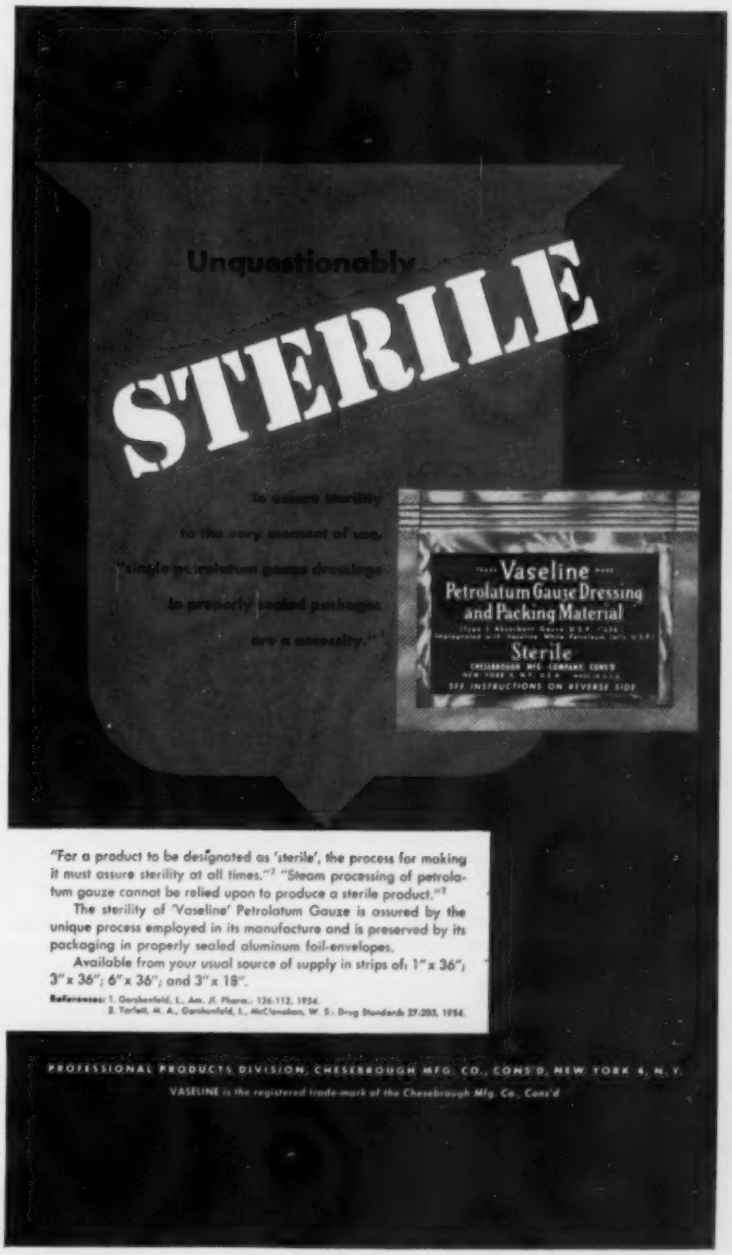
c. Does the hospital have an approved cancer clinic, diagnostic clinic, or detection center? (A.C.S.)

3. Educational Recognitions

a. Does the hospital have an approved program for graduate training in:

Internships?

Residencies?



(A.M.A. in coöperation with specialty boards and A.C.S. and A.C.P.)

b. Is the hospital listed for postgraduate training? (A.M.A.)

c. Does the hospital have an A.M.A. approved training program for:

Occupational therapists?
Physical therapists?
Medical technologists?
Medical record librarians?
X-ray technicians?

d. Does the hospital have a "state-approved" school of nursing? (Board of Nurse Examiners)

e. Does the hospital have an accredited school of nursing? (N.N.A.S.)

f. Does the hospital have an approved school for practical nurses?

American Hospital Association – approval program for hospital architects

Prepared by the Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee functioning under the Council on Hospital Planning and Plant Operation of the American Hospital Association.*

The American Hospital Association will prescribe qualifications for architects who wish to become Personal members and will require such candidates for membership to be certified to the executive director by a special Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee, thus providing its Membership Committee with informed guidance in considering these architects for membership. All architects approved for such membership will be eligible for listing in the Association's Roster of Hospital Architects whether or not they elect to apply for or to maintain Association membership.

In furtherance of its aim to promote the sound designing of hospitals and to facilitate the selection of specialized architectural talent and counsel for the many hospitals in the United States and Canada, the American Hospital Association will:

Extend to architects of proficiency in hospital design and good standing in their community an invitation to become Personal members; and

Promote the general practice of engaging hospital architects of established qualifications for the design of hospitals or as consulting architects to supplement the services of architects lacking specialized knowledge of hospital requirements.

The certification by the Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee will be made only after the committee's appraisal of primarily the applicant's knowledge of hospital facilities and requirements as demonstrated by hospital buildings he has erected and the provisions for such construction made in his creation of floor plans and specifications and its study of the applicant's demonstrated coöperative spirit, professional background, and the quality of his professional organization. Architect's qualifications will be considered with relation to the size and character of hospitals he has customarily been called upon to design and construct.

It is the basic intention of this program to maintain a roster naming the largest possible number of qualified architects. The qualifying procedure will give recognition to every architect able to demonstrate his proficiency in the field of hospital design and construction.

Experience demonstrated by a licensed architect who has carried a major responsibility for the creation of plans for hospital construction while in the employ of any other architect will be given full consideration by the Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee.

Applications for approval under the program will be made on a standard form to the director of the Association, who will also notify applicants of their acceptance or rejection. The Association will be under no obligation to approve any applicant or to give any reason for rejection. It is understood that any application may be returned with a request for additional information. Documents submitted for examination by the committee will become the property of the Association.

The Association will have the right to remove from the roster any listed architect for cause, upon action of the Association's Board of Trustees.

Any facts bearing on the fitness or qualification of a listed architect appearing to constitute cause for removal from the roster shall be examined by the Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee, and all complaints against any listed architect shall be made in person before the Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee which shall grant to the architect against whom any charges are made an opportunity to appear before the committee. All information thus collected, together with recommendations of the Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee, shall be submitted to the Association's Board of Trustees for final action.

Approval under this program will not of itself confer any degree, privileges, or license for the practice of architecture; nor is it the aim of this program to interfere with or to limit the professional activities of any duly licensed architect.

This Roster of Hospital Architects will be made available to all hospitals seeking advice on the design of new buildings. The Association's aim is to encourage the employment for hospital planning of architects from the roster. Its further aim is to encourage the engagement of approved architects in a consulting capacity to supplement the services of architects who lack a thorough knowledge of hospitals' technical requirements but whose other attributes have prompted their choice for the design of hospital projects. From association with qualified men in this manner, it is foreseen that the special knowledge needed for hospital design will be gained by architects whose careers are aimed at proficiency in this field.

Requirements for Applicants

Each applicant for approval must establish to the satisfaction of the Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee that:

1. He is of good character.
2. He is the architect with a major responsibility for the design of three hospital construction projects, of which at least one will have been constructed within a reasonably recent time, preferably within the previous five years. These projects, if other than totally new buildings, must be alterations or additions to hospitals of such a scope that will clearly indicate the candidate's familiarity with the major departments of the hospital plant. Two may be hospitals in the course of planning or construction.
3. He has demonstrated his readiness to work well together with both his principals and consulting talent.
4. He has had adequate previous personal experience in the general practice of architecture.

*For members of Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee, see American Hospital Association Councils and Committees.

5. He has had adequate training in architecture.
6. He is regularly licensed by one of the states having architects license law requirements, or his practice is limited to states not requiring licensing.
7. He has the resources of professional talent for the design of hospitals he will be called upon to design and construct.

General Information

Qualification fee	$25.00*
Personal membership dues	15.00
Annual non-member listing fee	1.00
Institutional membership dues	180.00
Initiation fee	10.00

Full membership services are available through Institutional membership to firms represented in the roster.

Applications to be addressed to the director of the American Hospital Association, 18 E. Division Street, Chicago 10, Ill.

Copies of the Roster of Hospital Architects are available upon request from the American Hospital Association. ■

*A subsequent examination fee of $25.00 is charged if examination is not waived by Hospital Architects' Qualifications Committee.

– relationship of hospital architect and hospital consultant

THE NEED FOR clarification of working relationships between architects and consultants is recognized by hospital administrators and governing boards, as well as by the architects and consultants themselves.

The American Institute of Architects published, as its Bulletin No. 356, a document titled "Functions of the Consultants." The American Association of Hospital Consultants collaborated in the development of this statement, and it is published here by the American Hospital Association because of its significance to administrators.

FUNCTIONS OF THE CONSULTANT

The Architect of any building has the legal and inescapable responsibility for the design, planning and supervision of construction of that building.

The Owner of any building has the duty to transmit to his Architect the purposes, scope, use pattern, and budget of that building.

The Consultant's primary function is to supplement the Owner's experience and judgment in matters of detail, special equipment, and operational techniques so that the Owner may—with the Consultant's help—transmit a better and more complete program to the Architect. He may also continue to advise the Owner in the carrying out of the program—in terms of building.

The duties of the Consultant should be:

1. Survey community needs to determine the number and type of buildings needed, population trends, areas of growth and decline.
2. Work with the Architect in the development of a written program.
3. Consult with the Architect on functional planning.
4. Review the Architect's preliminary plans.
5. Review final plans and specifications to determine that the program, as well as the intent, of the preliminary drawings and specifications have been properly carried out.
6. Advise and work with the Architect in planning and specifying the service-connected and built-in equipment.
7. Assume such responsibility as agreed to for listing all equipment that is non-service connected or that is not in the building construction contract.
8. Set up administrative pattern for the operation of the building.

Any Architect has the right and duty to supplement his own experience when a problem requires it. This is well established in engineering and similar fields. He may ally himself with Architects equipped to handle special problems, or he may recommend employment of a Consultant. In any case the Architect is expected to furnish leadership to all who help plan, and he must take responsibility for the coöperatively produced end product.

The Consultant either (1) is not, or (2) is a registered Architect.

In case (1), he is any person whose specialized knowledge and experience enables him to add value to the planning of a building project. He has proper place in the planning process. He should be compensated according to the value of his contribution. Since he is not an Architect, since he is an extension of the Owner, since he cannot relieve the Architect of any liability or obligation to plan the building, he cannot properly be paid by the Architect either directly or by a reduction in fee. His contribution benefits the Owner, supplementing the Architect's expected general competence, and he is therefore paid by the Owner above the architectural fee. The Consultant's name should appear on the drawings. The words, "Architect" or "Architectural" should not be linked with his name.

In case (2), the Consultant is a person of specialized experience who is also an Architect. The Owner may employ him for any of the phases of case (1), under conditions and compensation. And, in addition, he may render phases of architectural service and receive a share of architectural credit, provided that he furnishes complete and usable material, that the working relationship is clearly understood, and above all, that he assumes his full share of liability and obligation. Thus, the relationship is that of associate architects for that part of the work that is a shared architectural burden, and of Consultant to Architect for the programming and other phases described in case (1).

In the interest of effective teamwork, if the Consultant is chosen first, he should have the privilege of recommending for consideration Architects (more than one) but should not have final determination as to who is chosen. If the Architect is chosen first, he should have the same privilege in regard to the selection of Consultants.

The Board of Directors (of the American Institute of Architects) therefore concludes that:

1. The continuing object of the architectural profession is to produce better buildings. Consultants represent a resource toward this objective rather than an adverse interest to the architectural profession.

2. Consultants' specialized experience may be used in the fields of programming and organization of a specialized building type. The Consultant should communicate his advice in any form he sees fit, including schematics if he wishes. In so doing, the Consultant cannot, of course, relieve the Architect of any part of his responsibility for the quality of the end product unless he himself is a licensed Architect. Whenever the Consultant undertakes to make schematics, he should, before presenting them to the Owner, advise with the Architect in order that both the Consultant and the Architect will be in agreement on all matters pertaining to planning and space allocation.

3. When the occasion warrants and the project can be benefited thereby, members may recommend and work with Consultants who agree to and practice the division of duties stated above.

– hospital auxiliaries and volunteer service within hospitals

DURING THE LAST five years there has been a great increase in the use of the volunteer within the hospital. For some hospitals this has been extensive and intensive use; for other hospitals it has been the trial and error method with satisfactory results within certain limits; and for hundreds of new and comparatively new hospitals it has been a new experience. In this latter category, the hospital auxiliary, also new, has been given the responsibility of organizing the volunteer service.

The work of loyal, well-trained, and properly supervised hospital volunteers has made possible a continuance of uninterrupted hospital service during critical periods of our American history; and, as a by-product, hospitals have additional ambassadors of good will. This spasmodic use of volunteers for emergencies or special occasions has given way to the general acceptance of these women and men who are interested in the health needs of the community.

Each hospital should develop its own volunteer program on a permanent basis and on sound organization principles. It is advisable to start on a small scale and gradually add services that can be accomplished by voluntary assistance satisfactorily to the hospital administration, department heads, patients, and to the volunteers.

According to a recent study of hospital auxiliaries which included type V members of the American Hospital Association and other auxiliaries eligible for such membership, it is evident that the general areas of auxiliary contribution to the hospital—volunteer service, public relations, and financial assistance—are developed in line with the hospital administration. Emphasis is given to one or two or all of these areas to meet the needs of the particular hospital. Where public relations were stressed originally, it has been found that the auxiliary can and is willing to accept other responsibilities; where money-raising activities were the beginning, it has been found that results are far better where the auxiliary knows its hospital by actual serving within its walls and understands why it is raising the money; and finally where the administration has been willing to take the lead and direct the course, the auxiliary is accepted as a part of the hospital team devoted to providing better patient care.

The American Hospital Association has provided for the hospital auxiliaries by establishing an Institutional Membership Type V for hospital auxiliaries or groups serving the hospital and operating within the framework of the hospital's organization. Since September, 1949, more than 1,050 hospital auxiliaries in every state in the Union and in Canada, Hawaii, Mexico City, Puerto Rico, and Alaska have affiliated with the Association. The categories of membership and dues are based on the bed capacity of the hospital as follows: 100 beds or less, $30 per year; 101 to 300 beds, $50; and 301 or more beds, $100.

The Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries is appointed by the president of the Association. He likewise designates the chairman and vice chairman. There are 12 members with four appointed each year to serve a term of three years.

In the 1954 Administrators Guide the hospital auxiliary presentation was on "How to Organize an Auxiliary." This year the committee presents briefly basic information on "How to Develop Volunteer Services."

First the hospital administrator must decide whether or not there is a real need in the hospital that can be met by volunteer service. Therefore, the purpose of a volunteer program is:

1. To supplement the activities of the regular hospital staff by releasing professional personnel from duties not requiring professional training, thus increasing the effective service of the hospital and broadening the service to the patients.

2. To initiate or augment services to staff and patients that would otherwise be impossible through the routine program and budget of the hospital.

3. To further the public relations of the hospital through the message that an active, informed, and satisfied volunteer will carry to others.

It follows that the volunteer must understand her place in the hospital. Possibly the best way to present this relationship is in written form, such as a handbook, even if only mimeographed. This material may serve as a basis for training, for it includes rules of conduct and of hospital ethics and stresses regularity, promptness, and dependability.

The range of services that a volunteer may perform should be "spelled out," for there is a place for every worker according to her interest and her ability. The opportunities for service have vastly changed from the days when the primary idea of volunteer service was to bring care and comfort to the individual patient at the bedside. Likewise, volunteers should appreciate that a large portion of hospital operation is apart from direct patient care but is necessary. Service given in the many supporting departments of the hospital helps the hospital serve the patient.

There are several existing types of organized hospital volunteers such as:

1. The volunteer service group under a director who is paid by the hospital. This group works with, but independent of, the auxiliary.

2. The auxiliary whose members form the hospital's volunteer service group. In this case there is no other volunteer service in the hospital, and its director is usually chairman of the auxiliary's committee on volunteers.

3. The combination where the volunteer service group is a subsidiary of the auxiliary and maintained by the auxiliary, either with or without a paid director.

Where the chairman of volunteer service directs the program, she usually has a committee. Each member of the committee assumes responsibility for a section of the service, particularly the responsibility of seeing that the volunteers are properly trained and that they or their substitutes are on the job.

If the hospital has a paid director of hospital volunteers, there should be a committee for lay coöperation and leadership in the directing of the department. The administrator must face the fact that the volunteer program is one that takes time of the staff and financial support and requires certain working space. Briefly, a few elements to be considered, no matter how small or how large the program, are: staff time spent in training and retraining volunteers; office space, lounge, lockers or dressing space depending on the number of volunteers; and supplies for registering volunteers and maintaining records. The hospital administrator should determine before a volunteer program is inaugurated the policies relative to: meals to be provided, if service is during meal period; uniforms—will the hospital furnish and launder the uniform, or will the volunteer own her own and be responsible for it; for health requirements—should a medical examination be requested; and insurance provisions for those serving as volunteers.

The opportunities for volunteer service depend for the most part upon the willingness of the hospital staff to have volunteers within the departments and to teach them the routines. The personal satisfaction a volunteer receives on a job also depends on the staff's appreciation of her services and providing an atmosphere of friendliness.

The American Hospital Association designed a volunteer service pin many years ago that has been used very advantageously as recognition for service within the hospital. In 1952 the Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries established several membership services for the auxiliaries affiliated with the Association that have been helpful, namely, the cheery, cherry red color for uniforms, an emblem, and a member pin. The hospital or its auxiliary can work out its own system for recognition. (Write the Committee on Hospital Auxiliaries for suggestions or the library can furnish loan packages on volunteer programs. A Guide for Hospital Volunteer Services, edited 1954, $1.50, gives the mechanics for establishing a volunteer service program.)

In summary, a hospital to have a successful volunteer service program must consider initially and continuously these questions:

Is there a definite need that can be filled by volunteers?

Is there acceptance of such a program by the administration and staff?

Is there an assurance that sufficient recruits can be obtained as needed?

Is there financial support available to maintain the project?

Is there someone or some group to be responsible for the direction of the program? ■

– hospital-physician relationships

Report of the Joint Committee of the Boards of Trustees of the American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association (March 21, 1953)

(The following Statement on Hospital-Physician Relationships was adopted by the House of Delegates of the American Hospital Association August 30, 1953, at its convention in San Francisco. It was introduced to the House of Delegates by Ritz E. Heerman, then president-elect of the Association, with the remarks that herewith precede the Statement.)

The principles of relationship between physicians and hospitals are many and varied. As hospitals have grown in size and complexity, so have the relations of physicians to hospitals altered, inasmuch as the hospital has ceased to be only a workshop for the physician and a hotel for the patient and has become an important economic entity with profound influence upon the over-all medical care of the community.

In 1939 a number of broad principles of relationship were accepted in general by representatives of the American Medical Association, the American Hospital Association, and the medical specialties of pathology, radiology, anesthesiology, and physical medicine. Since that time, however, altering economic conditions, changing opinions, and misunderstandings have resulted in a series of unilateral resolutions and statements of principles that have prompted further disagreements and misunderstandings.

During the past two years, a representative committee of the Board of Trustees of the American Hospital Association has met five times with a similar committee of the Board of Trustees of the American Medical Association in an effort to resolve the differences in understanding and interpretation of resolutions that have been the source of disagreement among hospitals, physicians, and organized groups of hospitals and medical specialty organizations. As a result of these meetings, a statement of principles of relationships between physicians and hospitals was recommended unanimously for approval to both parent bodies.

The Board of Trustees of the American Medical Association has approved the joint statement. The following recommendation of the Reference Committee on Medical Education and Hospitals was approved by the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association on June 3, 1953:

"This report is excellent and is presented as a general statement of the principles which in some respects are more specifically stated in the 'Guides to the Conduct of Physician-Hospital Relationships.' Your Reference Committee recommends approval of this report."

The Board of Trustees of the American Hospital Association recommends adoption by this House of Delegates of the Report of the Joint Committee on Hospital-Physician Relationships appended to this report.

The joint declaration consists of a preamble outlining the problems of relationship between hospitals and physicians and of six guiding principles. The wording of the joint statement has been meticulously reviewed and represents in a number of instances a compromise between two points of view.

An important by-product of the work of the joint committee is the evidence of willingness of the American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association to review together problems affecting both physicians and hospitals. The meetings of the joint committee have been marked by understanding and friendliness and a very material advance in the mutual education of each group with the other's problems. Although the hospital committee originally was established by the Board of Trustees of the American Hospital Association to consult with the American Medical Association on problems of financial relationship between hospitals and physicians, it has become evident that there are many other problems of mutual concern and that continuation of the joint committee of the boards of the two organizations will be of great advantage — not only in studying and solving mutual problems but in promoting better understanding between hospitals and physicians.

THE REPORT

Physicians and hospitals are both concerned with rendering medical care. Their first consideration is their desire to promote the welfare of the patient and the community which they serve. Physicians are the individuals who provide medical care—whether it be in the home, the office, or in the hospital. With the ever-increasing complexity of modern medical care, however, the role of the hospital in providing an organization and an environment in which the physician may care for patients is assuming increasing importance.

Problems associated with the evaluation of services by hospitals and by physicians are different. It is possible to develop minimum standards in a hospital by which the adequacy, type, and quality of hospital service may be measured and compared and the cost per unit of service determined. It is much more difficult to evaluate the service of a physician. Specialty boards have done much to improve the quality of service. Although a specialty board may find that an individual has had good training and that he is capable of carrying out certain procedures, it cannot know what is in his heart and soul, his sense of obligation or degree of devotion to his duty.

With the increase in size and complexity, care rendered in hospitals tends to become less personal. In an effort to overcome this, hospitals have striven to indoctrinate all associated with them in the desirability of developing a more individual touch. Medicine, on the other hand, by its very nature, is more personal. It is both a healing art and a science. These two cannot be divorced without grave injury to medicine and to quality of care received by patients both within and without the hospital.

With the rapid advance of the science of medicine in the past 50 years, the importance of the art has been lost sight of by many. The tendency to put faith in the physical attributes of medicine—building, equipment, and technicians—has developed to an increasing degree a mechanistic rather than an intellectual and spiritual approach to medicine and its problems. One evidence of this has been an overuse of and overdependence upon technical procedures in hospitals at the penalty of increased operating costs and possible deterioration in the quality of performance of these technical procedures. This fault does not lie alone at the door of hospitals since physicians are responsible for the number and type of procedures ordered. It is, however, the result of our present operating procedures and illustrates the failure to integrate adequately the administrative and professional aspects of the hospitals.

On the other hand, the idea that a hospital should be merely a physician's workshop and supply the facilities and tools to allow him to work unhampered by restrictions is untenable. These tools are too numerous, too unwieldy, and too expensive. Their use needs the coördinated efforts of many individuals — nurses, dietitians, technicians of all kinds—as well as those of a physician or physicians. Their proper use still requires the fine discrimination in their selection and application that only a physician can supply.

The administrator, under the direction of a governing board, has the primary responsibility of running a good hospital in which good medical care is provided. He is concerned with costs, personnel, housekeeping, maintenance, and expansion of facilities, as well as with the medical care provided in the institution. It is his responsibility to coördinate into a smooth running whole the multiple activities of his institution. He looks to the board on the one hand and to the professional staff on the other. Due to the nature of his position and his responsibilities, he looks more directly to the board. His worth, however, must be evaluated finally on the basis of how well he maintains a good hospital within available resources.

The governing boards of hospitals are usually made up of men and women of demonstrated ability occupying positions of prominence and who have evinced interest in community welfare.

These individuals add strength to the hospitals by their names, general knowledge of affairs, money-raising powers, and prestige. They are not necessarily particularly informed as to the many intricate problems involved in the production of good medical care. While there are many who go deeply into the problem of hospital finances and management, few of them ever have the opportunity to make themselves familiar with the problems of medicine. The very nature of their assignment continues this segregation of thought. The board has frequent and often intimate contacts with the administrator and little or none with the professional staff or its representatives. If they have opinions on medical matters, they are likely to be gained from their personal medical advisor or by casual contacts at social gatherings or on the golf course. It follows, therefore, through no fault of his own, that the administrator may have undue influence with the board in professional matters, as well as those that properly come within his province.

Misunderstandings between hospital management and the medical profession arise from fears concerning each other. Some of these are reasonable and some are unreasonable. Some arise from conflicts of personality in particular institutions. These differences have been aggravated by certain general trends and by proposals coming from within and without the ranks of those providing medical care. A physician desires to maintain and strengthen the art of medicine, as well as promote the greatest possible advance in the science of medicine. He sees medicine more and more mechanized and coming more and more under the direction of administrators and boards in hospitals.

The administrator and the board are concerned not only with the over-all quality and quantity of service rendered by hospitals but also with the financial integrity of their institution. Certain of the factors involved in the production of good medical service come directly and properly under their control. They may be disturbed, however, by dissension in the professional staff, by clique or favoritism, or by failure of the staff to maintain a high quality of professional service. Hence, they may be tempted to interfere with professional control or professional practice. It should be noted that in the past professional standards have been raised substantially through the influence of professional groups and by the action of special committees of the professional staffs of individual hospitals. It would seem unnecessary to state that in a learned and highly technical profession the true qualifications of a member can only be judged by other members of the same profession. The administrator and the board are also troubled at times by the multiple and unreasonable demands made on them by the professional staff. This often arises from lack of understanding on the part of the staff members of the total responsibility of the administrator and the total load on the resources of the hospital.

It is a basic principle that hospital governing boards and administrators should not attempt to tell physicians how to practice medicine but rather must see that the hospital medical staff organizes to provide a framework for staff self-government which will maintain and improve the quality of medical care in the hospital.

Physicians, upon their part, must understand that the hospital governing board is legally and morally responsible for the entire operation of the hospital. The medical staff is responsible to the governing board for proper medical care in the hospital.

The medical profession has provided leadership in improving the quality of care in hospitals. Such efforts, however, do not always receive the support of every member of the hospital medical staff. The authority of the hospital governing board and administrator may be used to enforce rules not complied with by individual members of the staff, although the rules have been developed and approved by vote of the organized medical staff. This authority of the hospital governing board and administrator, when in proper focus, has been an important force in improving the quality of care in the hospitals of this country.

Lack of understanding and appreciation of these important relationships has caused much criticism and irritation between the members of the hospital governing board, the medical staff, and the administrator.

A continued increase in the utilization by hospitals of full-time professional men has disturbed many physicians. In the early days of radiology and pathology, this did not seem a threat to the profession. With the great increase in these services and the advent of anesthesiology, physical medicine, cardiology, and other specialities, this threat and the possibility of friction have increased. The practice in certain hospitals of engaging full-time obstetricians, surgeons, and other specialists has stirred this alarm further. The trend toward a situation, however, where hospitals with a complete full-time staff are engaged in the practice of medicine for a fee, is a matter of concern to many physicians. The profession justly feels that it may lose its independence and become merely a group of high grade technicians, however respected or highly paid. There are many who believe that a group of physicians working full time, under a lay board, will not produce the best of medical care. There are, however, those in the profession who support the principle of "full time" as a means of providing good medical care in a hospital.

Recognizing the intimate relationship and mutual problems, it follows, then, that there must be a clear and well-defined division of responsibility between the professional staff and the governing board of the hospital. Since they are mutually dependent upon each other in providing good care in the hospital, they should be mutually assured by methods of organization that neither can encroach upon the proper domain of the other. If all board members, administrators, and physicians were saints, possessed of infallible judgment, perfect in their training, and beyond reproach in their actions, there would be no problem. Since these assumptions are not true, it is necessary to adjust their relationships on a basis that will maintain the prerogatives of each. To accomplish coöperation and understanding, there must be a free flow of information and ideas between the professional staff, the administrative head, and the governing board. Each must accept the primacy of the other in certain fields, and all must recognize their interdependence in accomplishing their primary objective. Physicians must become familiar with problems of hospital administration and financing. If they do they will be more understanding and coöperative in conserving the hospital resources and less demanding in their own requirements. They will also be a much more effective instrument in gaining for a hospital community support for its proper operation.

In order to accomplish these objectives, some mechanism must be set up that will bring into frequent and close contact the partners in the hospital endeavor, the administrator, the governing board, and the professional staff. It is also necessary that the relationship between physicians and hospitals be clearly defined, and, as a guide toward this aim, the following principles are recommended:

1. The general purpose of hospitals and physicians is to aid each other in the delivery of the best possible medical care to patients. To attain such a purpose requires full coöperation among medical staffs, governing boards, and administrative heads of hospitals. One important method of attaining this objective is that duly designated representatives of the medical staff shall have free and direct access to the governing board with due consideration to the position of the administrator as chief executive officer of the hospital. The various methods by which the medical staff may have access to the hospital governing board follow. These methods are not listed in the order of their desirability, and there may be other acceptable liaison plans developed depending upon local conditions.

a. The executive committee of the medical staff and a committee of the governing board with the hospital administrator can serve as a joint committee.

b. Representatives of the medical staff can serve as members of the medical staff committee of the governing board with the hospital administrator.

c. Representatives elected by the medical staff can attend meetings of the hospital governing board.

d. Members of the medical staff can be members of the hospital governing board.

2. The professional evaluation of chiefs of service and members of the medical staff should be the responsibility of the medical profession. The method of selection of these individuals must be subject to local arrangement and local conditions. In any such arrangement, however, the principle of the freedom of the staff to make recommendations, subject to the approval of the hospital governing board, should be recognized.

3. The medical profession and the hospitals recognize that certain special services, such as anesthesiology, pathology, radiology, and physical medicine are integral parts of the practice of medicine and of the services necessary for hospital patients. Physicians in these fields should have the professional status of other members of the medical staff. Chiefs in these specialties must assume also the administrative responsibilities and relationships customarily associated with such positions.

4. The right of an individual to develop the terms of his services on the basis of local conditions and needs is recognized, but such contractual arrangements should in all cases ensure a) the policy of professional incentive for the physician and b) progressive development of the hospital departments involved, in order that increasingly improved services to patients may be rendered. Moreover, a physician shall not dispose of his professional attainments or services to any hospital, lay body, organization, group, or individual, by whatever name called or however organized, under terms or conditions which permit exploitation of the patient, the hospital, or the physician.

5. The chief of a hospital department may have access to financial information regarding his department.

6. It is desirable that means should be provided at local, state, and national levels for review of problems of individual hospital-physician relationship by organized medical and hospital groups. ■

– preservation of medical records

THE RESOLUTION on Preservation of Medical Records was adopted by the American Hospital Association House of Delegates in 1947.

WHEREAS, Medical records are the property of the hospital; and,

WHEREAS, The hospital is not required by law to preserve its records for any given length of time; and

WHEREAS, In most states the Statute of Limitations is less than twenty-five (25) years for bodily injury of adults; and

WHEREAS, In most states the Statute of Limitations requires that the right of suit for personal injuries sustained during the period of minority be exercised within two (2) years after becoming of age; and

WHEREAS, It is deemed unnecessary to preserve medical records in the hospital for any given time as proof of birth or age, verification of residence, proof of citizenship, or varification of family relationship, in view of the existence of official records for these purposes; and

WHEREAS, Hospitals, in general, are seldom or never called upon to produce medical records older than twenty-five (25) years, either for legal or scientific purposes; and

WHEREAS, It is deemed sufficient to retain basic information in an index or on summary cards in cases older than twenty-five (25) years; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the permanent preservation of medical records is an economic waste, and such records may be generally considered to have served their purpose and be eligible for destruction after twenty-five (25) years, except as may be specifically prohibited by ordinance, statute, law, or regulation. ■ growth in membership, service and payments to hospitals

AS 1954 ENDED, marking the twenty-fifth year of Blue Cross service, 6,000 hospitals in the United States, with 90 per cent of all general hospital beds, guaranteed hospital care to members of approved Blue Cross Plans.

Today 79 approved Blue Cross Plans are serving the United States and Alaska, one is located in Puerto Rico, and five others serve the Dominion of Canada—a total of 85 Plans. The majority of Blue Cross members are enrolled through their place of employment.

Annual data of Blue Cross membership and services are shown in the following three tables. A current listing of approved Blue Cross Plans is given in Section II, pp. 347.

bookshelf for administrators – basic references

PRINTED MATERIAL often floods the hospital administrator's desk, and much of this literature is of only current interest. Some of the publications, however, are so basic in philosophy or application that they merit special attention. Twenty-five outstanding books in the field of hospital organization and administration are here listed. All but three might be considered fundamental reading on the subject of hospital management and of permanent reference value. Three—the Administrators Guide Issue, the Cumulative Index of Hospital Literature, and the Hospital Purchasing File—are suggested as ready reference documents.

In addition to these recommended titles, the pamphlets, manuals, and miscellaneous publications of the American Hospital Association, sent regularly to Institutional members, should be in every administrator's library.

The books in this list may be borrowed from the Library of the American Hospital Association. It is urged, however, that they be made a part of every administrator's individual library to assist in solving his daily administrative problems. Purchase copies must be ordered directly from the publishers; the American Hospital Association can furnish for sale only its own publications.

civil defense and the improvised hospital

(Editor's Note: The following article is based on material supplied by the Federal Civil Defense Administration.)

THE IMPROVISED HOSPITAL is designed to provide part of the answer to what President Eisenhower has called "the awful arithmetic of the atomic bomb," and knowledge of it is important to the hospital administrator serving on a local civil defense committee. Of 5,549 hospitals reporting to the American Hospital Association, 54.2 per cent are so represented on community disaster planning committees; and of 5,890 hospitals reporting, 37.8 per cent have their own written plans for mobilization of employees and medical staffs and 31.9 per cent have a written mobilization plan integrated in a master community plan.

The administrators of these hospitals especially will be in a position to inform their local communities of the improvised hospital and perhaps be instrumental in obtaining units for their communities to provide for the emergency of their own hospitals being thrown out of service by the explosion of an atomic bomb.

There are some 70 "critical target areas" for civil defense purposes in the United States, with nearly 70 million people living within them. It is within the military capabilities of at least one potential enemy to strike at all of these areas by air on one-way flights. If 42 of these critical target areas were attacked, with only nominal size atomic bombs, total casualties could reach 13 million. Of these, four million would be surviving casualties, and an additional three million, who would ultimately die, would survive the first 24 hours after the attack. Thus the nation would be faced with the prospect of caring for seven million persons—the burned, the crippled, the maimed, and the irradiated—who would need hospitalization in the first nightmarish hours after the bombs fall.

The 70 critical target areas now have only approximately 650,000 hospital beds in all categories—not enough even for day-by-day requirements. Many of the hospitals are unsuitable for casualty care because they are limited to the care of tubercular, neuropsychiatric, or criminal patients. Many of them are located within the areas of concentric zones of complete destruction from an A- or H-bomb. For this reason alone, civil defense planners should be prepared to discount most existing hospitals in attacked cities. At best, the hospital beds available after mass attack could not possibly care for more than about a million casualties. The most practical immediate answer is the improvised hospital.

The 200-bed improvised unit is intended to provide early hospitalization of seriously sick and injured casualties as close as possible to the stricken area for life-saving initial and reparative treatment and emergency surgery. The improvised hospital can also be used in a natural disaster, as well as after an enemy attack.

Take, for example, a typical medium-sized American city attacked in daytime. The city has adequate warning and is struck with one of the smaller A-bombs. In round numbers, here is what would have to be anticipated:

Total daytime population	669,000
Total casualties	60,000
Killed	27,000
Surviving casualties	33,000

However, of the 60,000 initial casualties, 42,000 would survive the first 24 hours of attack, and two-thirds of these, or 28,000 additional persons, would require hospitalization

City's usable beds in existing hospitals	4,000
Beds destroyed	2,000
Remaining usable beds	2,000
This bed capacity might, in emergency, be tripled to make a grand total of usable beds in existing hospitals	6,000
Beds needed	28,000
Beds usable	6,000
Beds to be improvised	22,000

In the light of almost certain shortage of hospital facilities in event of an enemy attack, the Federal Civil Defense Administration has recommended this 200-bed improvised hospital to the states and cities to meet their problem of insufficient emergency hospital beds. The medium-sized city used here as an example would need at least 55 of these units if each cot were used twice during the emergency. Nationally at least 6,000 units would be needed.

The 200-bed improvised hospital weighs approximately 13 tons, occupies about 1,800 cubic feet, consists of approximately 400 separate packages, crates, and bundles, and is transportable in a single van.

The hospital can be set up in any suitable building, such as a modern school, gymnasium, or public buildings of not more than two stories, with or without a basement. Approximately 15,000 square feet of space are required for the hospital. It may be set up in approximately four hours by some 30 professionals and semi-trained auxiliaries, with untrained volunteers helping. The hospital may be relocated if secondary enemy strikes make this necessary.

Manning the hospital would require a team of 10 physicians, 20 graduate nurses, 125 trained auxiliaries, such as nurses' aides, and 75 untrained auxiliaries.

The 200-bed size is considered best for civil defense purposes because of its mobility, efficiency, and economy of personnel and equipment. It is patterned after the 60-bed Mobile Army Surgical Hospital, which in Korea provided superior surgical care for non-transportable battle casualties as close as possible to the front lines.

When set up in a building, the hospital includes a triage room for classification of casualties; wards for shock, burn, and fracture victims, depending upon the types of casualties received at a specific unit; three operating rooms; sterilizing room; central supply room; pharmacy; laboratory; and the usual wards. It also has an x-ray room equipped to turn out 60-second x-rays (paper positives), with its own portable generator and transformer.*

The hospital includes some 290 different types of equipment, such as five folding operating tables, a portable field x-ray unit, 200 folding canvas cots, plus sheets, blankets, and pillows; surgical knives, forceps, probes, retractors, scissors, sponges, sutures, anesthesia, antiseptics, antibiotics, bandages, dressings, tourniquets, and the like. Enough expendable supplies, such as drugs, medicines, and dressings, are included for the first 36 to 48 hours of operation. These would be replaced from nearby sources.

All items are procured through the Armed Forces Medical Procurement Agency. The total cost of the 200-bed hospital complete is approximately $20,000. The hospitals are being procured by FCDA to the extent of available funds. They are on order for states and cities under the matching funds program in which the federal government pays half the cost. ■

*Another 15 kw generator is included in the event local power is disrupted. A 1,500-gallon rubber-impregnated nylon fabric water tank with pumping unit for emergency water supply is also provided with the hospital unit.

dietary equipment – aids to planning

THE ARCHITECT'S role in selection and arrangement of equipment is a two-fold job: to know the newest and best food service equipment available to meet the dietitian's predetermined needs, and secondly, to work with her in

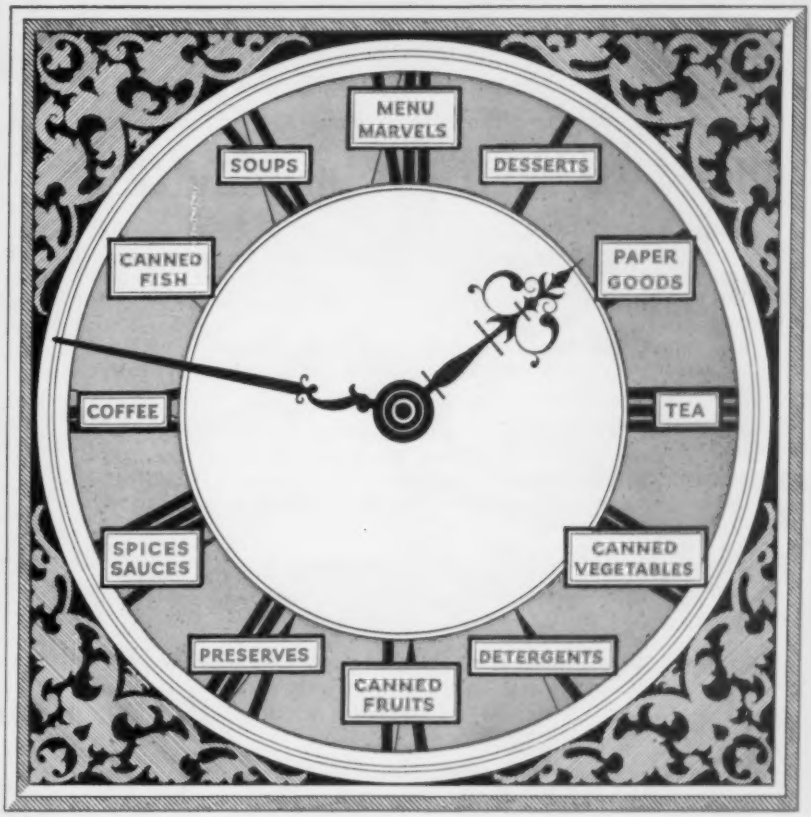
Around the clock with Sexton



Every time the clock ticks Sexton Foods are being served to pleased guests with greater profit studying the simplification of functions to establish the best arrangement for the equipment.

A closer look at the new improved food service items available reveals five general trends in equipment construction and composition:

1. Emphasis on greater built-in sanitation in food service equipment.
2. Development and use of more portable food service equipment.
3. Use of the modular principle in developing food preparation, storage and service equipment and utensils.
4. Introduction of new systems of cooking and heating food.
5. Use of new metals and alloys in food service equipment.
6. Greater competition for the older established companies.

Sanitation standards for food service equipment, recently developed by the National Sanitation Foundation in coöperation with industrial and health officers, have led the way for greater simplification of equipment surfaces and cleaning procedures.

The NSF standards direct that the legs on equipment have closed feet and concealed height adjustments. Coved corners on interiors of drawers, sinks and bins, and elimination of all crevices too narrow to clean by hand also have been recommended. Enclosed spaces must be fully sealed against entry of vermin, or shall be provided with removable access panels.

NSF Standard 3.221 calls for range hoods or canopies with curtain walls or tile, metal lath and plaster, or stainless steel. Filters should be removable.

Sanitation codes for dishwashing machines provide for prevention of back-syphonage, complete drainage of wash tanks, more powerful and longer rinse sprays at hotter temperatures and automatic wetting agent dispensers.

PORTABLE EQUIPMENT

More and better portable equipment items are appearing on the market. Many of these items are of particular benefit to small hospitals. Several manufacturers have developed portable vegetable peelers (15-lb. size) and slicers, food cutters, steam cookers, fry and small tilting kettles and mixers scaled to meet the needs of the small hospital, but performing the same efficient job as the larger models.

Built-in lift-jacks and caster assemblies for floor-mounted electrical cooking units permit ease in servicing and cleanup. Portable pan and tray racks, generally made of aluminum, have been developed for use as dough proofers and pastry storage and pan cabinets. Made originally for shipping pastry products from central bakeries, these pan and tray racks have found wide acceptance in hospitals.

Small, portable, plate and cup rack dispensers with automatic counterbalances are now available. Light in weight, these dispensers will fit under counter tops or in small niches. They can be loaded in the dish pantry and delivered to the point of service without reloading.

one food conveyor gives you dozens of inset arrangements for your selective menus

This new electrically-heated food conveyor is designed specifically for selective menus. It will contribute to successful diet-therapy in your hospital. Eighteen insets in various sizes can be placed in the wells in different combinations. These provide innumerable top deck arrangements to meet the requirements of any given meal. In addition to the two rectangular wells, there are two round wells for soup and broth and two heated drawers for special diets and rolls. The entire unit is made of heavy-gauge corrosion-resistant stainless steel. Top and body are of seamless, crevice-free construction, meeting the strictest hospital standards for sanitation and durability. If you're contemplating the "selective menu" idea, write for information about Model ALS-4922.

EIGHTEEN square and rectangular stainless steel insets in various sizes can be arranged in many combinations.

food service equipment is the tray conveyor for hot and cold foods. Similar to the airline type of food service unit, this tray carrier stores hot foods in the heated compartment, while the balance of the meal is placed on the patient's tray and stored in the chilled section. Soups and hot beverages are stored in bulk in insulated containers and are served at the time the other hot foods are placed on the tray.

In the construction of the above portable items and in all types of food service equipment, an effort has been made to coördinate the size of the cooking, baking, storage and service equipment with racks, baker's sheets, serving pans and trays that will be used with them.

The two most common sizes in food service equipment are the 12 by 20 inch steam table pan and the 18 by 26 inch baker's sheet. Following the principle of modular coördination, ovens would be designed 26 inches wide (inside dimension) to accommodate two, 12 by 20 inch steam table pans on each oven rack. Steam cookers would hold one or two, 12 by 20 inch steam table pans on each shelf. Electric food warmers would be so designed to accommodate two, 12 by 20 inch steam table pans or one, 18 by 26 inch baker's sheet.

The fourth trend in food service equipment that I have observed is the introduction of new methods of cooking and heating foods. Infra-red heat lamps are being used for both roasting and warming products.

In electronic cooking, food cooks from the inside out almost instantly without heating the oven or dish containing the food. At a recent exhibition, frozen casserole dishes were cooked in less than two and one-half minutes. The manufacturer of the electronic cooking equipment emphasized that this item is a supplementary tool, and does not replace conventional cooking methods.

USE OF NEW METALS

There has been a decided shift in the use of metals in food service equipment. There are four main reasons for the changes:

1. Desire for corrosion-resistance. Sheet metal sinks made of galvanized steel had a life expectancy of 10 years. Monel metal sinks made in 1920 are still in use. Stainless steel became a competitor when it was demonstrated that it had a slightly better resistance to certain food acids and had a brighter lustre than monel metal.

2. Desire for damage-resistance. Porcelain enamel and agate utensils are considered unsafe when the coating is damaged. Aluminum and stainless steel utensils resist breakage.

3. Desire for simplification in the maintenance of the equipment. Retinning of copper and steel utensils and nickel and silver plating were a large part of the early food service equipment business. Any utensil or piece of equipment which was overheated had to be resoldered—a costly operation in repairing coffee urns and similar hot food units.

4. Enforcement of sanitation regulations. Managers of public feeding establishments have demanded

BE SAFE AND SOUND

Sound out for safety in your hospital! Whether your hospital is large or small, you need a safety program. Safety first measures can lower insurance rates and drive away the worry bug. Make your hospital truly a haven of safety, increase efficiency, improve public relations and morale with a safety program. Safety is a sound investment!

FOR SAFETY'S SAKE the American Hospital Association offers its members four helps:

HOSPITAL SAFETY MANUAL, published jointly with the National Safety Council. Detailed information on hospital safety procedures is given. An effective guide for starting a safety program, it includes essential aids for departments. Cost is $2.00.

DEVELOPMENT OF FIRE EMERGENCY PROGRAMS, the manual to help you develop a standing emergency program. Cost is $1.50.

SAFETY INSTITUTE AND WORKSHOP, held annually for anyone concerned with hospital safety. Studied are all aspects of safety in the hospital, its relation to insurance costs and claims, operating costs, employee attitudes and public relations.

HOSPITAL SAFETY SERVICE, sponsored by the AHA and published by the National Safety Council. Subscribers receive basic material and techniques for a sound, practical safety program. Included are a News Letter, cards, posters, technical papers, releases, the Hospital Safety Manual, patient leaflets, report forms and analysis charts. Cost is $10.00.

equipment designed to meet sanitation standards, and the food service equipment industry has responded through the selection and fabrication of better materials.

Today there are many types of alloys and metals used by the food service equipment industry. For example, type #302 stainless steel is nonmagnetic, keeps a bright lustre and has reasonably good resistance to most food chemicals.

Type #430 stainless steel is magnetic, darker in color than type #302 when it is exposed to the air, and is not recommended for direct contact with vegetable juices, hot vinegar, beer, mayonnaise or salt water. It pits readily if it is left in contact with chlorinated rubber in a moist condition, such as refrigerator door gaskets. The material is excellent for architectural applications, is a better conductor of heat than type #302, but is more difficult to fabricate because of brittleness.

GREATER COMPETITION

New equipment companies from time to time introduce new products with entirely new tools and dies. If the new product is good, then the older established companies use their experience and facilities to make even further improvements in their products and their customers profit by such competition.

This trend has been going on for a long time, retarded somewhat by depression and war, but noticeably stepped up in the past five years. These new products have offered far greater challenges than production managers like to endure.

With the knowledge of what equipment is needed and the kinds and sizes available, a study should be made to determine the most effective arrangement.

Scale templates (cutouts of each piece of equipment drawn to scale) are then made. The scale most often used is one-fourth inch equals one foot. This scale represents one-forty eighth of the full size. When the sizes and capacities of the equipment available are known, then a template of each equipment item can be made.

The templates are grouped into work units to provide the most direct flow of foodstuffs from the point of issue or receipt to the finished product. This arrangement of functional units determines the total area needed.

In remodeling, the problem is to arrange the equipment to best meet the needs in the space available.

Equipment consultants experienced in planning often use tracing paper over the scaled plan in making rapid sketches of alternate layouts of equipment. If one is not facile with the drafting pencil and scale rule, however, the "paper doll" system of using scale templates is easier. When an arrangement of the equipment appears to be final, then each template can be pasted, taped or pinned down in position on the floor plan.

When the best arrangement for the equipment has been determined and the working space allotted for, then a schematic draw-

SUMMARY

While there are standard pieces of food service equipment that can be described by name and catalogue number, only careful planning of the use of each piece of equipment will assure the dietitian and the architect that the selection of equipment is correct. By processing the menu through the equipment to determine the needs, studying the equipment items available and systematically arranging the equipment by the scale template method, the planning team is assured the equipment will meet the need. ■ training course for hospital housekeepers

THE NEED FOR DRAWING new talent into the hospital housekeeping field prompted the American Hospital Association's Committee on Hospital Housekeeping to outline a program for the training of such personnel. The Jewish Hospital of St. Louis agreed to make a pilot study of the value of such a program, and its executive housekeeper, Mrs. Anne Julian Vestal, prepared the syllabus printed here and instituted the one-year course.

The course is planned with approximately 20 per cent of the time in classrooms and 80 per cent in on-the-job situations. Examinations are scheduled at frequent intervals, usually at the completion of each of the several divisions of the course. Responsibility is graded upward until the final six months of the course when students are given the full duties of assistant housekeeper, with approximately one month's service as executive assistant.

Teaching is by a combination of many methods: lecture, demonstration, socio-drama, and original research. Basic principles are related to practices at the hospital and contrasted with known practices at other institutions for evaluation. Importance is placed not only on housekeeping but on an understanding of total hospital operation.

Field trips are planned to point up particular problems, as well as to test the students' ability to observe and make evaluations in the light of newly-learned principles. Trips are made to other institutions and to manufacturing firms.

Trainees are given a certificate upon satisfactory completion of the course.

Prerequisites are as follows: age—35 to 45 years; education—high school minimum, some college preferred; work background—some business experience preferred.

In using the syllabus, the instructor must first gather and study pertinent books, pamphlets, clippings, and the like. A classified clipping file is a great help. She should provide herself also with materials to enable her to follow the syllabus. Other materials to have on hand are a collection of hospital floor plans cut from magazines and samples of wood, glass, terrazzo, various tiles, and metals.

Original work should be done by the students on such points as job analysis and time studies. The instructor describes in detail the method to be used, makes one study and goes through it with the students, and then lets them do the rest.

In summary, the instructor must know the subject; must reduce each point to basic material; must organize the material to be presented; and must use the "tell, show, try, and check" technique of teaching.

Following is the syllabus.

SYLLABUS FOR HOSPITAL HOUSEKEEPING COURSE

PART I—ADMINISTRATION AND OPERATION

A. Orientation
  1. History of the hospital
  2. Objectives of the program
  3. Housekeeping in various types of hospitals
  4. Scope and future of housekeeping field
  5. Hospital organization charts
    a. Model
    b. Own
  6. Housekeeping department organization charts
    a. Model
    b. Own
  7. Administration of the housekeeping department
    a. Responsibility of the executive housekeeper to the hospital
    b. Duties of the executive housekeeper
    c. Departmental functions
    d. Duties of each classification of housekeeping employee
  8. Special problems of housekeeping in hospitals
  9. Tour of the hospital under guidance
  10. Assigned tours for independent observation
  11. Study of floor plans
    a. Breakdown into natural physical divisions
    b. Breakdown by activities in each area

B. Basic cleaning operations
  1. General rules of all work
  2. Dusting
    a. Dry—low
    b. Dry—high
    c. Damp wiping as a substitute for dusting
  3. Sweeping
    a. With brooms
    b. With dust mops
  4. Mopping
    a. Damp
    b. Wet
    c. Machine scrubbing
    d. Wet pick-up
  5. Waxing
  6. Wall-washing
  7. Window-washing
  8. Shade cleaning
    a. Venetian blinds
    b. Shades

C. Composition of, and cleaning methods for, surfaces to be cleaned
  1. Floors
  2. Walls
  3. Windows (glass)
  4. Shades
  5. Metals
  6. Woods
  7. Plastics

D. Supplies and equipment used in effective cleaning and maintenance of surfaces found in hospitals
  1. Heavy equipment—scrubbers, polishers, wet/dry vacuums, wall-washing machines, scaffolds, wheeled equipment, maids' carts
  2. Light equipment — brooms, brushes, mops, buckets, dust pans
  3. Supplies—soaps, detergents, abrasives, waxes, polishes, wetting agents
  4. Paper goods—towels, tissue, drawer liners, paper sacks
  5. Paints

6. Marking, issuing, control, inventory, maintenance of equipment
7. Tests for equipment and supplies
8. Research projects

E. Job analysis, time studies
1. Executive housekeeper
2. Assistant housekeeper
3. Training supervisor
4. "Senior maid" or supervisor
5. Maids
6. "Housemen" (all categories of male personnel in housekeeping department)
7. Painters
8. Sewing room personnel

F. Production standards
1. Teamwork
2. Vertical vs. horizontal assignments
3. Gilbert formula

G. Planned work schedules and routines
1. Daily—departmental, individual employee
2. Weekly—departmental, individual employee
3. Periodic—departmental
4. Daily order book
5. Job cards—men
6. Order of the day—women
7. Opening department day
8. Closing department day

H. The application of schedules and routines in problem areas
1. Operating room
2. Delivery room and labor rooms
3. Nursery
4. Morgue
5. Animal room
6. Laboratories
7. Pharmacy
8. Emergency
9. Clinics
10. Dietary
11. Isolation areas
12. Grounds care
13. Outside maintenance—courts, alleys, tunnels

I. Bacteriology for housekeepers
1. Isolation
2. Waste disposal

J. Pest control

K. Personnel administration
1. Role of the personnel department
2. General personnel policies—factors in staffing
3. Selection of personnel—placement of the handicapped
4. Hiring procedure
5. Indoctrination
6. On-the-job training
7. Supervision—human relations—morale building—status
8. Salary schedules
9. Payroll detail
10. Uniforms
11. Upgrading
12. Efficiency ratings
13. Procedure in accidents
14. Use of clinic facilities
15. Handling grievances
16. Discharge details—the terminal interview

L. Interdepartmental relationships

M. Community relations
1. Complaints
2. Lost and found
3. Volunteer workers
4. Coöperation with other hospitals

N. Office procedure and records
1. Time clock vs. "sign in"
2. Payroll time book
3. Daily order book
4. Files
5. Room index
6. Record of requisitions
a. To store room
b. To maintenance
7. Forms for control—housekeeping department
8. Forms issued by hospital for interdepartmental use
9. Departmental manual
10. Personnel records
11. Sewing room records
12. Paint shop records

O. Budget and financial aspects of housekeeping
1. Factors in making budget
2. Purchasing and contracts
3. Requisitions—stores control systems
4. Salvage—conservation
5. Determination of per diem costs
6. Inventories

P. Safety
1. Fire prevention
2. Fire and disaster programs

PART II—HOSPITAL FURNISHINGS AND DECORATIONS

A. Furnishings for patient areas (except linens)
1. Room furniture
2. Springs, mattresses, pillows

B. Furnishings for nonpatient areas
1. Offices
2. Day rooms

C. Study of color (film will be shown to illustrate)

D. Textiles (draperies) in patients' room

E. Operation of the paint shop

F. Scheduling work of wall-painters

PART III—LINENS—THE LINEN AND SEWING ROOMS

A. General background relating to hospital linens

B. Specifications, purchase, use, and care of
1. Sheets
2. Pillow cases
3. Blankets
4. Pads
5. Spreads

C. Linen standardization
1. Per bed
2. Operating room
3. Delivery and labor rooms
4. Nursery
5. Dining room
6. Other areas
a. Labs
b. Morgue
c. X-ray
d. Clinics

D. Systems of identification and control
1. Color systems
2. Marking by area
3. Marking by number
4. Combination systems

E. Methods for requisitioning
1. From store room
2. From laundry
3. Pack systems

F. Storage of linens
1. In general store room
2. Racking in the laundry
3. Racking in the linen room
4. Floor linen supply room
5. Floor linen carts

G. Linen room equipment
1. Shelves, racks
2. Trucks
3. Hampers
4. Bags
5. Tables

H. Repairs, discards, replacements

I. Inventories

J. Sewing room
1. Relation to housekeeping and laundry
2. Factors in setting up a sewing room
a. Location
b. Size
c. Staffing
d. Equipment—power machines, serger, grommeter, marking
3. Mending—considerations and problems
4. Manufacturing—determination of costs
5. Draperies and slip covers
6. Use of the hospital auxiliary in linen projects

PART IV—LAUNDRY

A. Laundry procedures, equipment, staffing
1. Chutes or other methods of receiving soiled laundry
2. Sorting and classification
3. Equipment
4. Supplies—water softeners, soaps, sours, bleaches, starch
5. Washing formulae
6. Drying
7. Starching
8. Ironing
9. Personnel
10. Problems—safety, losses

B. Precaution techniques

C. Diaper service

D. Tests for supplies—tensile strength loss

E. Cost control—records

F. Time-saving projects

G. General linen room

H. Commercial laundering of hospital linens
1. Transportation to and from laundry
2. Controls—in transit and at laundry

1 Nurse Takes Care of 8 to 12 Post-Operative Cases...

with the Improved COLSON Post-Anesthesia Stretcher

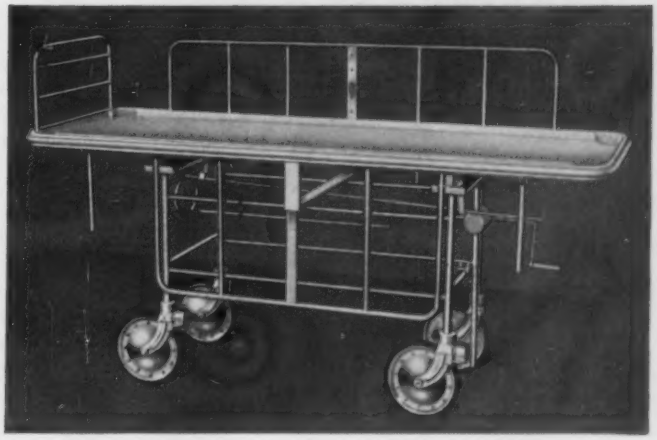
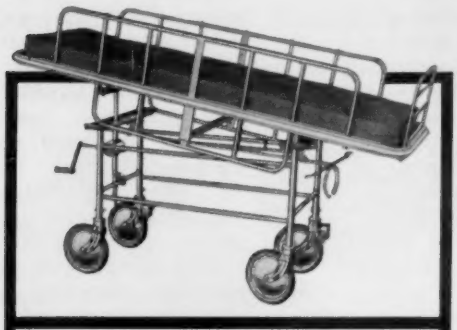
More and more progressive hospitals are adopting the modern procedure of post anesthesia recovery rooms. Here patients are under the supervision of experts in post-operative care—with blood pressure units, gas tank and suction pump at hand in case of emergency.





Colson model No. 6878 Post-Anesthesia Stretcher with litter raised to shock position. Elevating unit automatically locks in any position up to 20" elevation.

Now, with the COLSON post-anesthesia stretcher, one nurse can take care of 8 to 12 post-operative patients—a substantial savings in time, money and skilled help.

The new model No. 6878 stretcher shown here is the latest thing in post-operative care. Made of sturdy arc-welded tubular construction it is equipped with every device for the patient's comfort and safety, including easy-rolling, positive-locking casters with conductive rubber tires.

GENERAL NOTES

(Statement of Requirements)

Student must keep a notebook, which will be graded at regular intervals.

Student must pass regularly spaced examinations and not proceed with next section of course until she can do so.

All time losses must be made up.

Formal reports must be made relating to all field trips attended.

Students will engage in actual work of departmental employees for a period of one month (in problem areas).

Students will be given supervisory responsibilities for a six-month period.

Students will be given an internship at another hospital or spend some time in observation of housekeeping at another hospital in the area.

FIELD TRIPS

1. To see equipment and supplies made or demonstrated.
2. To a commercial house that supplies furniture and furnishings.
3. To a textile supply house.
4. To a model linen room.
5. To see older and more modern types of decorations.

property and liability insurance – coverage checklist

THE DIFFICULTY in insurance programming is deciding what not to insure. The contracts listed below are the major ones generally available to hospitals. It is not represented that all of them should be part of a hospital's insurance portfolio. It is, however, the opinion of the Committee on Insurance for Hospitals that whatever is uninsured should be uninsured as the result of careful consideration. This check list may show areas of hospital operation that are uninsured and that the hospital administration may wish to reconsider.

For planning purposes a hospital's insurance program may be conveniently divided into four areas of potential loss.

I. Financial Loss Caused by Destruction of Property

A. Policies and/or endorsements (additions) to policies generally applicable to the hospital's property, such as buildings, power plant, furniture, fixtures, surgical and therapeutical equipment, medicines, supplies, and other property of every description.

1. Fire and lightning—includes damage to property removed from premises endangered by fire and lightning damage to electrical apparatus, whether or not fire ensues.
2. Extended coverage endorsement—includes the following:
   a. Windstorm and hail—includes damage to the interior of the building and/or its contents from water, rain, sand, snow, or dust if the building shall first have been damaged by force of wind or hail.
   b. Explosion—excludes damage caused by explosion of rotating machinery, certain pressure containers, and steam boilers.
   c. Riot, riot attending a strike, and civil commotion—includes resulting direct loss caused by theft, looting, or pillage.
   d. Smoke—limited to damage caused by the sudden, unusual, and faulty operation of a heating or cooking unit.
   e. Aircraft and vehicles—includes damage caused by objects falling from aircraft but excludes damage caused by vehicles owned or operated

KENWOOD HOSPITAL BLANKETS

Designed expressly for Hospital use

No ordinary blanket will meet the strict requirements of hospital usage. That is why Kenwood Hospital Blankets are especially designed and constructed to combine patient comfort with long wearing qualities—provide the correct type of blanket for different hospital departments. Hospital name may be permanently stamped or embroidered on all blankets at slight extra cost.

Kenwood Hospital Blankets feature:

Heavy preshrinkage to withstand frequent launderings.
Securely overstitched ends or ribbon bound as preferred.
Properly sized for hospital beds.
Special blankets for wheelchairs, stretcher tables, ambulances.
Luxury blankets in decorator's colors for private rooms.

Kenwood Hospital Blankets are sold only by Kenwood salesmen or direct from the Contract Department of Kenwood Mills. Send for swatches, prices and full information.

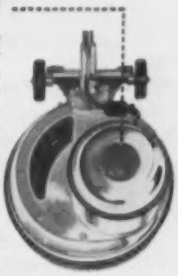
Kent's famous cleaning team — a K-line floor machine wet scrubbing and a Quiet Jumbo Vacuum Cleaner (for dry or wet pickup).

Comparison tests tell the story...

For faster, more efficient polishing or scrubbing of corridors or rooms, clean with KENT. Time after time, in actual usage tests, Kent machines outperform competitive makes, slicing labor costs by as much as 18.9%.

Balanced Power is the Key



Imperfect balance and torque — sidewise pull of the motor — make ordinary floor machines difficult to operate. Kent's exclusive OFFSET MOTOR DESIGN counterbalances handle weight and minimizes torque. The result is BALANCED POWER — permitting faster work . . . causing less fatigue. Kent's Balanced Power also means that all weight is on the brush, distributed so evenly the job is done better . . . so brushes wear evenly and last longer.

The fully-enclosed motor insures longer life, and the two gears which run in a grease bath are cushioned to withstand starting shock.

NEW! Jumbo Vacuum Cleaner...ideal for all Institutions

Special by-pass motor — no dust or moisture from vacuum stream can enter motor and cause damage. For wet or dry work.

by the hospital.

3. Vandalism and malicious mischief—excludes breakage of glass constituting part of the hospital building but includes glass building blocks.
4. Water damage — excludes damage caused by flood, backing up of drains or sewers, and leakage of automatic sprinkler systems.
5. Sprinkler leakage—limited to damage caused by the leakage or discharge of automatic sprinkler systems.
6. Earthquake — excludes damage to the hospital's land.
7. Steam boiler and machinery (power plant)—includes damage to hospital property caused by the explosion, cracking, bulging, or other failures of power-producing equipment or machinery and damage to the equipment itself.

B. Policies pertaining to specific items of the hospital's property.

1. Elevator damage—includes damage to the elevator caused by collision of the elevator with other objects and damage to the elevator's machinery and equipment and hospital property being carried on the elevator.
2. Plate glass breakage—excludes damage caused by fire.
3. Automobile damage—limited to damage caused by certain specified hazards or damage from nearly any cause, including collision, to vehicles owned by the hospital.
4. Radium floater—includes all risks of loss or damage to radium with a few exceptions.
5. Fine arts floaters — includes, with a few exceptions, all risks of loss or damage to unusually valuable items of hospital furnishings — paintings statuary, exhibits, and the like.
6. Special property floaters—includes, with a few exceptions, all risks of loss or damage to particularly valuable items of equipment easily subject to accidental damage or theft—camera equipment, microscopes, and certain surgical and therapeutic equipment, and the like.

II. Financial Loss Caused Indirectly by Destruction of Property

Financial loss not directly caused by a specific hazard, yet resulting from it, is called consequential loss.

If the hospital were forced to cease operation for a period of months because of a fire, the fire insurance would pay for only the value of the property destroyed. The resulting loss of income can be insured against through a form of consequential loss insurance.

If the records of the hospital's accounts receivable were destroyed by fire, the fire insurance would pay for only the value of the paper upon which the records were written. The loss of income resulting from the hospital's inability to determine or to prove its accounts receivable can be insured against through a form of consequential loss insurance.

A. Policies applicable generally to the hospital's property.

Business interruption insurance—indirect loss from any of the hazards for which direct insurance may be provided, including, as selected, fire, lightning, windstorm, hail,explosion, riot, riot attending a strike, civil commotion, aircraft, vehicles, smoke, vandalism, malicious mischief, earthquarke, and the like.

B. Policies pertaining to specific items of the hospital's property.

1. Steam boiler and machinery—written as part of other insurance applicable to power-producing equipment covering indirect loss from any of the hazards for which direct insurance on the equipment may be provided, including explosion and other failures.
2. Accounts receivable—indirect loss resulting from destruction of accounts receivable records from any cause with few exceptions.

III. Financial Loss Caused by Payments to Third Parties

A. Liability imposed by law.

1. Automobile—liability imposed by law arising out of the ownership, operation, maintenance, or use of automobiles.
2. Elevator—liability imposed by law arising out of the existence, maintenance, or use of elevators, their equipment, machinery, or shaftways.
3. Hospital professional—liability imposed by law arising out of malpractice or error or mistake in rendering or failing to render medical, surgical, dental, or nursing treatment, and the like, including dispensing of food and medicines.
4. Manufacturers' and contractors'—liability imposed by law arising out of special, though frequent, situations in which the hospital corporation may act in the capacity of a building contractor.
5. Owners', landlords', and tenants'—liability imposed by law arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of the hospital premises.
6. Owners' protective—liability imposed by law arising out of acts of independent contractors over whom the hospital may have exercised or omitted to exercise a degree of supervision.
7. Power plant (boiler and machinery policy)—liability imposed by law arising out of the ownership, operation, maintenance, or use of power-producing equipment and the like.
8. Products—liability imposed by law arising out of products manufactured, sold, handled, or distributed that are not covered by either the hospital professional or owners', landlords', and tenants' libility policies, such as the operation of a coffee or gift shop open to the public.

B. Other.
   1. Contractual—legal liability arising out of agreement to assume the liability of others.
   2. Workman's compensation—statutory liability to employees for injuries sustained during the course of employment.

IV. Financial Loss Caused by Theft

The several forms of burglary insurance exclude dishonest acts of employees while fidelity bonds exclude dishonest acts of any except employees.

A. Financial loss caused by dishonest acts of employees.
   1. Individual fidelity bonds—financial loss caused by the dishonest act of a specifically listed and bonded employee.
   2. Blanket bonds — financial loss caused by the dishonest act of any employee or any group of employees, none of whom need be specifically listed.

B. Financial loss caused by acts of other than employees.
   1. Mercantile safe burglary insurance — financial loss caused by loss of money, securities, or other property as the result of the burglary of the contents of a safe.
   2. Money and securities destruction—financial loss caused by loss of money or securities as the result of actual destruction, disappearance, or wrongful abstraction.
   3. Office burglary and robbery—financial loss caused by loss of money, securities, or other property as the result of burglary, robbery, holdup, kidnaping, or theft, under a series of separate insuring clauses.
   4. Depositors' forgery bond—financial loss caused by the forgery of money instruments, including those purporting to have been made by an agent of the hospital.

C. Comprehensive
   Comprehensive dishonesty, destruction, and disappearance policy—a combination of a blanket fidelity bond, a depositor's forgery bond, and theft insurance. ■ hospital libraries: objectives and standards

THESE OBJECTIVES and standards, first published in 1953, represent the joint effort of committees of three library associations: the American Library Association, the Special Libraries Association, and the Medical Library Association. They are reprinted here with permission of these three organizations, and it is hoped that they will be a valuable guide in the development and improvement of libraries in hospitals.

Part I. Patients' Library

OBJECTIVE.—It is the objective of the Patients' Library to furnish recreational and additional educational reading materials for all patients, with the purpose of contributing to their recovery and welfare. The basic needs for the fulfillment of this objective are a qualified staff that recognizes the differences in reading tastes of the long-term and short-term patient; adequate library space with a comfortable non-hospital atmosphere; an active collection of books, pamphlets, magazines, and related materials; necessary equipment for preparing materials for use and for bringing them to the non-ambulant patient. In attaining its objective, the Patients' Library coördinates with all departments of the hospital concerned with the personal welfare of the patient. It shares with other departments of the hospital the responsibility of social adjustment and vocational education of the patient. The Patients' Library promotes reading as a satisfying experience both in and out of the hospital.

STAFF

Number.—The size and type of hospital are the chief determinants of the number of librarians. Mental hospitals, tuberculosis sanatoriums, and orthopedic and children's hospitals will require approximately one-third more service than patients in general hospitals. Local conditions, such as physical layout of the hospital and aid received from nearby libraries, are also to be considered in the personnel requirements of a Patients' Library. The following is the standard ratio of size of general hospital to number of librarians:

Size	Library Staff
Up to 300 beds serviced	Minimum of 1 professional librarian Clerical assistance as required
301-500 beds serviced	Minimum of 1½ professional librarians Minimum of 1 clerical assistant
Over 500 beds serviced	Minimum of 2-5 professional librarians Minimum of 1 or more clerical assistants as required

Qualifications.—Since the Patients' Librarian is part of the medical program of the hospital, too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the necessity for having an understanding of the nature of illnesses and their effects upon people. In nearly all Patients' Libraries, the staff is so small that the librarians must have broad professional competence to handle all aspects of the work. This is in contrast to academic or public libraries where the work is generally so organized that librarians specialize in reference, circulation, or processing. Consequently, the satisfactory performance of the duties in a Patients' Library requires the following education, experience, and personal qualifications:

EDUCATION

Head Librarian:

Collegiate baccalaureate degree.

Graduation from an accredited library school.

A course in hospital librarianship desirable.

Assistant Librarians: Same as above.

Clerical Assistant: High school graduation, including typing and filing training.

EXPERIENCE

Head Librarian: Three years of experience in working with the public in a library, with at least one year of hospital library service.

Assistant Librarians: One year of experience in working with the public in a library desirable.

PERSONAL QUALIFICATIONS: A basic qualification for the librarian is ability to approach and get along with patients. It is necessary that the librarian have a sympathetic understanding of and liking for people so that she can work with patients of different backgrounds. She should have sufficient physical strength needed to push book trucks in corridors, wards, and ramps. An attractive appearance resulting from good grooming is a particular asset.

Title.—The title Librarian is restricted to those individuals possessing the educational, experience, and personal requirements for Head Librarian or Assistant Librarians outlined above. All others in charge of a library are designated as Library Attendant or Clerk or by their own official titles.

Status

Librarians should have professional Civil Service classification where such is in effect.

Organizationally, the library should be on the same level with other hospital departments. The Head Librarian should be rated as a department head with corresponding salary and privileges, including attendance at staff conferences on patients. Coöperation with other staff members in order to integrate library service for patients with the rest of the hospital services should be emphasized.

Duties of the Head Librarian.—The Patients' Librarian provides library service to all patients. This professional service includes general administration, book selection, circulation, reference, and promotional work. In addition, an intensive grade of readers' advisory service is furnished to patients representing all types of background and interests. The needs of patients in the wards are analyzed, the requests are reviewed, and appropriate books and magazines are selected for the ward trips. The reading inclinations of long-term patients often tend to require a more diversified book collection and more long-range reading aid programs than those of short-term patients. The Librarian must know patients and books so that the proper book can be selected in keeping with the physical condition, mental state, educational background, special interests, and reading habits of each patient. Non-ambulatory patients should be visited regularly twice a week, with special requests delivered as soon as possible. In the book selection process the Librarian must read current reviews and study current bibliographies so that she can make an intelligent selection.

LIBRARY COLLECTION

The number of volumes in a hospital library is in relation to the size and type of hospital. The basic number of volumes for a general hospital library should be approximately as follows:

Size of Hospital	Number of Volumes
Up to 300 beds serviced	Minimum of 8 books per patient
301-500 beds serviced	Minimum of 7 books per patient
501-800 beds serviced	Minimum of 6 books per patient
801-1,100 beds serviced	Minimum of 5 books per patient
1,101-1,500 beds serv'd	Minimum of 4 books per patient

Special hospitals, such as orthopedic, children's, 200-400-bed mental, and the like, will need at least 25 per cent more volumes; tuberculosis sanatoriums at least 50 per cent more; and the 1,000-bed or larger mental hospital will usually need fewer volumes than noted in the above scale.

BUDGET.—After the library is established, an adequate library budget, administered by the Librarian, should be provided annually in the hospital budget for books and related materials, supplies, and equipment. A definite amount should be set aside to provide for an annual turnover of at least one-fifth of the book collection. The purchasing of library items should be in accord with the business procedures of the hospital. Often the budget can be supplemented by gift solicitations through library book fairs, teas, staff donations, and duplicate exchanges.

LOCATION AND EQUIPMENT

Book Trucks.—There should be a sufficient number of book trucks to maintain an adequate schedule.

Library.—The library should be restricted to library activities and not be used as a conference room or laboratory of one sort or another. A reasonable amount of quiet should be assured the library. Accessibility is a basic requirement so that ambulatory patients will not have too far to walk and wheel chair patients gain easy entrance to the library. The library should be centrally located in the hospital or wherever large groups of patients gather. Plenty of natural light is essential, as well as adequate artificial light at night. The library should be attractive in appearance, making use of harmonious blending of colorful furnishings.

Added Space Requirements.—The library is the logical place for study and writing if such space is not elsewhere available in the hospital. An office for the Librarian where she may work in privacy is also recommended. A library workroom is a basic space requirement because of the needs of book and other material preparation prior to use.

Furnishings and Equipment.—Standard adjustable shelving should be provided. Where space permits, shelving not over five feet in height should be provided in order that wheel chair patients can see all the books. Hassocks are needed for patients with casts. In order that patients with any type of injury may be comfortably seated, chairs of various heights should be in the library. Further, practical tables for writing and study are to be included. Bulletin boards and a dictionary stand are part of the equipment. A standard catalog file cabinet, at least one typewriter, and adequate telephone extensions should be in every library.

HOSPITAL LIBRARY SERVICE PROVIDED BY OUTSIDE ESTABLISHED AGENCIES.—When a hospital cannot provide its own library service because of its small size or for other reasons, agreements can be entered into with outside established agencies for services to the library. The pattern for this service varies with local conditions and with the agency furnishing the service. Among outside agencies providing library service to hospitals are public libraries, state departments having supervision over state institutions, and health and welfare organizations.

CONCLUSION.—Because of the value of Patients' Library service as an adjunct to the treatment and recovery of the patient, all efforts should be made to meet these minimum standards. If they cannot be met immediately, service should be established and subsequently developed to meet the standards.

Part II. Hospital Medical Library

OBJECTIVE.—It is the aim of the Hospital Medical Library to assist and further the education, reading, and research program of the professional staff of the hospital by providing and maintaining, in an adequately staffed and equipped library, sufficient medical and allied scientific literature and library services to meet the requirements of the staff in studying and giving constantly improved patient care.

STAFF

Qualifications

EDUCATION

Head Librarian: The Librarian should be a certified Medical Librarian as provided by the code for the training and certification of Medical Librarians of the Medical Library Association (see Appendix). Training in the biological sciences is desirable. A reading knowledge of at least German and one Romance language is desirable.

Assistant Librarian: Where the size of the Medical Library, hospital, staff, and program requires an assistant librarian, she should have the same qualifications as the Medical Librarian, though not necessarily such extensive experience.

Clerical Assistant or Library Assistant: High school graduation and competence in typing. Some knowledge of a foreign language is desirable.

Status

The Medical Librarian should be appointed by and directly responsible to the medical director or the administrator of the institution (hereinafter known as "the administrator").

The Medical Librarian should be regarded as a department head with concomitant salary, authority, duties, and privileges, including attendance at staff meetings, lectures, conferences, and conventions. The salary should meet the standards recommended by the American Library Association, the Special Libraries Association, and the Medical Library Association.

Duties

Head Librarian: The administrative functions of the Medical Librarian are to determine Medical Library policy, subject to approval of the administrator and the Committee on the Library; to prepare the Medical Library budget and control the expenditure of allotted funds; to coöperate with the personnel department in the selection of library employees; to suggest names for appointment to the advisory Medical Library Committee; to submit periodic reports to the administrator; to represent the hospital Medical Library at meetings of library organizations and attend the meetings of allied professional associations. The library service functions of the Medical Librarian include the selection of medical and allied scientific literature, library materials, and equipment; aiding in medical research through the rendition of bibliographic, reference, and inter-library loan services insofar as possible; classifying and cataloging the collection; orienting the medical staff and hospital personnel to the services and functions of the Medical Library.

Assistant Librarian: The duties of the Assistant Librarian should be to assist the Medical Librarian as may be necessary, with special emphasis on the Library service functions.

Clerical Assistant or Library Assistant: Duties of routine and clerical nature as assigned by the Medical Librarian.

LIBRARY COLLECTION AND ITS USE

The collection should conform to the most recent minimum standards established by the American Medical Association and the American College of Surgeons.

An up-to-date collection of high quality should be maintained. In a general hospital of 100 beds or over, the collection should not be below a minimum of 1,000 volumes of medical and allied scientific literature. With few exceptions, books and monographs should have been published within the last ten years. In purchasing, stress should be put upon periodicals. The Medical Library should receive regularly not less than 25 periodicals in good standing and own the most important medical and allied scientific indexes.

Material should be selected in accordance with the types of service represented in the hospital and with the quantity of educational, clinical, and research work done by the staff. The location of the hospital in regard to other medical libraries and medical centers should also govern the size of the collection: A hospital in an isolated locality needs a larger and more representative collection than one with easy access to other medical libraries.

The collection should be made as freely available as possible, and Medical Library rules and regulations formulated with a view to providing maximum library service.

The Medical Librarian should make arrangements for inter-library loans to provide such material as is needed by the hospital and medical staff, but not in the hospital's own collection. Similarly, the hospital should make its collection available for the same service to other libraries.

The Medical Library hours should conform to the most recent minimum standards established by the American Medical Association and the American College of Surgeons.

BUDGET

Sources

The Medical Library budget should be part of the regular hospital operating budget. Staff dues, assessments, gifts, and endowments are always encouraged and welcome.

From the Medical Library budget should be met the salaries of the Medical Librarian and her staff, the cost of journal subscriptions and binding, book purchases, the acquisition and maintenance of equipment and supplies. Where not otherwise provided for, library association dues and the Medical Librarian's convention expenses should also be paid from the budget.

LOCATION AND EQUIPMENT

The Medical Library should be so located as to be easily and conveniently accessible to its patrons, preferably in that part of the hospital which is most frequented by the medical staff.

The reading room should be used for research and study, not for conference purposes.

The Medical Library should be attractively and comfortably furnished, with stress upon good lighting.

Open shelves and sufficient stack space for the expansion of the collection should be provided.

An office and a workroom for the Medical Librarian should be provided.

The Medical Librarian's office is essential for administrative work and personal conferences and should contain adequate space for desk, typewriter, and for the shelving of special reference tools.

The workroom should be sufficiently spacious for the processing and repair of books, assemblage of material for binding, and contain enclosed shelves, a lavatory, and electrical outlets.

MEDICAL LIBRARY COMMITTEE

The Medical Library Committee should serve in an advisory capacity to the Medical Librarian and form a link between the library and the medical staff in regard to administrative and library policies. It should be composed of the Medical Librarian and about three to five members of the medical staff who are actively interested in the promotion and development of the Medical Library.

The Medical Library should be adequately represented on any hospital committee empowered to make suggestions or decisions affecting the library.

CODE FOR THE TRAINING AND CERTIFICATION OF MEDICAL LIBRARIANS

1. For the purpose of improving the standards of medical librarianship, the Medical Library Association hereby establishes a Code for the Training and Certification of Medical Librarians.

2. In accordance with the provisions of Article IV of the Bylaws of the Association, the Committee on Standards for Medical Librarianship will grant Certificates of Medical Librarianship to duly qualified persons under the conditions stated below.

3. Certification is understood to give evidence of special training or recognition of special knowledge and experience in the field of medical librarianship.

4. Certificates granted or issued by the Association shall not confer or purport to confer upon any person any degree, legal qualification, privilege, or license, nor purport to be issued by or in pursuance to or by virtue of any statutory or governmental sanction or authority. Recipients of Certificates shall not by virtue thereof become members of the Association nor shall they be entitled by virtue thereof to vote on any matters whatsoever.

5. The following types of certificates will be granted and under the following conditions:

a. 1) A Charter Certification may be granted to those who, on the day of the program's adoption, have completed five years of professional experience in a medical or allied scientific library (hereinafter designated as a "medical library.") Experience will be judged as professional or nonprofessional on the basis of the study, Descriptive List of Professional and Nonprofessional Duties in Libraries, of the American Library Association Board of Personnel Administration as applied to medical libraries by the Committee on Task Analysis of the Medical Library Association.

2) On those who have entered the medical library field within five years prior to the program's adoption a Charter Certification may be conferred, subject to the conditions as stated in the preceding paragraph, on completion of the period of five years' experience.

3) On a date five years from the time of the adoption of the plan for certification, Charter Certification will be closed.

b. Certification at Grades 1, 2 and 3, corresponding to approved levels of medical library training, may be conferred by the Committee on Standards for Medical Librarianship on those presenting proper credentials of completion of prescribed training. Grades of training as unanimously approved by the Medical Library Association are:

1) Completion of college and library school training, including an approved course of instruction in medical library service.

2) In addition to the completion of training for Grade 1, a term of supervised experience of at least

3) Graduate work in library science and in medical and related subject fields, leading to an advanced degree; or, completion of a two-year course correlating work in library science, medical library work, and medical subject work, leading to an advanced degree.

c. Certification may be granted, in exceptional cases, to persons presenting credentials other than those as here specified, by examination given at the discretion of the Subcommittee on Certification on the basis of individual case study.

6. Applications for Certification will be received by the Subcommittee on Certification, which will evaluate the credentials of the applicants and make recommendations to the Committee on Standards for Medical Librarianship.

7. Each applicant for certification shall be required to sign the following pledge:

"I agree to hold said Medical Library Association, Inc., its members, examiners, officers, and agents free from any damage or claim for damage, or complaint by reason of any action they, or any of them, may take in connection with this application, any examination, the grade or grades given with respect to any examination and/or the failure of said Association to issue to me a Certificate of Medical Librarianship."

8. Any certificate may be revoked at any time, for cause, by order of the Committee on Standards for Medical Librarianship. A hearing shall be granted on request of the person whose certificate is in question.

9. A nominal fee shall be paid to the Medical Library Association for each certification issued by the Committee on Standards for Medical Librarianship.

Part III. School of Nursing Library

OBJECTIVE.—The purpose of the School of Nursing Library is to forward the educational objectives of its particular school. Its primary function, therefore, is to aid in the education of students by maintaining an attractive and adequately equipped library which will complement, correlate, and extend the curriculum and serve the library needs of the faculty. Its secondary purpose is to provide stimulating, informative, and enriching non-curricular and recreational reading material.

STAFF

Qualifications

EDUCATION

Head Librarian: The School of Nursing Librarian should have a library science degree. Medical or school librarianship courses and background in biological and social sciences are desirable.

Assistant Librarian: Same as above.

Clerical Assistant: High school graduation including training in typing and filing.

EXPERIENCE

Head Librarian: Three years of general library experience in a college, public, or school library are recommended.

Assistant Librarian: One year of general experience in a library is desirable.

PERSONAL QUALIFICATIONS: Ability to work with students, faculty, and staff.

Status

The Librarian should be appointed by and responsible to the Director of the School of Nursing.

The Librarian should have faculty rating, with corresponding salary, obligations, and privileges. The salary should meet the minimum salary standards recommended by the American Library Association, Medical Library Association, and Special Libraries Association. The Librarian should be adequately represented on any school committee empowered to make suggestions or decisions affecting the library.

Duties

Head Librarian: The administrative functions of the School of Nursing Librarian are carried out with the advice and support of the Library Committee. Among these functions are:

To determine library policy, subject to approval of the director.

To prepare the library budget (where the hospital and school library facilities are combined, the library budget should be separate and controlled by the School Library Committee).

To coöperate with the personnel department in the selection of library employees.

To suggest names for appointment to the Library Committee.

To report periodically to the director and the faculty.

To plan and execute library publicity.

To represent the library at meetings of library organizations and attend the meetings of allied professional associations.

The service functions of the School of Nursing Librarian include:

Orientation of the students, faculty, and hospital staff to the services and functions of the library.

The rendition of bibliographic, reference, and inter-library loan services.

Selection of professional books and related materials in coöperation with the faculty and of extracurricular literature.

Classification and cataloging of the collection.

The Librarian participates in the nurses' conferences, lectures, curriculum, meetings, clinics, and demonstrations on nursing care within the organization.

LIBRARY COLLECTION AND ITS USE

The library collection should conform to the recommendations of the National League for Nursing.

The number of volumes in the library depends on the size, type, and location of the school. The hospital Nursing School Library in an isolated community needs a larger collection than a university Nursing School Library with easy access to the medical school or other libraries.

The Librarian should borrow from other libraries in accordance with the needs of her patrons and offer the same service to other libraries whenever possible.

Reference and loan material should be utilized in accordance with the regulations established by the Librarian and the Library Committee.

Ward libraries for the use of the nurses in each clinical division of the hospital should be considered part of the collection and be under the supervision of the Librarian.

BUDGET

The library budget should be provided annually in the regular school operating budget. Endowment funds, gifts, library fees, and fines may be a supplementary source of income.

The budget should include the salaries of the Librarian and staff, the cost of books, pamphlets, periodicals and related materials, binding, the acquisition and maintenance of equipment and supplies, and institutional membership in library associations. It is recommended that the Librarian's conference expenses be met by the budget.

LOCATION AND EQUIPMENT

The library should be located near classrooms, laboratories, and faculty offices, where moderate quiet is assured.

The reading room should be used for reading and study, not for conference purposes. It should be attractively and comfortably furnished, with stress upon good lighting. Reading room space is usually estimated at 25 square feet per person. The room should provide seating for 15 to 20 per cent of the potential school enrollment.

An office and a workroom for the Librarian should be provided. The Librarian's office is essential for administrative work and personal conferences and should contain adequate space for desk, typewriter, and for the shelving for special reference tools.

The workroom should be sufficiently spacious for the processing and repair of books, assemblage of materials for binding, and contain enclosed shelves, running water, and electrical outlets.

Equipment.—Open shelves and sufficient stack space for the expansion of the collection should be provided. Adjustable shelving is desirable.

SCHOOL OF NURSING LIBRARY COMMITTEE.—The School of Nursing Library Committee serves in an advisory capacity to the Librarian and forms a link between the library and the faculty. It should be composed of the Librarian, three to five faculty members representing various areas of the curriculum, and a representative both of the graduate nurses and of the student body. The Committee holds regularly scheduled meetings and additional meetings whenever necessary.

CONCLUSION.—Because of the value of library service as an integral part of the education of the student nurse, every effort should be made to meet these minimum standards. ■ outline for evaluating hospital care of the newborn

STANDARDS and Recommendations for Hospital Care of Newborn Infants has been published by the American Academy of Pediatrics to promote adequate protective measures for infants born in hospitals. It is the most comprehensive, most practical, most authoritative, and yet the most simple publication ever prepared on the care of newborn infants. Included in this manual, which was prepared in close collaboration with the American Hospital Association, is an outline for the self-rating of newborn nurseries, reprinted below with permission of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Both the outline and the manual are in three parts. Part I is devoted to the standards and recommendations for hospital care of full-term infants. The recommendations are brief and to the point, and they allow a certain amount of flexibility to make them applicable to all hospitals according to their circumstances. There are some standards that cannot be compromised. There are others that may be adjusted to meet the particular circumstances of a given hospital.

Part I makes positive recommendations on medical service, nursing service, physical facilities, the formula room, techniques of care, preparation for home care, health examination of personnel, and rooming-in.

Part II of the manual is devoted to application of the above recommendations to specific care of the premature infant.

Part III contains a useful appendix of practical forms for recording the condition of the newborn throughout his stay in the hospital, sample standing orders for the nursery, and operating procedures and standing orders for the premature infant nursery. Samples of feeding instructions for the infants to be given to the parents also are included, as is a section on nursery layouts for different sized hospitals. Tables for fetal and neonatal mortality to avoid confusion in reporting of vital statistics are offered for consideration.

OUTLINE FOR SELF-RATING OF NEWBORN NURSERIES

Failure to score at least 70 in every section must be regarded as unsatisfactory.

A. There is a separate room used for no other purpose than for the preparation of feedings. 20

B. Proper equipment for formula preparation and bottle washing is present. 10

C. The supervisor of the formula room has had special training in this work. 20

D. Formula preparation is carried out in accordance with the recommendations of the A.H.A. manual. 20

E. All feedings are sterilized after preparation. 20

F. Bacteriological checks are made of feedings at least once a week. 10

V. Techniques of care: total 100

A. An incubator (or heated bed) is kept ready for use in the delivery room 10

B. Equipment (suction bulb, mechanical aspirator, tracheal catheter) for clearing air passages is readily available in the delivery room. 10

C. Oxygen, with equipment for administration, is constantly available in delivery room. 10

D. Identification procedures, in accord with this manual, are carried out in the delivery room. 5

E. The infant's record is started in the delivery room and accompanies him to the nursery. 5

F. Individual technique is carried out in all nurseries 10

G. Babies with any suspicion of an infection are immediately put in an observation unit. 10

H. Babies with a proven infection are isolated and removed from regular nursery care. 10

I. No bath is given during the hospital stay. 5

J. No cord dressing or abdominal binder is used. 5

K. An adequate supply of clothing, etc., is kept beside or within each crib. 5

L. Each infant has his own thermometer. 5

M. Dry dusting or cleaning is never done. 5

N. Nursery linen is laundered separately from other hospital laundry. 5

VI. Records: total 100

A. Each newly born infant is a new hospital admission.* 20

B. An individual record, separate from the mother's, is kept for each infant. 20

C. A complete physical examination is recorded on admission to the nursery. 20

D. Approximate weight, progress, laboratory, and consultation sheets are contained in the record. 20

E. A discharge note is made on each record. 20

VII. Health examinations of personnel: total 100

A. All nursery and formula room personnel have a preemployment physical examination. 20

B. The above includes an x-ray of the chest. 20

C. A physical examination is done on all personnel at least once a year and after absence for illness. 20

D. Personnel are not penalized for reporting minor illness. 20

E. The hospital keeps a health record for each employee. 20

the nursing aide inservice project

THE NURSING AIDE Inservice Project was designed to improve the quality of on-the-job teaching of nursing aides in hospitals and nursing homes. Co-sponsored by the American Hospital Association, the Public Health Service, and the National League for Nursing, it is in its second year and is now nation-wide in scope.

The emphasis is placed on giving professional nurses teaching and organizational skills practical and

This article was prepared for the Administrators Guide Issue by the National League for Nursing.

TERMS

Institute—five days—conducted regionally for teacher-trainers by the Department of Hospital Nursing of the National League for Nursing.

Teacher-trainer—a nurse chosen by the state Committee on the Nursing Aide Inservice Project to conduct two-day workshops in the state.

Workshop—two days—conducted by a teacher-trainer for instructors from local hospitals and nursing homes.

Instructor—one who organizes and conducts or assists in the inservice instruction of nursing aides in her own hospital or nursing home.

pertinent to the daily work situation of instructing, directing, and supervising the various categories of nonprofessional personnel with whom they share patient care.

The teaching of aides in this program is actually an inservice activity of the instructor in the hospital or nursing home after her attendance at a two-day workshop. What she teaches is the decision of the institution in which she is employed.

GENERAL PROCEDURE

The program is carried forward by means of a series of five-day regional teacher-trainer institutes conducted by a member of the staff of the Department of Hospital Nursing of the National League for Nursing. After attending a teacher-trainer institute, the teacher-trainers chosen by the state Committees on the Nursing Aide Inservice Project conduct two-day workshops in their own states for instructors from hospitals and nursing homes.

Through these local workshops assistance may be made available to every hospital and nursing home in the United States in preparing someone to plan the teaching and to teach the aides according to simplified teaching methods. In the promotion of this program care is taken to emphasize its inservice aspects rather than support of formal courses in hospitals or pre-service preparation of aides.

PRESENT STATUS

Altogether, 176 teacher-trainers from 27 states have received their preparation at 19 regional teacher-trainer institutes. The states have reported that their teacher-trainers have held 192 workshops in their states, at which 1,459 instructors have been trained from 822 hospitals and 124 nursing homes employing a total of approximately 47,817 aides.

HOW A HOSPITAL PARTICIPATES

A hospital wishing to participate in the program should inquire of the president of the state hospital association or the state league for nursing of the plans for two-day workshops within the state.

HOW A STATE PARTICIPATES

To participate, a state proceeds as follows:

1. Arranges a meeting of official representatives of health and other interested organizations for the purpose of exploring need and desirability of promoting the nursing aide project in the state.

Interested groups usually are the state hospital association, the state league for nursing, the state department of health, and the state department of vocational education. Others might be the state nurses' association and the state medical association, as well as the association of practical nurses and nursing home owners association. In some states the universities have given substantial assistance through personnel and financial support.

A member of the staff of the NLN Department of Hospital Nursing who is in contact with all state programs on this project will attend the meeting. This meeting gives opportunity:

a. To obtain information in regard to ways in which the program has been developed in other states—their problems and successes.

b. To explore and exchange opinions of the need for this program in the state.

c. To give each organization, through its representative, a report and recommendations.

If it is the consensus of the group at the first meeting that the program should go forward, each representative will so report to his organization, seek its sponsorship, and ascertain the extent of support it is prepared to give.

2. Arranges a second meeting of representative groups (date chosen at first meeting). At this meeting the group:

a. Determines which organizations wish to sponsor the nursing aide project.

b. Sets up a state Committee on the Nursing Aide Inservice Project, composed of official representatives of all sponsoring organizations.

c. Chooses a chairman of the state committee project (someone familiar with the field of hospital nursing). A co-chairman, representing the hospital association, expedites the carrying forward of the program. The program is too extensive for its full potential to be realized when undertaken by any one organization. Upon the appointment of the state committee, the nursing aide project becomes the joint program of the sponsoring organizations, and it is administered by this representative state committee.

FUNCTIONS OF STATE COMMITTEE

The functions of a state committee are:

1. To find means of financing the program (teacher-trainer's salary, travel, and clerical assistance).
2. To choose a teacher-trainer(s) who will conduct two-day workshops for instructors from hospitals and nursing homes throughout the state.
3. To interpret the program to hospitals and nursing homes and encourage their participation through sending instructors to workshops.
4. To assist the teacher-trainer in arranging her workshop schedule.
5. To handle publicity and reports to sponsoring organizations and the public.

SUGGESTIONS

Suggestions derived from study of present successful state programs include:

1. Delaying the start of a state nursing aide program until its financial support can be assured for at least six months and preferably a year.
2. Always providing for at least two one-half days of on-the-job instruction in each hospital or nursing home by the teacher-trainer to instructors after attendance at a workshop. This is necessary to the success of a state program.

3. Including on the state committee a representative of any organization that is interested in better patient care. These are potential sources of interpretation, publicity, and financial support.

Financial support varies from state to state and often is shared by more than one organization. State vocational education departments have participated widely and in some states have entirely financed the teacher-trainers. The state and local hospital associations have carried the entire financing of the program in some states.

Other support has come from universities, state leagues for nursing, and state departments of health. This support has varied from volunteer services in administering the program and loan of personnel to serve as teacher-trainers to outright grants of funds.

Evidence that states are looking to this as a long-range program is shown in the number of states that are renewing their planning after the first six months or year has elapsed. Others are changing the name of the state committee to put emphasis on its objective, "to prepare instructors to teach aides," and some have changed "project" to "program" in the name of the state committee, since "program" implies long-range activity. ■ retirement program for voluntary hospitals

TODAY EVERY HOSPITAL faces the problem of how to retire older workers. Separation of the worker from employment at the hospital is the occasion for recognition of long, faithful service, but it also may present a very difficult situation if no financial provision has been made during the worker's active years to provide for his years in retirement.

Social Security, which was made available to the hospitals on January 1, 1951, provides a good foundation for security planning, but supplemental funds are desirable if the person is actually to retire from active work. Social Security is intended to provide only a "floor" of protection. Methods for creating additional benefits for retirement are discussed later.

CALCULATING SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS

The exact amount of the primary insurance benefit under Social Security for any individual can be determined only when he has filed a claim for benefits upon reaching age 65.

The rules governing Social Security insurance benefits are outlined briefly as follows:

1. To qualify for a retirement benefit an employee must be at least 65 years of age and have a "fully insured" status.

2. To be "fully insured" he must have "quarters of coverage" for at least one-half the actual calendar quarters from January 1, 1951, to the beginning of the quarter in which he reaches age 65. In no event will a person be "fully insured" until he has at least six "quarters of coverage" to his credit. For workers who are 45 years of age or less, at least 40 "quarters" (10 years) of coverage" are required in order to achieve a "fully insured" status. There are special provisions in the law so that persons becoming covered after January, 1951, can attain a "fully insured status."

3. A "quarter of coverage" is a calendar quarter of three months in which the employee has been paid at least $50 in wages.

4. A "fully insured" status does not necessarily insure a maximum amount of benefit. The amount of the insurance benefit is based on the "average monthly wage." Ordinarily, in the case of hospital employees the most favorable "average monthly wage" would be the total wages covered by Social Security beginning with January 1, 1951 or 1955, divided by the total number of months from either of those dates to the time of making claim for benefits. The maximum "average monthly wage" is now $350 for persons making claim after June, 1956.

Previous to 1955 a person could not continue to earn over $75 a month in covered occupations and still collect his Social Security benefit. Under the amended act he cannot earn over $1,200 annually from all employment sources, whether in covered employment or not, and still collect Social Security. However, when he reaches age 72, there is no limit on his earnings. This age was previously 75.

5. The Social Security primary insurance amount per month is determined as follows:

55 per cent of the first $110 of the "average monthly wage," plus 20 per cent of the average monthly wage in excess of $110 (but such "average monthly wage" limited in total to a maximum of $350 a month.)

For example: An employee was 60 years old on January 1, 1951, when he became covered by Social Security, and was earning $200 a month. If his earnings are just $200 a month continuously from January 1, 1951, to age 65, he would have an average monthly wage of $200. This would give him a monthly primary insurance amount of:

plus
20% of $90 =	18.00
	$78.50	monthly

$150—	$ 68.50
200—	78.50
250—	88.50
300—	98.50
350—	108.50*

The above estimates of primary insurance amounts are the maximum possible under the law. Because there may be periods of unemployment with interruptions in coverage, the actual benefit may not reach the maximum. In 1954 the average primary insurance amount was about $50 a month.

*Not available until July, 1956. Otherwise the benefit will be $98.50.

If the foregoing example should be for a married man, his wife would receive an additional benefit of one-half of his benefit rounded out to $39.80 when she reaches age 65 and is not earning over $1,200 annually.

If his wife should survive him, she would be eligible, upon reaching age 65, to claim a widow's income benefit of three-quarters of the $78.50, which rounded out would be $58.90. In addition, she would receive a lump-sum death benefit of three times $78.50, which is $245.50 (maximum $255).

There are survivor benefits for children (under age 18) of a deceased wage earner and for widows caring for children. Also, there are survivor benefits for dependent parents and a dependent widower.

The Social Security Administration in each district will furnish a free booklet designed for employees entitled "Your Social Security." This booklet explains in simple terms benefits available under the Social Security Act and its requirements.

ASSOCIATION RETIREMENT PLAN

To provide supplemental income for hospital employees, the American Hospital Association sponsored the establishment of the American Hospital Association Retirement Plan. It is underwritten by the National Health and Welfare Retirement Association, a nonprofit organization licensed by the New York State Insurance Department to establish and insure pension plans for nonprofit hospitals and welfare organizations.

The American Hospital Association retirement program was developed by the Pension Committee of the American Hospital Association in November, 1946, before Social Security became available to hospitals. This committee designed the plan to be a supplement to Social Security if and when extended to hospitals. American Hospital Association members and leaders now serve on the board of trustees of the National Health and Welfare Retirement Association.

The plan is one that can be adjusted to meet the requirements of a particular hospital. Some of the important considerations in devising a plan for a particular hospital are as follows:

1. Eligibility.—All classes of employees may be included, or some classes or categories of employees may be excluded, if they are covered by Social Security. The hospital under an agreement with the Retirement Association also determines how long an employee should be on the payroll before becoming eligible.

2. Contributions for Future Service Benefits.—This refers to the rate of contributions of employer and employee to cover the future years of service from the date the plan is put into effect.

3. Contributions for Past Service Benefits.—This relates to the contributions that a hospital may desire to make to establish benefits for years of service prior to the time the plan is put into effect. The amount of such benefits and the cost depend on the hospital's wishes. The cost can usually be spread over a period as long as 20 years or paid in a single sum on the effective date of the plan.

4. Retirement Age. — Pension benefits normally begin at the age of 65. This basic retirement age coincides with the earliest age under Social Security. Special benefits can be provided to facilitate the retirement of employees who are 65 or over when a plan is first established. It is also possible to provide early retirement of a reduced amount after age 55, basically to assist in retiring workers who may become disabled and are no longer regular employees of the hospital.

The American Hospital Association retirement plan has the unique feature of transferability of benefits between hospitals that are members of the plan. The right of a hospital worker to transfer his retirement benefits between hospitals is a valuable feature in the hospital field. Without this provision a number of hospital employees could end their careers with little or no retirement income and might prove to be a heavy burden on the last employer, depending upon the features of that particular hospital's plan.

As of January 1, 1955, about 157 hospitals and allied institutions were participating in the American Hospital Association program. The combined hospital and employee contributions are now $1,500,000 annually.

OTHER SUPPLEMENTARY PLANS

Other methods of establishing retirement income to supplement Social Security include:

Unfunded pensions or informal types of pensions.— These pensions are usually paid from current budgets. They may be hazardous and uneconomical as they may involve keeping former employees on the current payroll for 10 to 20 years after they leave the hospital. Also, the amount of the pension often is out of keeping with the ability of the hospital to pay. Such grants set a precedent for all retiring employees, and the hospital may find itself involved in a difficult personnel problem.

Self-administration. — This involves the hospital in the insurance business. The hospital assumes all the risks usually undertaken by an insurance carrier. The basic risks involved are loss of capital, pensioners living longer than anticipated, and steadily increasing administrative work. Underestimated risks may prove embarrassing and expensive because they do not become known until a number of years have elapsed during which the liability has been accruing.

Pension trusts.—These involve third-party participation in management of funds and in determining the amount of funds to be set aside. Again, the risk element is assumed by the hospital's board of trustees rather than by the trustee and actuary. Aside from exercising their best judgment, the actuary and trustee assume no responsibility.

More detailed information or consultation regarding the American Hospital Association Plan or other methods of providing pensions can be had by writing to the American Hospital Association, 18 E. procurement and use of radioisotopes

THIS PAPER IS of broad scope and intended to lend perspective to the hospital administrator contemplating a radioisotope program. The following points are noted: Radioisotopes are firmly established as valuable adjuncts to other pharmaceuticals in the diagnosis and treatment of diseases; radioisotopes may involve radiation hazards but can be handled safely by observing proper precautions; and use of radioisotopes is subject to Atomic Energy Commission regulations. The application and authorization procedures are discussed briefly. Criteria for approval of applications, functions of the medical isotope committee and its relationship to the hospital, personnel relations, and instructions to nurses and other personnel are taken up. Procedures should be established to avoid possible radiocontamination; waste disposal is not a difficult problem except for the more extensive programs. Insurance companies have not considered use of radioisotopes to be ultra hazardous. Economic factors must be considered in designing radioisotope laboratories. Radioisotopes offer many cost advantages. Records should be maintained regarding receipt, use, and transfer of radioisotopes. Records of film badges or other personnel monitoring instrumentation should be retained. Unauthorized transfers of radioisotopes should be avoided. Radioisotopes are subject to regulations of other governmental authorities, as well as of the AEC, e.g., Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. Miscellaneous information and sources of information on radioisotopes are discussed.

Radioisotopes (by-product material)[1] produced in facilities of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission or distributed by or through the AEC or AEC distributors are proving of considerable value in medical research, diagnosis, and therapy. Approximately 800 medical institutions in the United States are currently using these radioactive materials for medical purposes. The value of radioactive pharmaceuticals is attested by the rapid and continuing increase in the number of hospitals that include a radioisotopes clinic as a regular part of the institution's program and facilities.

As an example of the many diagnostic and therapeutic uses of artificially produced radioactive materials, sodium radioiodide (NaI^{131}) has proved to be very useful in the diagnosis of thyroid dysfunction and the treatment of selected cases of thyrotoxicosis. Approximately 300,000 patients have received Iodine 131 for diagnostic purposes, and 30,000 have been treated with Iodine 131 for thyroid disorders. Approximately 450 institutions are routinely using Iodine 131 to determine thyroid activity. Several investigators have reported that administration of Iodine 131 occasionally affords a palliative effect in thyroid carcinoma. Iodine 131 is used also in treating certain cardiac diseases, such as angina pectoris.

Ophthalmic applicators containing Strontium 90, with its longer half-life, may replace similar applicators utilizing radium D or radon. As a matter of fact, although radon has proved to be relatively economical, radon emanation plants are being abandoned by many hospitals that have found various radioisotopes to be more economical, equally efficacious therapeutically, and permissive of greater flexibility and versatility in treatment. The beta rays emitted by radioactive strontium are effective in treating vernal conjunctivitis and other inflammations or lesions of the eye.

Cobalt 60 needles, in the opinion of some physicians, may offer certain advantages over radium needles in the treatment of cancer. Teletherapy units, utilizing several hundred curies of Cobalt 60, will soon be available generally. (Demand, however, will undoubtedly exceed for some time the supply of Cobalt 60 with high specific activity suitable for such units.) Teletherapy devices using Cobalt 60 or other artificially produced radioisotopes may in many instances replace high voltage roentgen ray therapy and radium teletherapy.[2]

Other medical uses of radioisotopes include treatment of polycythemia vera and other blood dyscrasias, localization of certain types of intracranial neoplasms, reduction or inhibition of serous effusions, determination of total blood volume, study of circulation efficiency, treatment of prostate and cervical cancer, control or palliation of ascites, and treatment of lymphomas and leukemias.[3]

RADIATION HAZARDS

The harmful properties of radioactive materials have been recognized since the discovery of radium at the turn of the century. The utilization of radioactive materials, whether occurring naturally or produced in nuclear reactors or particle accelerators, necessarily entails adequate protective measures to avoid inadvertent exposure of persons to the radiation. Most authorities in the field of radiological health physics believe that a person may receive whole body exposure of as much as 300 millirem[4] (or 300 millirad) every week for an unlimited period of time without apparent harm. It is desirable, of course, to keep radiation exposure as low as practicable.

As a matter of fact, there are two schools of thought on radiation protection. One favors absolute protection; that is, that individuals should not be exposed to radiation at all. This school advocates the closed container, massive shielding, and elaborate remote control handling of radioisotopes. The other group, whose views are more widely accepted and from a clinical viewpoint appear more practical, advocates that a person may receive as much as 300 millirem every week for an unlimited length of time without apparent harm. This 300 millirem figure, however, is an arbitrary one, and the future may show that even that amount is not harmless. Therefore, it is advisable to keep radiation exposure as low as possible; and wherever exposure can be avoided by remote control, it should be so practiced. It may be postulated that any quantity of radiomaterial can be handled safely if proper safeguards and precautions are observed.

Basically, radiation control involves procedures, methods, and equipment for protection against (1) external exposure and (2) internal exposure resulting from deposition of radioactive materials in some organ or portion of the body. Radiation safety with respect to external radiation is achieved by maintaining an adequate distance from the radioactive source, by shielding the source, by limiting the time exposure, or by a combination of these three methods. With regard to internal exposure, safety may be obtained by avoiding ingestion, inhalation, or absorption of radioactive materials. Safeguards may include shielding the radioactive source; assuring adequate ventilation to control radioactive dust, gases, and vapors; meticulous housekeeping to minimize radioactive contamination; and the use of suitable laboratory equipment, carefully drawn operating procedures to minimize personnel exposure, periodic radiation surveys, and instrumentation, such as remote pipettors, shielded storage containers, personnel monitoring instruments, and the like.

Inasmuch as radioisotopes may involve radiation hazards if improperly handled or used, radioisotopes subject to the jurisdiction of the Atomic Energy Commission may be used only in accordance with a license issued by the Commission, subject to statutory provisions of the Atomic Energy Act and AEC regulations published in the Federal Register.[5] It is to be noted that these regulations are applicable to all by-product material as defined in the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, including radioisotopes produced in nuclear reactors located in the United States or produced in foreign reactors for shipment into the United States.

4. "Millirem" is one-thousandth of a "rem." "Rem," shorthand term for roentgen-equivalent-man, means that dose of ionizing radiation that when absorbed by man produces a biological effect equivalent to absorption by man of one roentgen of X or gamma radiation. "Millirad" is one-thousandth of a "rad." "Rad" is a unit of absorbed dose of ionizing radiation and is 100 ergs per gram. In the case of dose to personnel, this means 100 ergs per gram of average tissue. Other terms in common usage to describe radiation dose are "Milliroentgen" (one-thousandth of a roentgen) and "milliroentgen - equivalent - physical" (one thousandth of a roentgen-equivalent-physical).

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

The commission issues two types of licenses for by-product material—general and specific. A general license is granted by publication in the Federal Register, and an application is not filed for such types of licenses. A specific license is issued in response to an "Application for By-product Material License," Form AEC-313, filed with the Isotopes Division. This application form calls for statements of the applicant's experience (or experience of the person who will directly supervise the use of the radioisotope), description of the proposed use of the radioisotope, dosages to be employed, radiological safety procedures, and equipment and facilities for safe handling of the radiomaterials. Upon completion of the form, the application should be endorsed by the chairman of the local Medical Isotopes Committee[6] and signed under oath or affirmation by an official duly authorized to act for and on behalf of the applicant. A hospital administrator may find it desirable to file with the Isotopes Division a letter listing the names of persons authorized to sign the application form for the institution. Two copies of the executed application should be forwarded to the Isotopes Division, U.S.A.E.C., P.O. Box E, Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Upon receipt of an application, it is reviewed by technical specialists of the Isotopes Division, including radiochemists, radiophysicists, and others intimately acquainted with radiological health-safety problems. If the proposed use is novel, untried, or involves unusual health hazards, the application is referred to a committee of AEC medical advisers for advice and assistance in evaluating the radiological health-safety problems that may be involved. New uses proposed by an applicant also are cleared with this committee.

BY-PRODUCT MATERIAL LICENSE

If review of the application indicates that the proposed use, equipment, facilities, and qualifications of personnel are such that radiological health-safety will not be compromised, a "License for Use of By-product Material," Form AEC-374, is issued to the applicant. This license permits the holder thereof to procure the type and quantities of radioisotopes for the uses stated thereon. It is to be noted that certain small quantities of radioisotopes may be obtained under a general license but that such quantities may not be used in human beings except as permitted by a specific license. These quantities are subject to radiological health-safety standards established by the commission.

Once an institution has received a substantial number of licenses for a variety of uses, the AEC will consider an application for a license that will permit the procurement of unspecified quantities or multiple types of radioisotopes. This broader type of specific license is similar to the "General Authorization" issued heretofore and obviates the filing of numerous applications for specific uses or specific quantities of radioisotopes.

It is to be noted that issuance of a license by the AEC should not be considered as an endorsement by the AEC of the institution's program or assurance that everything is necessarily in order from a radiological safety viewpoint. Representatives of the Radiological Safety Branch, Isotopes Division, routinely visit radioisotope users and review facilities, procedures, and records to ascertain if radioisotopes are being used in a safe manner. The frequency of such visits depends upon the scope of the radioisotopes program, the amount of long-lived radioisotopes in use, and other considerations. These specialists in radiological health-safety are available for advice on radiological safety problems.

The administrator should feel free to call upon these personnel for assistance in matters of radiological health-safety.

CRITERIA FOR MEDICAL USE

The AEC has published criteria for the evaluation of applications for use of radioisotopes in humans. The basic criteria are set forth in the by-product material regulations, but additional recommendations as to desirable experience with radiomaterials appear from time to time in the Federal Register and various releases and publications of the Isotopes Division. Questions regarding current experience requirements should be directed to the Isotopes Division. As more experience is gained in the field, the medical profession itself undoubtedly will establish definite minimum training and experience requirements as prerequisites to the medical use of radioisotopes within the various specialties.

Medical use of radioisotopes may involve (1) individual medical practice, or (2) institutional use of radioisotopes. Generally, radioisotopes are licensed for individual medical practice only in those instances where the radioisotopes are to be used for routine diagnosis and/or therapy and where dosages and techniques are fairly well standardized (such as the use of Iodine 131 for diagnosis of hyperthyroidism). The individual physician in these instances, as a general rule, will administer the radiomaterial in his office or hospital, and hospitalization is not contemplated. It is required, however, that the applicant have access to a hospital possessing adequate facilities to hospitalize and monitor the physician's radioactive patients if this should become desirable or neces-

5. AEC by-product material regulations are published in the Federal Register and codified in Title 10, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 30. An unofficial reprint of the regulations may be obtained by writing to the Isotopes Division, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, P.O. Box E, Oak Ridge, Tenn.

6. A necessary prerequisite to procurement of radioisotopes, other than sealed sources, for human use by institutions is the formation of a medical isotopes committee of at least three members to evaluate all proposals for research, diagnosis, and therapeutic use of radioisotopes within that institution. (See later discussion of "functions of the medical isotopes committee.") sary. This requirment is usually satisfied by having the administrator or director of a hospital forward a letter to the Isotopes Division indicating that (1) the hospital is willing to accept the physician's radioactive patients if this should become advisable or necessary and (2) adequate facilities exist for such hospitalization and monitoring of the applicant's patients.

For the most part, however, a hospital or other medical institution is primarily concerned with institutional use of radioisotopes. In this case the applicant is the hospital itself, and the physicians who will handle the radioactive material are the individual users qualified by training and/or experience to handle radioactive materials under the guidance of, and in accordance with, policies laid down by the medical isotopes committee.

FUNCTIONS OF ISOTOPES COMMITTEE

The medical isotopes committee should be composed of at least three members to evaluate all proposals for research, diagnosis, and therapeutic use of radioisotopes within that institution. It may be comprised of physicians expert in internal medicine, pathology (or hematology), and therapeutic radiology and a person experienced in handling by-product material and other radioactive materials. It is required that the committee include a person qualified to advise with respect to means and methods of protecting against the harmful effects of ionizing radiation. (This person may be one of the above physicians or a physicist).

Generally an isotopes committee should have the following responsibilities:

1. Review, grant permission for, or disapprove the use of radioisotopes within the institution from the standpoint of radiological safety.
2. Prescribe special conditions as may be necessary, such as physical examinations, additional training, designation of limited areas of use, disposal methods, and the like.
3. Receive reports from the radiological safety officer and review his records.
4. Recommend remedial action when an investigator fails to observe safety recommendations, rules, or regulations.
5. Keep a record of actions taken in approving the use of radioisotopes.

RADIOLOGICAL SAFETY OFFICER

Institutions licensed to use unspecified quantities or multiple types of radioisotopes are required to appoint a radiological safety officer, who will take appropriate steps to assure that necessary surveys are made and that recommendations of the medical isotope committee are carried out. Responsibilities of the position should be assigned to a single individual, although specific duties may be delegated by him to one or several assistants. (See "NBS Handbook 48," pages 2 to 3, for

THE MAJOR INVESTMENT IN A HOSPITAL

Is it Capital?
Plant?
Equipment?

You can't describe a hospital by listing its parts. It is all of these but most important "it is the ability to offer and provide proper care"!

Your hospital is its administration. It is You!

Your task is to keep your hospital functioning properly. But, efficient operation alone cannot furnish you with the funds needed for proper growth and expansion.

To the administrator with a fund-raising problem, the AMERICAN CITY BUREAU offers a thoroughly trained staff with 42 years experience in fund raising and public relations, proved by a background of 3,229 campaigns in more than 900 cities.

The major investment in a hospital is in its administration—reflected in its ability to raise money.

discussion of responsibilities.) The following are recommendations for specific duties:

1. Review all plans for the proposed use of radioisotopes from the standpoint of radiological safety, and make appropriate recommendations to the experimenter and medical isotope committee.
2. Review all requisitions for radioisotope procurement to assure that a suitable storage area exists for the radioisotope shipment.
3. Survey incoming shipments of radioisotopes, and supervise the storage and distribution of such shipments.
4. Require the posting of appropriate warning signs in areas in which radioisotopes are used or stored.
5. Supply personnel monitoring devices (film badges, pocket meters, dosimeters, and the like), and give instructions in their use.
6. Determine exposure potentials under working conditions and recommend time limits of personnel exposure and minimum working distances.
7. Survey storage and working areas as frequently as necessary.
8. Supervise decontamination of all spills or personnel contamination and disposal of radioactive wastes.
9. Calibrate and arrange for prompt repair of survey instruments.
10. Supervise the maintenance of complete records of personnel exposure; of receipt, storage, transfer, and disposal of radioisotopes; and of unusual incidents, such as spills or the loss of radioactive materials.

HOSPITAL RELATIONSHIPS

The medical isotopes committee and radiological safety officer are essentially internal controls intended to promote safe practices within the institution. Many administrators may consider it desirable to establish such committee and position through formal official action of the board of trustees or other governing board. The committee and safety officer would be responsible to the institutional authorities and have official status rather than being an unofficial, loosely-knit, informal group of physicians. In addition to formal organization of the committee and official delineation of the committee's functions, the administrator may wish to establish the committee purely as an advisory group. Thus, the committee would draw up programs and make recommendations and rules pertinent to radiological health-safety, but the formalized rules or instructions to staff members would be officially issued by the administrator or director or approved by the board of trustees where appropriate.

It should not be assumed by an administrator that the mere existence of a medical isotopes committee per se assures that the interests of the hospital are adequately protected. The administrator should be fully informed of not only the committee's duties but also its actions. Conversely, if the committee and radiological safety officer are to function effectively, they should keep currently informed of all uses of radioisotopes within the institution.

PERSONNEL RELATIONS

Personnel who work with or in the vicinity of radiomaterials or radioactive patients should be oriented or instructed as to the properties of radioisotopes and existence or non-existence of possible radiation hazards. Certainly unnecessary fears should be alleviated. The fact that a program is very small and a radiation problem does not exist is not a valid reason, however, for ignoring the personnel relations aspects. To many nurses, aides, custodial personnel, and members of the office staff, a few microcuries of Iodine 131 or some other radioisotope may appear as hazardous as therapeutic quantities of radium.

Of course, if potentially harmful quantities of radiomaterials are being used, all personnel should be instructed as to methods of protecting themselves against the radiation.

NURSING INSTRUCTIONS

Nurses should be informed of safe working distances from patients having received radioactive materials. Care of radioactive patients ordinarily will not interfere unduly with nursing routine. By judicious observance of time-distance limitations a nurse, for example, may care for a patient containing substantial quantities of radioactivity without receiving an over-exposure. The nursing rules should be clearly set forth—not only to minimize the possibility of over-exposure but also to avoid undue alarm and apprehension.

In the case of therapeutic doses of Iodine 131, for example, special care may be necessary in handling and disposing of urine, which usually contains a relatively high concentration of radioactivity following the therapeutic dose. Care should be exercised, of course, in handling vomitus shortly after oral administration. Radioactive materials should not be stored in refrigerators used for storing foods and medicines. Contaminated wastes should be placed in containers designated for that purpose. Rules of procedure in case of accidental ingestion, splashing of clothing or skin with radioactive materials, excessive exposure indicated by dosimeters or pocket chambers, cuts by contaminated glassware or needles, and methods of decontamination should be posted in a conspicuous location for the guidance of nurses and aides. Alternatively, instructions may include only the most important precautionary measures and designate other staff members to whom such accidents or conditions should be reported.

INSTRUCTIONS TO PERSONNEL

The shipping and receiving departments should be fully informed as to the procedure for handling radioactive parcels. It is to be noted that a shipping container, although entirely satisfactory for shipping purposes, may be inadequate as a storage container if the radiation at the surface of the package or container is such that personnel conceivably could be exposed in excess of 300 millirem (or 300 millirad) per week.

If a patient expires shortly after receiving a large internal dose of radioactive material, special handling procedures may be necessary on the part of the hospital pathologist or undertaker. The National Committee on Radiation Protection, for example,[7] recommends that no autopsy be commenced on a cadaver that may contain more than 5 millicuries of Iodine 131 or radioactive gold without prior consultation with the radiological safety officer. It is recommended, also, that if a patient dies in a hospital, a form be completed and attached to the death certificate and to the patient's chart indicating that the body contains radioactivity. In any event, the administrator may find it desirable to assure that a procedure has been established whereby a pathologist and undertaker may be informed of such possible hazard.

Laboratory personnel or technicians should take such measures as necessary to assure that glassware, equipment, and other materials used in connection with radioisotope work are not inadvertently used for other purposes. Ordinarily this will require some identifying marks on such items or strict segregation procedures.

Linens and gowns that may have become contaminated through contact with patients containing substantial amounts of radioactivity should be monitored by the radiological safety officer to determine the degree of contamination, if any. Protective clothing worn by personnel working with substantial quantities of radiomaterials should also be monitored. Housekeeping personnel should be instructed as to proper methods of laundering linens, gowns, and protective clothing that are found to be contaminated to assure that other materials are not contaminated thereby. In some instances cleaning of such items will be impracticable or uneconomical, and provisions should be made for disposal. Contaminated linens or clothing should not be released to laundries for handling in routine fashion. This problem has not yet proved to be a serious one, due to the short half-life of the majority of radioisotopes used medically to date.

CONTAMINATION PROBLEMS

If a radioisotope program involves substantial amounts of radioactive materials, procedures should be established to assure that significant contamination of facilities does not occur.[8] This is particularly pertinent if diffusible materials are employed, as where radioactive gold is used intracavitarily. (It is to be noted, however, that Gold 198 has a half-life of only 2.69 days.) In actual practice from a medical and scientific point of view, a true contamination hazard may not really exist. In order to forestall possible allegations of radiation injury by employees or others at a future date, however, it is often considered desirable to make periodic surveys with a suitable instrument and enter the reading thereof into records of the hospital as evidence of no contamination. A significant contamination problem is unlikely from the use of discrete sources, such as Cobalt 60 needles, teletherapy units, Strontium 90 applicators, and so on, if reasonable care is exercised in their use. The importance of good inventory control and accounting for such sources, however, should not be overlooked.

WASTE DISPOSAL

As with contamination, waste disposal problems will depend upon the scope of the program.[9] If a program is primarily diagnostic or of very limited scope, the problem of waste disposal will be relatively insignificant. In such instances disposal into the sewage system will usually be adequate.[10] This is particularly true if the radioactive wastes are of short half-life. Even though a program is relatively large, however, and involves therapeutic dosages to a substantial number of patients, it is usually not necessary to install special tanks as holding facilities to permit decay of the waste before disposal. It is to be noted, however, that even though special holding facilities may not be necessary, special handling of such wastes may be necessary. Some short-lived radioactive wastes may be held temporarily in large flasks or containers, thereby permitting appreciable decay prior to disposal. Under some circumstances radioactive wastes, particularly urine from patients receiving therapeutic doses of radioiodine, can create a potential radiation hazard. This is particularly true if urine is conserved for assay purposes.

INSURANCE PROBLEMS

Many factors, such as type of institution (public, eleemosynary, or private) and scope of the program and other considerations, are involved in determining whether additional insurance or revision of present policies may be desirable if a radioisotope clinic is added to a hospital. Insurance companies generally have taken a reasonable attitude regarding radiation emitters and, where adequate facilities and trained personnel are available, have not considered use of radiomaterials to be ultra hazardous or substantially increasing the insurer's risks.

Where potential liability is such as to warrant insurance coverage, the administrator should ascertain whether injuries resulting from either an "accident" or from cumulative exposure not referable to a definite time and place are covered.

ECONOMIC CONSIDERATIONS

Aside from diagnostic and therapeutic benefits, many radioisotopes offer substantial advantages from a purely business or cost aspect. Some investigators, for example, believe that Cobalt 60 is more economical than other equivalent radiation emitters.

Considerable savings can be accomplished in isotope facilities by selecting areas that require only minimum shielding[11] and by taking advantage of distance. Concrete can be used to great advantage as an economical and effective barrier.[12] (It is to be noted, of course, that smaller programs may not require shielding and barriers.) Ease of decontamination should be taken into consideration in determining the type of flooring to be used—tile, painted concrete, and the like.[13]

Inasmuch as certain radioisotopes are now commercially available in small, calibrated quantities, the storage of large quantities of such materials, with the consequent loss due to decay in addition to the indirect costs of storage facilities, is unnecessary. Thus, certain radioisotopes programs may involve relatively small costs.

RECORDS

An accounting procedure for radiomaterials should be developed to assure that loss or misplacement of radioactive materials will be detected. It is desirable that there be centralized responsibility for routine maintenance of complete, accurate, and current records on personnel monitoring and the receipt, transfer, use, and disposition of all radioactive materials. Not only is the maintenance of such records a sound medical, administrative, and accounting procedure, but it is required by AEC regulations.[14] Radiation detection instrumentation should be on hand or immediately available for use in locating lost sealed sources of radioactive materials.[15]

Where exposure to personnel or other persons may be significant, such personnel should be equipped with an appropriate form of personnel monitoring device, such as dosimeters, pocket ionization chambers, or film badges. It is desirable that the administrator assure himself that records of personnel exposure are carefully filed for at least as long as the statute of limitations of that state—preferably longer.[16] Entries in hospital records should be signed or initiated by the person making the entry. This is frequently overlooked.

PERSONNEL MONITORING METERS

Film badges, pocket chambers, or dosimeters are commonly supplied to personnel who are potentially exposed to any appreciable amount of radiation.

Film badges provide an excellent record of radiation received, and the accuracy of the reading can be verified at a future date if necessary. It is desirable that not only the reports interpreting the dose by the film be retained but also the film itself, with the control film for each batch of film, developed in the same solution under identical conditions of time and temperature. If these film badges are positively identified as having been issued to a specific employee, carefully developed under controlled conditions with a control film, and carefully filed for possible future use, they could very well prove to be a valuable record of the radiation exposure history of an employee during the course of his employment. These comments are not intended to minimize the value of pocket dosimeters or ionizing chambers for obtaining immediate or daily readings of radiation exposure.

TRANSFER OF RADIOISOTOPES

An occasion may occur where a member of the staff or the hospital proper desires to transfer radioactive materials to another institution. Radiomaterials should not be transferred except to persons holding a valid AEC license authorizing receipt of such radioisotopes. Further, a report of such transfer should be made to the Isotopes Division. Internal procedures should be established to minimize the possibility of unauthorized transfers and to assure the reporting of authorized transfers.

FEDERAL AND STATE REGULATIONS

Violations of AEC by-product material regulations may result in cancellation of an institution's license to possess and use such materials. Radiomaterials already distributed may also be recalled by the Atomic Energy Commission. Thus, although normally a hospital is not responsible for the efficacy of the treatment rendered by the physicians practicing on its staff, care should be exercised to assure that physicians use such materials in a manner consonant with generally accepted radiological health-safety practices and AEC regulations.

It is to be noted that the shipment and use of radiomaterials may be subject to regulations other than those of the Atomic Energy Commission.[17] Some hospitals, for example, make radioisotopes available to other institutions either as a part of a coöperative program or an outright transfer of materials. Radioisotopes introduced into interstate commerce must be packaged and labeled in accordance with regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Postal regulations should be checked carefully before introducing even small samples of radioactive substances into U. S. mails. The Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act may have some bearing upon the hospital's radioisotope program. This is particularly true if such hospital is processing radiomaterials for other groups. Further, certain states are now contemplating regulations that would govern the procurement and use of all types of radiomaterials whether naturally-occurring, reactor-produced, or cyclotron-produced.

FOOD, DRUG AND COSMETIC ACT

Regulations issued under authority of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act[18] require that a person introducing "new drugs" into interstate commerce obtain a statement from the recipient that the drug will be employed solely for investigational use by or under the direction of an expert qualified by training and experience to evaluate the safety of the drug. This statement is not necessary, however, if the shipper has obtained an "effective new drug application" for the particular radioisotope from the Food and Drug Administration.

It is to be noted that many radioisotopes currently available may not be of suitable quality and assay for internal administration to human beings and may require processing and standardization prior to administration to patients. Iodine 131 and Phosphorus 32, prepared according to pharmaceutical standards and in accordance with an "effective new drug application," are now available, however, from commercial suppliers of radioisotopes.

SOURCES OF INFORMATION

It is contemplated that the AEC will shortly have available an information manual discussing the radioisotopes program, procedures for obtaining materials, radiological safety regulations, and other subjects of interest in the field. This manual may be obtained by writing to the AEC Isotopes Division, P.O. Box E, Oak Ridge, Tenn. Catalogs are available from AEC National Laboratories giving information on radioisotopes and associated services, procedures for ordering radioisotopes, shipping and price information, special radiation sources, special materials and sources, and stable isotopes.

These catalogs or a brochure describing available materials and services may be obtained from the following AEC National Laboratories:

The National Bureau of Standards has published a series of handbooks dealing with radiological safety. (See footnotes for titles of some of the handbooks.)

The Radiological Safety Branch of the Isotopes Division, upon request or during visits to institutions, furnishes basic information pertinent to radiological health-safety. The Isotopes Division also makes available slides, prints, and 16 mm sound movies relating to radioisotope use and health-safety. Various reprints and articles on this subject are also available from the Isotopes Division.

CONCLUSION

Radioisotopes are firmly established as valuable adjuncts to other pharmaceuticals in the diagnosis and treatment of disease. In some diseases or conditions radioisotope therapy is the treatment of choice. Radioisotope therapy is often useful when other methods of treatment, such as surgery, are contra-indicated. The use of radioisotopes frequently permits greater flexibility and effectiveness in treatment. Various radioisotopes are well established as invaluable diagnostic aids. Reactor-produced radioisotopes in some instances may offer cost advantages over naturally-occurring radiomaterials, such as radium. Radioisotopes, although potentially harmful, can be used safely. A hospital administrator may deem it unnecessary to become familiar with the technical details of internal safeguards and rules to promote health-safety and functions of the medical isotope committee. There is little question, however, that he should acquaint himself with such safeguards and functions to the extent that he will be satisfied that the hospital's interests are adequately protected. ■ turnover rates and costs

TURNOVER RATES and turnover costs become increasingly important as personnel relations receive greater emphasis and as the payroll component of hospital expense becomes more and more preponderant.

Turnover rates, which measure the volume of turnover in relation to the total number of employees, are not difficult to calculate and may be routinely determined. As an index of the stability of the work force, turnover rates are an available and valuable management tool for the individual hospital. When definitions and calculations are uniform, turnover rates are valid and valuable for comparisons among hospitals.

Determination of turnover costs is more complex and cannot be considered a routine procedure. However, in a pioneer study of these costs, a research team from the Program in Hospital Administration of the University of Minnesota developed methods of estimating the direct costs of turnover with reasonable accuracy and within the scope and time of regular hospital administrative staffs. A detailed report of this study was presented in HOSPITALS.[1]

The research team found that the time expended in the turnover process accounted for 97 per cent of the total costs of turnover in the hospital studied. They developed an extensive checklist for estimating this "turnover time." A briefer version of this checklist is given below, together with the equation recommended for the calculation of turnover rates.

CALCULATION OF TURNOVER RATE

This method of calculating turnover rates, based on the number of terminations, with the definitions employed, is essentially that adopted by the Association of Hospital Personnel Executives of Greater New York in 1950, and agrees with 1940 conclusions of the American Hospital Association Committee on Personnel Relations. The equation is as follows:

$$\text{Turnover Rate} = \frac{\text{Number of Terminations}}{\text{Average Work Force}} \times 100$$

The average work force is defined as the average of the number in the work force (1) at the beginning and (2) at the close of a specific period of time, usually a month but sometimes a quarter or a year. Quarterly and annual rates are computed directly from the formula, rather than by addition of monthly rates.

As defined in the study, the work force included all permanent workers, both full-time and part-time, and all probationary workers, in regular job classifications. Such employees were counted as accessions when hired, as members of the work force while employed, and as terminations on registration or discharge.

Workers in the following job classifications were excluded from the work force: (1) extra-budgetary jobs, such as research appointments; (2) educational appointments for fixed period of time, such as those to house staff and student groups, and (3) temporary jobs.

Persons on leave of absence were not counted as terminations on leaving or as accessions on their return. Temporary employees hired as replacements for persons on leave of absence were excluded from accessions, work force and terminations.

Promotions were counted as accessions, but not as terminations.

Summary Index of Past Issues

This summary index of Management Guide articles has been prepared to aid the administrator in quickly finding reference material in the Administrators Guide Issues of 1951 through 1954. Each article, check list, table, and chart is indexed by its title and with a description of its contents, the year or years of the Administrators Guide Issue in which it appeared, and the numbers of the pages on which it will be found. The index is divided into the following sections: Accreditation, Administrative Aids, Auxiliaries, Engineering and Maintenance, Food Service, Housekeeping, Laundry, Nursing Service, Pharmacy, and Purchasing.

ACCREDITATION

Accreditation.—Article covering organization, history, method of procedures, accreditation procedure, the survey, point-rating system by departments, penalty deductions, and the role of the Association. 1953, pp. 305-311.

Accreditation Program. — Explanation of the organization and accreditation procedure of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. 1954, pp. 385-386.

Accreditation Statistics.—Three tables: Number of Hospitals Surveyed According to Organization, 1953; Number of Hospitals Surveyed According to Country and Status, 1953; Total Number of Hospitals Accredited. 1954, p. 385.

Possible Accreditation Questions. — Samples of questions that might be asked by the field representative of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals when he is surveying a hospital. 1954, pp. 386-400.

ADMINISTRATIVE AIDS

Active Registered Nurses.—Table giving estimated number and percentage in the United States and territories by field of nursing in 1951. 1954, p. 365; 1953, pp. 324-326; 1952 (for 1949), p. 12.

Administrative Guideposts.—Check list of questions to help the administrator appraise his personnel program — divided into organization, policy, communications, supervisory training, job analysis, job evaluation, merit rating, employment, training, promotion, rules and regulations, hours, working conditions, health and safety, recognition of grievances, and indirect costs. 1953, pp. 316-320; 1952 (headed "Management Functions in Personnel Relations"), pp. 1-8.

Average Room Rates.—Tables giving average daily room rates charged full-pay patients in general hospitals: (1) by type of room and by size of hospital, and (2) by type of room and by ownership of hospital. 1954 (for 1947-1953), p. 361; 1953 (for 1947-1952), p. 333; 1952 (for 1947-1951), p. 18.

Guide to hospital suppliers

On the following pages are listed names, addresses and telephone numbers of suppliers of hospital supplies and services. They are listed under their respective supply or service designation, alphabetically by state and city.

This section is designed to fill a need in the hospital field—the need of answering the question, "Where can I get it locally?" The breakdown is made on the basis of organizations supplying and serving the field at the local level.

All department heads in the hospital will find helpful information in every part of this issue of HOSPITALS. For example, many administrators have used the management guides successfully in department head meetings. The uses to which the Administrators Guide can be put are numerous, and we are sure from past reports and requests that you will find the new GUIDE TO HOSPITAL SUPPLIERS of great value to you and to your department heads.

Should you wish to purchase additional copies of this two-part issue for some of your department heads—the purchasing agent, the director of nursing, etc.—the price is $1.50 per copy. Orders will be filled as long as the supply lasts.

OFFICE OF

To Administrators
And Trustees Planning
Building Programs

More than twenty-two billion dollars will be spent in the next ten years for hospital construction. That is the Government's estimate in its latest "Construction Review."

When the cost of expanding your hospital must be met by public subscription, our exceptional experience in hospital finance will make it possible for us to help your building fund achieve maximum results.

More than $250,000,000 has been contributed to hospitals we have served in our 36 years of practice exclusively in the hospital field. Our campaigns have often set new records of community response.

Most of our projects have been for hospitals in communities of moderate size, many of them for hospitals we served in earlier campaigns. We also have directed outstanding major programs, including the first multi-million-dollar federated hospital appeals.

Consultation with us well in advance will help develop a good foundation for your campaign.
